Troops Alert After Czech Party Change

PRAGUE (AP) — Police reinforcements and soldiers guarded strategic points in Czechoslovakia today, but there were no reports of disturbances protesting the replacement of Alexander Dubcek as Communist party chief.

The 90-member Central Committee at a crisis meeting Thursday named Gustav Husak, the dour pro-Moscow head of the Slovak party, to replace Dubcek.

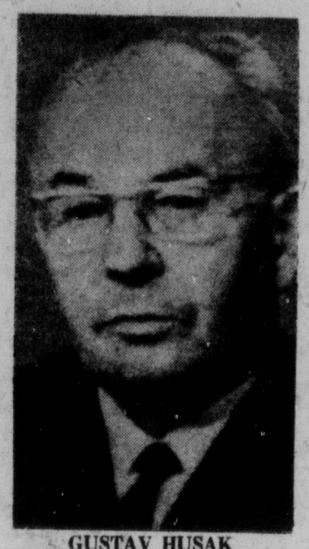
Truckloads of police reinforcements and army armored cars were outside university buildings at the national assembly, near student dormitories and at factories.

No plans for demonstrations were reported so far. Moscow was reported to have warned that Soviet occupation troops would step in if local forces could not keep order.

CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said the Central Committee had finished its plenary session and further details of the leadership reshuffle would be announced later.

Prague airport reopened to normal traffic today after closing to commercial planes Thursday night. Airport employes said Russian officers had appeared at the control tower.

Students and young workers were reported planning meetings to determine how they would react to the leadership change. Although Dubcek, 47, lost much of his wildly enthusiastic following as he was forced to make concession after concession in the wake of the Soviet invasion last August, Husak is generally disliked and mistrusted by freedom-minded trade unionists and students.



GUSTAV HUSAK

After the announcement of his appointment, Husak spoke on the radio and television and called on the people "to keep calm and support the new leadership."

"We are not giving up any of the great ideas which entered our public life last year," he said, "but it is necessary to see what, where and in what order they can be put into practice."

The first main task is "to lead our society out of this state of crisis," he continued. "To make some progress it is indispensable at this time to introduce more discipline both in party and social life .... Some people

Nixon Orders Continuing Of Flights Near N. Korea

Not Threat, He Declares, Just 'Fact'

Says Flights Had Been Stopped After Plane Was Downed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today continuance of reconnaissance plane flights near North Korea and declared "they will be protected."

Nixon reported the flights had been discontinued after the shooting down of one of the unarmed planes Tuesday by North Korean jets.

Then he said: "I have today ordered that these flights be continued. They will be protected. That is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact."

Prior to his 11:30 a.m. EST news conference today, the President ordered a protest issued against the "calculated act of aggression" by North Korea in shooting down the unarmed EC121 reconnaissance plane over the Sea of Japan last Tuesday.

The protest, delivered at a 46-minute meeting at the Panmunjom truce site earlier today, was the first official U.S. reaction since the plane was downed and the 31 crewmen apparently lost.

The relatively mild-worded statement, which called on North Korea "to prevent similar incidents in the future," had left unanswered questions about what if any retaliation the United States might make and how future reconnaissance flights would be protected.

Until today's news conference, broadcast live by radio and television, Nixon himself

Life In Prison Or Death

Jury Will Decide Sirhan's Penalty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan is guilty of first-degree murder for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Now, the same jury that convicted him must decide whether he lives or dies.

The penalty phase of Sirhan's trial begins Monday and is expected to last no more than a day or two. The jury will choose one of two sentences: life in prison or death in the gas chamber. A life sentence precludes parole for at least seven years.

Unknown until he murdered the 42-year-old presidential candidate last June, Sirhan tried—even after the first-degree verdict Thursday—to put testimony about the Arab-Israeli conflict into the court record.

Sirhan, passionately partisan to the Arab cause, said his love for Kennedy turned to hate when he decided the New York senator was pro-Israel.

Defense counsel Grant B. Cooper asked to bring witnesses representing Arab countries to the penalty phase "to show the surrounding circumstances" of Sirhan's youth in war-torn Palestine "so the jury can understand the situation and understand his frame of mind more fully."

The defense is allowed to bring out background and other mitigating circumstances during the penalty phase.

But the state argued that such witnesses as Cooper mentioned —none knows Sirhan—would have no more relevance to the trial than experts on World War II or the Korean conflict. Judge Herbert V. Walker denied Cooper's motion.

Cooper, who said "it is not my view" that the testimony should be heard, asked his 25-year-old client if he had expressed his wishes.

"Beautiful," said Sirhan.

Viet Cong Kill 51 South Vietnamese And Wound 93 In Two Delta Battles

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong killed at least 51 South Vietnamese and wounded 93 Thursday in two battles a few hours and 12 miles apart in the Mekong Delta, reports from the area said today.

In the first battle, Viet Cong troops before dawn attacked an infantry post manned by about 100 militiamen and a team of civilian pacification workers, 12 miles northwest of Bac Lieu and 125 miles south of Saigon.

Field reports said the Viet Cong overran the post, killing 19 militiamen and six pacification workers and wounding 19. In addition, seven militiamen and three pacification workers were missing, and AP photographer Henri Huet reported from Bac Lieu that there was no word of the families of the soldiers, who customarily live in or near such posts.

Reinforcements from the South Vietnamese 21st Division reached the post about dawn but the Viet Cong had pulled out, leaving the bodies of 11 of their men, South Vietnamese officials said.

About 12 miles to the northwest, another militia company ran into Viet Cong troops during the afternoon while searching for 75mm howitzers that had shelled the nearby town of Vi Thanh. Helicopters rushed in two battalions from the South Vietnamese 21st Division, and the battle raged until about 3 a.m. today.

A sweep of the area after dawn produced 21 enemy bodies, but 26 government troops were killed and 71 were wounded.

The nightly Viet Cong shelling of bases and towns continued, and U.S. B52 bombers rained down more than 1,250 tons of bombs on Viet Cong jungle base camps northwest of Saigon during the night. The U.S. Command said it was the second heaviest bombardment since the enemy's spring offensive began Feb. 23.

Roaring over in wings of six, 42 of the big bombers blasted the jungle in a north-to-south arc just east of the big Michelin rubber plantation about 35 miles from Saigon. A communique said the bombers hit "enemy activity, base camps, bunker complexes, staging areas and weapons positions."

Among more than 15 targets shelled by enemy gunners were two allied airfields and the big U.S. base at Long Binh, 12 miles north of Saigon. Casualties and damage were reported light in all the attacks, but more than 10 Americans were wounded in an attack on the Vinh Long airfield, 65 miles southwest of Saigon. The other airfield hit was at Soc Trang, 95 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Command also reported that ground fire brought down an American OH6 observation helicopter, but this touched off a fight in which troops of the U.S. Americal Division killed 21 North Vietnamese.

The helicopter went down about 100 miles south of Da Nang. Later, cruising helicopter gunship crews spotted nine enemy soldiers near the wreckage and killed seven. Eight more were killed by 11th Infantry Brigade troops supported by fighter-bombers, and another six died in a fire fight near the wreckage of the helicopter.

U.S. casualties were four killed and four wounded, including one killed and two wounded aboard the helicopter. It was the 2,527th helicopter lost in the war.

A total of 73 enemy were reported killed in a series of other actions near Da Nang and 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied losses were one American killed and six wounded, and five South Vietnamese troops killed and 14 wounded.

FBI Probes Case

Trio Jailed In Auto Theft After Wild Police Pursuit

Two Pennsylvania men and a Wellsville resident are in City Jail awaiting action by the Federal Bureau of Investigation into charges that they participated in the theft of a car from Carnegie, Pa., early today. They were apprehended by city police after a high speed chase that ended with the stolen auto being wrecked.

Irwin W. Wooley of 411 W. Main St., Carnegie, the driver of the auto, was arraigned on six traffic charges in Municipal Court this morning and fined a total of $190 by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Wooley, along with Harry T. Wooley of the SOI Hotel in Wellsville, and James Stewart of 1217 2nd Ave., Coraopolis, are being held as suspicious persons in connection with the theft of a 1959 white sedan from a parking lot at Carnegie between 12:30 and 1:30 this morning.

The car belonged to Joseph P. Randazzo of 587 Lindsay Rd., Carnegie. It is allegedly the same vehicle in which the three were apprehended today.

Patrolman David Huffman and Lt. R. B. Pyle said they were in a police cruiser about 1:43 this morning when they first spotted the sedan westbound on W. 8th St. headed toward Wellsville. They said the driver ran a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and proceeded out of the city. They pursued the car, but were unable to stop it.

A short time later, Patrolman Huffman said the officers saw the white car eastbound into

Search Fails To Find Any Of Plane Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon reported today search efforts off the North Korean coast have failed to locate any survivors of the EC121 reconnaissance plane shot down Tuesday by North Korean jets.

The bodies of two members of the 31-man crew were reported to have been found Wednesday. Fate of the rest of the crew remained in doubt, but the Pentagon expressed little hope Thursday of survival.

The USS Tucker, a Navy destroyer, received from the Soviet destroyer Vdokynovenny the debris from the missing plane the Soviet ship had found earlier this week and was taking it to Sasebo, Japan, the Pentagon statement said today.

Included were a 20-man rubber lifeboat, three leather jackets, a parachute, two exposure suits and some aircraft seats.

He's No 'Dope'

The weeds were growing everywhere, and when officers arrived they found Carter and a custodian on their hands and knees pulling them up.

The weeds were wild marijuana.

City Presses For Share Of State Money

Mayor George Willshaw said today he believes the "ball is rolling" for three street and highway projects in East Liverpool with the help of state and federal funds.

Willshaw, Safety - Service Director Robert Vodrey and City Engineer George Bloomgren, were in Columbus Wednesday and Thursday meeting with State Sen. Douglas Applegate of the 30th District and Columbiana County's Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel to study the possibility of state aid on three road projects.

The proposals involve Maine Blvd., Shadyside Ave. — a joint venture with Columbiana County Commissioners — and the Freeway Extension through the East End which expected total $400,000.

Part of a state bond issue approved in 1968 will be administered by the Department of Highways which has set no formula for distributing the money to municipalities yet.

Willshaw said the funds will

39 True Bills Returned

Arraignments Set April 28 In Grand Jury Indictments

LISBON — Defendants in the 39 true bills returned Thursday afternoon by the Columbiana County Grand Jury will be arraigned April 28 before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court.

Nine of the indictments are secret.

Pre - arraignment will be held next Thursday to make certain all defendants have counsel.

"I can see you have been busy," said Judge Buzzard on reading the jurors' report that they examined 173 witnesses. The jury ignored 10 cases after study, continued six and consolidated two.

Judge Buzzard recessed the panel at 1:30 subject to recall during the April term of court, which runs until September.

The jury said it found the County Jail clean and well operated. Jurors questioned the prisoners and heard only the complaint that it is hard to hear visitors through the divider.

"We wish to underscore the need for additional men in the sheriff's department," the jury said. It also recommended that the various municipalities in the county add police detectives if at all possible.

This jury, as others before it, requested that a juvenile detention center be established away from the jail so juveniles will not have to be detained with adults.

"The Grand Jury would strongly recommend to the lower courts that sentences and fines handed down in various cases be executed as handed down and not, at a later date, suspended in part or in full," the report read.

Jurors commended the sheriff's department and other law enforcement officers for their "excellent presentation of evidence," Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Assistant Richard Clark for their help and aid in the investigations an residents of the county "who

Paul Wages New Struggle In Hospital

Nine - year - old Paul McCraw, who received a kidney transplant April 3, suffered through his worse day since the operation Thursday, and doctors battled a continuing infection which is causing him pain, the family reported.

The youngster, who weighed only 36 pounds when he went into the Children's Hospital at Pittsburgh last December, is now down to 28 pounds according to his mother, Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St.

The new kidney is not fully operating in Paul's system and physicians indicate it is uncertain if the current problem is a severe infection or rejection of the transplant.

The boy yesterday underwent a periodic dialysis — cleansing of wastes from the blood by an artificial kidney machine — and was X-rayed last night.

His condition had brought about the possibility of surgery yesterday, but physicians decided to wait to attempt a different kind of anti - biotic to curb

The DOCTOR Says

Beware Of Highway Hypnosis

If you feel yourself getting sleepy at the wheel on a long drive, bite your tongue hard to keep awake or get off the road for a short nap. If you must keep going at all cost, carry some hot coffee with you or take an amphetamine pill.

Dr. Brandstadt

The latter measures are a poor substitute for sleep and should not be used habitually to keep you going beyond your normal endurance. They have the disadvantage that they may cause nervous tension and insomnia. The greatest danger occurs on toll roads where the monotony of driving a fairly straight line with no stops often leads to a dangerous type of hypnosis.

—:—

WHETHER FOR this or some other reason your car suddenly leaves the highway and plunges into a river or lake, it may save your life to have previously worked out a plan of action. In such cases it is essential not to panic. Under most circumstances your car will stay afloat for about three minutes. This will give you time to roll down the window and climb out.

IF YOU can't get out this way, open the door slowly as the car fills with water equalizing the pressure inside and outside. If you can't open the door or window kick a hole in the window or the windshield. If this causes water to rush in, don't fight the current but make your escape as soon as it subsides.

—:—

IF YOUR CAR is completely submerged escape through the window has been found to be easier and faster than trying to force open the door. Take a deep breath just before you climb out. In deep water you should exhale slowly and continuously as you rise to the surface because the air you inhaled was under pressure and will expand as you ascend.

Q—Is there any cure for bedsores ?

A—These sores are the result of continuous pressure usually on the shoulder blades, hips or heels. In persons whose circulation is impaired it is often impossible to prevent them but prevention is still the best treatment. If the victim is an invalid he must be turned from one side to the other every hour or two and the skin over the pressure points must be kept clean and dry.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

He Became The Symbol

Dubcek Wasn't Instigator In Czech Communism Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander Dubcek, a 47-year-old Slovak with a long nose and a shy smile was not the instigator of Czechoslovakia's attempt to find its own form of communism. But he became the symbol.

His ouster from the party chieftainship marks the official end of Prague's efforts to inject Western democratic ideas into a Communist society.

The movement had been more hope than deed since the Soviet Union sent tanks and troops to crush it nearly eight months ago. Dubcek's ouster means that even the hope is gone.

Dubcek rode to power on a wave of popular demand for reform, mostly economic, and replaced old-line Stalinist Antonin Novotny as party chief in January 1968.

The fall of Novotny, long a symbol of oppression, stimulated demands for political reforms and more freedoms. Dubcek and his associates heeded the call and enjoyed a popularity that was perhaps unique in the Soviet bloc.

Dubcek and the people around him tried to adapt communism to the liberal and democratic traditions of their country. This meant a free press and open criticism of the system coupled with economic reforms. In the climate created by this, the reform leadership hoped the country would prosper while keeping a Communist government.

Moscow didn't see it that way and feared that Czechoslovakia was drifting towards the West. Time and again the Kremlin leaders tried to persuade Dubcek and his associates to abandon their course and restore traditional communism.

When persuasion failed, the Russians moved in with tanks and troops.

Dubcek and other top leaders were arrested Aug. 21, the first day of the invasion, and taken to the Soviet Union.

The occupiers tried to get President Ludvik Svoboda to endorse a government and party leadership that would be loyal to Moscow. Backed by the passive resistance of his nation, he refused and flew to Moscow to negotiate with the Kremlin chiefs. Dubcek and others under arrest were released to join him. They returned to their jobs but had to agree to a Soviet occupation.

Since then, the Czechoslovak leaders had been fighting to save as much as possible of their original program, Soviet pressure forced them to cut it back; by the time Dubcek was ousted, almost nothing remained. But as long as he and other reform leaders remained in power, they kept alive the hope that the reforms might resume sometime in the future.

Meanwhile, the Soviets had been boosting the pro-Moscow faction of the Czechoslovak Communist party. Thursday's Central Committee vote was the payoff.

The pro-Moscow faction, backed by new Soviet pressure following anti-Soviet riots at the end of March, voted Dubcek out of the top job. He remains on the ruling Presidium but is likely to have little influence.

Mental Health Group Will Meet April 28

LISBON — The board of directors of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association has called a general membership meeting for 7:30 p.m. April 28 in Common Pleas Court at the Courthouse.

Dr. John W. Hayes of East Liverpool, president, said the purpose is to acquaint members with the association's activities in preparation for the annual membership drive.

He said plans are to have three speakers give brief talks on different phases of the treatment of mental disease and illnesses in the county.

Lukens Sees South Korea Putting More Men In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio congressman just returned from Southeast Asia predicts South Korea will send more combat troops to Vietnam, thus allowing a partial American troop withdrawal.

"Replacing American divisions with South Korean divisions will scare the pants off the Communists," said Rep. Donald E. Lukens, a Republican. "South Koreans are the best fighters we've got in Vietnam."

Lukens told newsmen Thursday he got his impressions in talks with American military and diplomatic officers and with South Korean and South Vietnamese leaders.

"The South Koreans will fight for us because we fought for them, but they said 'Just don't leave us; don't leave us to hang if we get in trouble.'"

The congressmen spent 19 days touring Indonesia, Vietnam, Taiwan, South Korea and the Philippines and said he returned greatly impressed with American efforts in the region but with "a heavy heart" over the Communist achievements.

"The enemy has us outthought, out-gunned and outmanned at the present," Lukens said, referring to Southeast Asia generally.

But in South Vietnam, he said, "we've been cleaning their greens—really doing a job on them—and I believe the Viet Cong is in a totally defensive posture."

Lukens complained that U.S. military forces were now being ordered to slacken the pace of the war.

"We got them to the peace table by force, and now we are going to be nice to them . . . we made a terrible judgment by not ending the war. I'm convinced our idiotic policy of granting sanctuary in Laos and Cambodia, and allowing Russia to feed guns through Haiphong will cause more American deaths."

In every nation he visited, Lukens said, he heard officials voice support for American presence in Southeast Asia.

"Indonesian leaders agreed they couldn't have overthrown Communist influence in their country without American support," he said.

"In the Philippines I talked with President Marcos and he said support for the United States is as strong as ever. He said they stand behind the American presence and purpose in Vietnam."

Ex-Area Man Designs Flag Used By Band

Mrs. Robert Szeluga a daughter and Miss Marlene Bee have returned to their homes in Hookstown following a two-week visit with Mrs. Szeluga's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Septer of Bamberg, S. C.

Septer, who resided at Hookstown for many years before going to South Carolina about a year ago, recently designed a high school flag for the Bamberg - Ehrhardt school band which is participating this year in the annual festival at St. Petersburg, Fla., as the state's representative.

A key to the city was presented Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina during the eremonies. It also was carved by Septer.

Septer was widely known in this area for his wood carving. He made many things for the Legion and Boy Scouts and also taught wood carving.

Mrs. Szeluga, her daughter, and Miss Bee also visited friends at the Marine air service base at Cherry Point, N. C.

Would Affect 900 Labor Camps

New Housing Rules Eyed For Migrants, Families

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Public Health Council will consider Saturday its controversial new standards regulating housing for up to 35,000 migrant workers and their families.

The regulations will affect 900 migrant labor camps in about 35 northwestern Ohio counties.

Tomato, sugar beet, cucumber and cabage growers say they can not afford to meet the housing standards.

The Farm Labor Organizing Committee (FLOC), which represents most of the workers, says the standards are not tough enough and lack enforcement procedures.

About 20,000 migrants are expected in Ohio during the peak harvest season of Aug. 20 to Sept. 20.

The proposals include:

— Housing units spaced 10 feet apart.

—Laundry facilities in each camp.

—At least 60 square feet per occupant.

—Showers for both sexes.

"If they don't make changes in the proposals, it will cause hardship for many of the growers," says Robert Rinelspach, a sugar beet grower from Fremont.

"Some growers will have to construct all new buildings this year to meet the requirements —and that will cost a lot of money."

"If this code were really enforced. it would do a great deal for the migrant laborers in Ohio," says Ted Iorio, a FLOC board member and senior law student at the University of Toledo. "I just think it has too many weasel words which the growers will be able to get around."

Enforcement of the standards is up to the county boards of health says George Compson, chief of the legal division of the Ohio Department of Health.

"We go along with the county health department. The same families return to us each year and they are under the county regulations," says A. T.Di ller, a tomato grower from Pandora, Putnam County.

"We don't want to go further than the county because that means more red tape and that's not good for anybody."

"The Public Health Council—which had a public hearing of the proposals in March — will consider the evidtnce and presumably adopt something," says Ray B. Watts, chief of the sanitation division of the State Health Department.

"I think it is a good guess that the proposals will be adopted."

Most growers will face immediate increased costs if the standards are adopted and enforced by the county health departments.

"To comply with the proposals would cost a new farmer between $14,000 and $15,000," says Paul Slade, manager of the tomato division of the Ohio Agricultural Marketing Association (OAMA).

"We (the Ohio Farm Bureau and the OAMA) testified in March that there should be some exceptions to the standards and that some — such as toilet, shower and laundry facilities—should be postponed until next January."

The growers also cite lower crop prices as a part of their financial probblem. New tomato contracts are $1.50-$2 a ton lower than last season and sugar beet prices will be $1.50-$1.75 a ton lower.

KSU Making A Stand

Kent State University president, Robert I. White, is convinced the survival of the institution is at stake in the current struggle with the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

By word and deed, he has shown the university will take whatever steps necessary to thwart the violent, disruptive antics of SDS members and sympathizers.

HE IS FINDING widespread support among Ohio taxpayers who have a big stake in KSU.

Mr. White and university officials have been more than tolerant with the destructive mission of SDS in an effort to let the revolutionary zeal run its course with a minimum of violence and tension at KSU.

SDS had other ideas.

A week ago KSU administrators decided enough was enough and countered SDS interference with campus operations with the suspension of seven students and revocation of the SDS charter.

A hearing for one of the suspended students was broken up by SDS supporters Wednesday night after they smashed glass doors to get inside the Music and Speech Building.

Campus authorites sealed off the building and law enforcement agencies were called in to make 61 arrests.

The incident was handled ably by lawmen who were able to make their arrests without resorting to violence.

Proper court follow-up action and further suspensions, where warranted, by the university will do much to convince revolutionaries that KSU is not going to roll over and play dead because of them.

WHEN A PRESIDENT says a university "undeniably faces a crossroad, its future could be in question," then, it is time to take action to preserve that future.

Our universities are in a change period now as is the rest of society. Preoccupation of the SDS element with violent revolt keeps it from having a meaningful part in coming changes.

We fully support KSU's action against SDS.

Looking For Help

No one doubts the financial durability of the great private universities — the Yales, the Harvards, the Stanfords — or a handful of small but prestigious liberal arts colleges. But for many of the 1,400 independent institutions in the nation, the outlook is bleak and getting bleaker.

"Without a shift in current trends," states Allan Carter, chancellor of New York University, "I would anticipate the absorption into state systems of all but a handful of the strongest private institutions."

The trouble, of course, is money. Lacking the resources of the public purse, private institutions have been forced to pass on more of the burden of rising costs to paying students. As a result, the gap is widening between tuition charged by public and private colleges.

Until about a decade ago, one could expect to pay 50 per cent more to attend a private institution instead of a state school. Today it costs more than twice as much.

Public campaigns have not provided the answer to the financial squeeze.

The money problem will be the main topic at a Washington conference opening today that is expected to attract educators and students from 125 institutions.

Independent colleges and universities around the country will be hoping someone comes up with an answer.

Another Sadness

All the grim international implications surrounding the downing of the U.S. reconnaisance plane by North Korea are minute for the family of a tri-state Naval officer who died in the tragedy.

Lt. Joseph Ribar of Ambridge was not unaware of the risks entailed with his missions over the Sea of Japan, but neither the fulfillment of his duty nor any stand taken by our nation can be solace for the grief of his mother, wife and children.

This marks the second time the perfidy of North Korean willingness for war has reached into our district; Seaman Anthony Lamantia of Toronto was a member of the crew of the USS Pueblo, attacked and seized by the Communists.

The loss of Lt. Ribar and his companion will never be vindicated in the minds of his loved ones, but hopefully the incident will have a better place in history of the U.S. than the Pueblo capture and the subsequent circumstances.

The Budget Juggling Act

Republican are voicing approval of President Nixon's budget slicing while some Democrats are criticizing his juggling of Mr. Johnson's spending proposals.

The way Mr. Nixon has it figured, he has come up with a $2.9 billion reduction in nondefense spending to go with the previously announced cut of $1.1 billion which makes a grand total decrease in the Johnson budget of $4 billion.

The taxpayer must be a little confused by all the figure flipping in Washington that still adds up to a whole lot of spending.

The taxpayer would like a further explanation before he breaks out in joyous song over the remodeled budget.

First, Mr. Nixon's surplus of $4 billion and Mr. Johnson's surplus of $1.8 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be made possible through extension of the income tax surcharge which was supposed to expire June 30.

What is so grand about a $5.8 billion surplus made possible through squeezing extra tax money from working citizens?

Also, in round figures, the surtax produces $10 billion in revenue. If more than half of that total is going to end up as surplus, why not reduce the surtax to 5 per cent and forget about the surplus?

Or could it be that the surplus will disappear the next fiscal year when government operating costs make their annual climb?

And when is it that the temporary surcharge is to be lifted?

Highway Safety Emphasis?

Every week in the United States 1,000 persons lose their lives because of traffic mishaps.

Despite continuing front-page publicity on the nation's newspapers and highlighting in the newscasts on radio and TV, and even though many safety campaigns are mounted by law enforcement agencies, the carnage goes on.

In view of this it may come as a surprise to many to learn that only a "small fraction" of the country's 500 new-car models are ever tested to make certain they meet federal safety standards.

BUT THAT IS WHAT the acting director of the National Highway Safety Bureau said this week. Speaking before a Senate committee, Robert Brenner declared that the number of models checked even once "represents an almost insignificant percentage of the millions of vehicles produced."

The bureau official atributes the limited activity of the bureau to lack of money, personnel and equipment. Although 200 additional employes were requested, the Nixon administration has authorized only 40, describing the reduction as a budgetary necessity.

Despite the fact that the administration has assigned the "highest priority" to reducing the traffic death toll, critics are claiming that cutting back so drastically on additional personnel is hardly placing much emphasis on the value of human life.

In view of the great distress about the loss of life in the Vietnam War, it is strange that the nation doesn't get excited about the much greater slaughter on our highways, week after week, month after month and year after year.

IF THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY Safety Bureau can show a record of efficiency in cutting back traffic deaths, it should have one of the highest priorities for receiving operating funds. If it cannot, then that is a different matter.

But the administration is upping the personnel by 40, thus indicating support of the bureau's program.

With the multitude of bureaus in Washington, surely there are many which could be trimmed in preference to one dedicated to making it safer for us to travel our roads and highways and to saving our lives.

Underwater Park

The Japanese, who have established a reputation for miniaturization and making things cleverly, most recently in the field of electronics, now have plans for a unique park.

The park will be at the bottom of the sea at a site off the coast of Shikoku, smallest of Japan's four main islands. It will take several years to construct it and will cost an estimated $8.3 million.

The United States has an underwater park at John Pennekamp Coral Reef off Key Larko in the Florida keys but visitors must either use a boat with a glass bottom or skin dive to enjoy the beauties of nature on the ocean floor.

The Japanese, on the other hand, plan to build a maze of unique steel, concrete and plate-glass corridors on the bottom of the sea, through which they will be able to view the wonders of the deep while taking a stroll through the park.

Instead of people looking into a small aquarium to observe and study marine life, the fish, in a turnabout, will be able to peer into the tiny corridor-aquariums at the antics and behaviorism of the species Homo sapiens.

Ohio To The Fore

Ohio apparently is destined to carve its mark deeply in the annals of space history.

Beginning with our sub-space flight pioneers, the brothers Orville and Wilbur Wright, Ohio has contributed more than its share of outstanding men to aviation and space flight.

High on this list is John H. Glenn Jr. who made the United States' first manned orbital space flight in Mercury 7 Feb. 20,1962.

The list includes Neil A. Armstrong, one of two astronauts aboard Gemini 8 which made 11 orbits of the earth and completed the first space docking, and Donn F. Eisele, a member of the three-man crew of Apollo 2 which made the first manned flight of a three-man Apollo craft.

Now civilian astronaut Armstrong is scheduled to become the first man to set foot on the moon.

His plan of operation may not call for planting an American flag on the moon's stark landscape but if it did the Buckeye State's pennant-style flag should go just beneath it.

It will be still another first for the United States—and Ohio.

'Just Keep It Warmed Up!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Kennedy Is Ready To Move

WASHINGTON — From one light-knit, close-mouthed labor circle, the message is that Ted Kennedy has told its people that he's "ready for '72." He'll run for president. And it's not too early to move Bob Kennedy's labor machine into action—not noisily but slowly and very definitely.

Victor Riesel

They're moving. They're looking at the old bandwagon. It won't be easy to grease its wheels or hot up its calliope. Today, labor is split wide open—and the powerful political machinery is in the hands of those with whom Bob Kennedy was persona nongrata.

The Massachusetts senator, now unwinding for the first time in almost a year, relaxing, endlessly conferencing, still resents the "shafting" of his brother. But he's careful not to make his brother's tactical and diplomatic political mistakes inside labor.

His labor allies and activists are out of the old CIO. There's "young" Paul Jennings, leader of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE). There are some of Walter Reuther's younger lieutenants and ex-aides.

BUT IT'S IN George Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters, Ted Kennedy knows, that his toughest political problem is deeply embedded. He's persona grata there. But they don't throw parties or roses in his path when he comes.

Nor do they buy tickets to the banquets thrown to liquidate the $3 million debt rolled up during Bob Kennedy's campaign for the presidential nomination. Back in January, there were virtualy no national AFL-CIO people paying tribute to the Kennedys at the mammoth Hilton fund-raising dinner.

He does his best to avoid hurting anyone's feelings there. Not only because its national Committee on Political Education (COPE) almost elected Hubert Humphrey and may try again in '72, but because Ted Kennedy believes it would be extremely difficult to go anywhere without the 14 million-member labor movement —up or down the Hill.

And so he makes all the right moves. When, for example, he was about to take his public posture in opposition to the Safeguard antiballistic missile system he telephoned George Meany's intellectual-in-residence, the self-effacing Lane Kirkland. They did not agree. But they did talk amiably.

Sen. Kennedy doesn't enthuse the chiefs of labor's rarely visible infractructure. They're not his enemy. But they're not his ally. So Ted Kennedy builds his own trade union infrastructure. He's talked with Teamsters leaders and found them less brutal, less adamant. He's been invited to speak at central labor councils which would not open their doors to brother Bob.

AND WHENEVER HE WANTS IT, he has a power base in something called the Center for Community Change—funded by the Ford Foundation's $3.5 million. This is an umbrella organization coordinating several older units for work among the poor. It is officially interlocked with the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation.

If Ted Kennedy doesn't see the CCC as a powerful Reutherite labor base—the national AFL-CIO leaders do. Some of them fault the Ford Foundation for setting it up under the direction of Jack Conway, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Mr. Conway, an imaginative launcher of committees, is an intimate of United Auto Workers Chief Walter Reuther.

For a long time, Mr. Conway was the "redhead's" executive assistant. Then he virtually ran the OEO. Finally he headed the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. of which Mr. Reuther was nominal president. When the auto union leader lanuched oratorical fusillades at Mr. Meany, Jack Conway was at "Walter's" side. When Mr. Reuther sought to peel some union chiefs from the AFL-CIO, Jack Conway was alongside the Detroiter.

TODAY MR. REUTHER is on the CCC's board of directors, along with several strategists of the old Bob Kennedy headquarters. There are no AFL-CIO men on the CCC list. They see the center as a "platform for Walter Reuther." That's positive.

And it should be remembered that the recent 40,000-word blast at Mr. Reuther was unanimously approved by the federation's high council.

There's open war here. Ted Kennedy is caught in the middle.

These wards get to be verbally bloody. Mr. Reuther has been needling the powerful AFL-CIO chiefs for several years now. They took their time. They took careful aim. They hit him and will continue to fight him wherever he shows up. He's emerged in several spots alongside Ted Kennedy and the old Kennedy machine now pulsating cross-country.

So, quite gingerly, Ted Kennedy tries to make his peace with the labor chiefs, whose backing he must have to win the Democratic nomination in '72, without the kind of fight which brutalized Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, he's taking no chances. He's told his own labor allies to get swinging. They are. They believe '72 is closer than you think.

Traitors To The U.S.

WASHINGTON —Young men, misguided and misinformed about the dangers to America's security, are being perusaded to become, in effect, traitors to the United States. They are interfering with the system of armed-service recruiting, and are impairing facilities of research, as unlawful seizures and riots sweep the campuses in many colleges and universities.

This has become a federal problem. It is not being dealt with effectively on a local basis. For university authorities are being intimidated, and most of them refuse to call in the police. Also, when police are summoned and arrests are made — as happened at Harvard last week — the faculty promptly votes to drop the charges.

GEN. LEONARD F. CHAPMAN, JR., the commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, makes public the fact that some college administrators not only are failing to control student protests but are refusing to provide recruiters for the Marines sufficient time and central locations on the campus in order to obtain volunteers.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., Democrat of Virginia, asserted in a recent speech that some college administrators are using postponements and excuses to block recruiting, and "are simply inventing dodges to avoid laying down the law to their student bodies."

Both the Army and the Air Force are encountering similar obstructions. The Army sends recruiters each spring to more than 500 colleges and universities. The Air Force, too, reveals that its recruiters have been confronted with instances of abuse.

Students, moreover, are protesting the maintenance of courses for officer training purposes — a process which has been carried on for many years.

Who is benefiting cost by the actual interference with the right of the U.S. government to get efficient officers for its military services? Wouldn't the Soviet government be the gainer if, inside this and other countries in the free world, the training system for the armed services were seriously impaired?

There seems to be a feeling among some people in the academic world, including faculty members, that the college administrators should not deal sternly with antiwar and other protests, even when buildings are seized and the governing authority is threatened with more and more disturbances unless student "demands" are met.

President Nixon has uttered some generalities on the subject of "law and order," but he happens to be the commander-in-chief of America's military services, and it is difficult to see how he can ignore much longer the problem of interference with recruiting. The realistic truth is that there are more than 500,000 Americans engaged in a war today, and the casualties in Vietnam have already exceeded the figure in the Korean War.

The Department of Justice has several statutes available which can be invoked to seek indictments againstt he instigators of the disturbances on the college campuses. For these now are directly related to interference with military recruitment.

THE OPPORTUNITY is at hand for the federal government to ask for indictments and tell the students of the country that when a nation is at war they cannot, under the Constitution, give "aid and comfort" to the enemy without subjecting themselves, to punishment.

The Supreme Court has recently said that "demonstrations" cannot be viewed as free speech when violence or the use of force is involved. That's "the law of the land" today, but many college students mistakenly insist that campus activities are free from interference even when they impair the military operations of the United States.

Meanwhile, private colleges are bound to suffer great harm to their operations. Alumni throughout the country are demanding that the laws be enforced and police brought in whenever there are disorders and property is seized. Nearly all of the private colleges depend on alumni for financial support, and the graduates generally do not believe the college authorities are being firm enough in dealing with disobedience.

the city, and again the police gave chase. The driver went past the traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon a second time and turned onto Lisbon St. and started through Pleasant Heights.

Patrolman Huffman said the chase continued through county roads and onto Route 7 until Irwin Wooley tried to turn the vehicle onto County Road 419 near Brookside Park, failed to negotiate the curve and ran the auto into a guard rail.

Wooley jumped from the car and ran about 60 yards down over a hill and hid in the girders of a concrete bridge. When Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman arrived he and Huffman found Wooley, and took him into custody. The other two men did not attempt to run. Wellman was on patrol in the Rogers area when police radioed they had the auto stopped.

Patrolman Huffman and Pyle said Wooley, along with Stewart, went to Wellsville to pick up Harry Wooley and the chase resulted when they returned to East Liverpool.

The officer said when the driver first ignored the light he was not aware the car had been stolen. He said moments later police headquarters advised him a white sedan had been stolen from Warren a short time before. Officers did not learn the car had been taken from Carnegie until they called authorities there to obtain information about Irwin Wooley.

The events took place within the space of 58 minutes, the officers related. The three were in custody by 2:41 a.m.

This morning in court Irwin Wooley was fined on six different charges. He was given 60 days in the city jail for resisting arrest. In addition he was fined $10 and costs each for the two traffic light violations; $50 and costs each for driving without an operator's license and reckless driving, and $25 and costs for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone.

Stewart was fined $25 and costs on the intoxication charge, but Harry Wooley was not arraigned. Police had filed no local charges on him.

FBI agents were expected to be in town late this morning. They have jurisdiction since the car crossed state lines.

Nixon

had not spoken publicly about the incident.

The presidential silence and the calculated effort to maintain an official calm after the loss of the plane was reflected to a degree in the Panmunjom protest, which contained fewer bristling words than in past incidents.

When the USS Pueblo was captured 15 months ago, the Johnson administration called the seizure a "heinous crime" committed by "North Korean gangsters."

Administration sources suggested the lower-keyed tone of the Panmunjom protest reflected a difference between Nixon and Johnson administration approachs rather than any U.S.-North Korean deal to play down the episode.

The timing of the U.S. protest at Panmunjom was pushed on the administration when North Korea called for a meeting of the military armistice commission, the group which has met there since the end of the Korean War periodically to talk about such items as truce violations.

To the Americans' surprise, the Pyongyang representative, Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun, limited his opening speech to a seven-minute complaint about alleged demilitarized zone violations—but never mentioned the crisis-provoking plane incident.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp then launched into the U.S. rebuttal of Pyong yang's earlier claim that the slow-flying U.S. propellor plane intruded deep into Korean territory.

The American plane never flew even close to North Korean air space, Knapp declared. He noted plane debris was found 90 miles out to sea.

"The shooting down of this U.S. plane was not an act of self-defense," he said. "It was a calculated act of aggression. . .

"International law and custom call you to account for the consequences of your violation of these principles . . .

"The proper course for you to take in this instance is to acknowledge the true facts of the case: "That you shot down our aircraft over international waters at a point approximately 90 miles from your coast, and that this plane at no time entered your air space.

"We, of course, expect that you will take appropriate measures to prevent similar incidents in the future."

Lee's response was to ask what unit the U.S. plane came from. After the North Korean general repeated the question twice, Knapp strode out of the parley.

As the incident receded further into the depths of diplomacy, the search for the missing crewmen continued, but with hope for their survival all but gone.

Of the 31 men aboard the plane, the bodies of two have been recovered.

Sweeney's widow, Yoko Sweeney, lives in Mishima, Japan, while his parents reside in Chicago.

Although North Korea attacked the United States as an aggressor and congratulated itself for shooting down-the plane, the Soviet Union continued a relatively restrained attitude.

In fact, Soviet destroyers aided in the search for the plane and it was a Russian vessel that recovered the first debris from the aircraft. The Soviet press reports have been brief and gave the versions of both sides.

Dead Officer Related To Ex-City Resident

The grief - stricken mother and sister of Navy Lt. Joseph Ribar of Ambridge, a member of the crew of the U. S. reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korean jets, were reported hospitalized today.

The body of Lt. Ribar and an enlisted man have been recovered from the sea near where the plane was down.

He is the son of Mrs. Anna Ribar of Ambridge and the brother of Mrs. Harold Taylor of Baden. His sister is married to a former East Liverpool man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor of Northside Ave.

A graduate of East Liverpool High School, Taylor, 25, is employed by an insurance firm. His wife, Mrs. Jeannie Ribar Taylor, is expecting a child.

Lt. Ribar is also survived by his wife and a child at Atsuki, Japan.

be available about July 1, and the city expects to petition the state for some $770,000 to match local money for the projects.

Bloomgren is preparing a map of the streets involved in the three programs to send to the legislators for their consideration.

Willshaw said already he has had a telephone call from Wetzel concerning the meeting, and believes the possibility of the city getting the funds is "good."

Willshaw said Vodrey and Bloomgren also met with the Department of Health to get specifications for restrooms at Thompson Park.

Upon learning that they are handled through the Highway Department, Willshaw said the three will return to the capital next Wednesday to get specifications. The highway department's specifications for interstate highway rest stops may be used. Willshaw said there are no sewerage facilities at the park, and so the Health department had to be contacted to learn of any special considerations the city must give.

Council already has appropriated $5,000 for the project.

his new infection. His temperature has been reduced, but the infection continues, Mrs. McCraw said.

Paul was under sedation yesterday and slept most of the time, she said.

He was especially thrilled this week with a gift of a football from the East Liverpool High School grid squad, autographed by all members of the team, she said.

Mrs. McCraw said he has been pleased with the cards and letters sent to him from district residents.

The April 3 operation included removal of his diseased kidneys and transplant of one of the kidney's of a 9-year-old girl who had died earlier that day. The second kidney was transplanted in a 15-year-old Beaver Falls girl whose condition remains "satisfactory."

Sirhan

favor of death penalties, will present the state's argument on a sentence to the jury which rejected the defense contention and a month's worth of psychiatric testimony that Sirhan was too mentally ill to be guilty of first degree murder.

"We will cite facts: his lack of remorse and the effect of political assassination on the democratic process," Howard said. "It will be explained to the jury that it (life or death) will be in their absolute discretion. They now have to evaluate in their conscience a proper penalty."

Cooper routinely asked that a new jury be impaneled for the penalty trial and was turned down. The jurors were told they could have their wives and husbands as visitors in their hotel until Sunday night.

Sirhan also was convicted of five counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in the shooting of five people near Kennedy when Sirhan opened fire.

Only newsmen were in the spectator seats as the buzzer sounded three times indicating the jury had reached a verdict. There also was the same heavy guard in the fortress-like courtroom as on other days.

A strange aspect to the trial was the complete absence of Kennedy intimates. Many of the 70 people who were in the pantry of the Ambassador Hotel when the senator was shot June 5 testified for the state in February, but none returned later.

Sirhan's Father Vows Revenge If Son Dies

TAIYEBEH, Occupied Jordan (AP) — The father of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, convicted killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, today swore "revenge on American politicians" if his son is executed.

"The revenge won't be in words," Bishara Sirhan declared. He did not elaborate.

"I accept the fact that my son killed Sen. Kennedy," he said. "But Sen. Kennedy was to blame. He provoked my son by threatening to supply arms to the Middle East which would have caused the death of thousands, and the displacement of many more."

"My son did well," said the 55-year-old Arab.

"Many Americans have come to my house and told me they were happy to get rid of Kennedy," he added.

Sirhan vituperatively attacked deputy prosecutor David Fitts, cursing him in Arab expletives and charging "he would not let my son defend himself."

My son, as a true Christian like myself, is ready to work for peace, not only in words but from all his heart," said Sirhan. He said executing the youth would achieve nothing "because peace lovers will never surrender."

Transit Tieup Threatening In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A transit strike may hit city commuters if Port Authority Transit files a petition today appealing an arbitration decision that awards union representation to 120 supervisors.

Gilbert Teitel, president of the Amalgamated Transit Union, Division 85, which represents 2,500 drivers and maintenance workers, said Thursday he'll call for a strike vote as soon as the authority files its appeal in Common Pleas Court.

A spokesman for the authority said it plans to file the appeal today.

"We have been in the courts long enough — we have been in court since 1967," said Teitel. "This is just another stalling tactic by the authority."

The authority's directors claim supevisors' membership in the union will result in a breakdown of discipline and efficiency and initiate higher operating costs.

The union, under state law, is prohibited from striking and subject to compulsory arbitration.

"They are illegal in taking this thing back to the courts," Teitel said. "Under the law, they should abide by an arbitration ruling."

The arbitration board announced its decision Wednesday.

Hearings Due Students In Kent Disorder

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A delegation sent by more than 1,000 students to present demands to Kent State University President Robert I. White reported Thursday night that he had agreed to open hearings on student suspensions.

Fifty-eight demonstrators arrested Wednesday after allegedly smashing their way into a closed hearing on campus and demanding open hearings, are to appear today in Portage County Municipal Court.

At a student rally Thursday night demands were read to reinstate the suspended campus chapter of Students for Democratic Society, reinstate the students suspended as a result of Wednesday night's incident and implementation of a student conduct code allegedly ignored by the school.

Other Campuses Stir With Unrest

Militants Seize Columbia Building In Violent Clash

By The Associated Press

About 200 militants seized a Columbia University building for a seven-hour sit-in marked by a violent clash with security guards as several of the nation's campuses continued to stir with student unrest.

The Columbia group voluntarily left Philosophy Hall late Thursday after being served with a restraining order. The students emerged chanting, "This is just the start. We will win."

Two administration officials accompanied by security guards served the court order. They were met by hostile students who unleashed a barrage of bottles and discharged fire extinguishers.

The officials escaped by throwing a chair through a window and jumping to safety. Three students were injured and one of the officials was cut on the wrist.

Many of the students then broke up furniture in the building, taking table legs to use as clubs if police were called. But acting President Andrew Cordier said no police would be summoned.

The demonstration led by the Students for a Democratic Society was to demand "open enrollment" at Columbia for all New York high school students who want to attend the Ivy League school.

At Harvard, the faculty of arts and sciences voted overwhelmingly to ask the school's two governing boards to reduce ROTC to an extracurricular activity without "special privileges or facilities."

There are only 322 ROTC students at the 15,000-student university but abolition of the military program has been a prime goal of the current student strike at the Cambridge, Mass., school.

Another general meeting of the student body was called for today to consider whether to continue the strike which began last Friday. An informal poll of nearly 2,000 students Thursday night showed 75 per cent favored a return to class.

In Miami, a homemade-bomb explosion blew in the door and shattered windows of the dean of men's office at the University of Miami Thursday night. No one was in the office and there were no injuries.

A school spokesman said he knew of no reason why anyone would want to damage the building. Dr. Hrney King Stanford, the school's president, called it a "dastardly, unspeakable crime."

In Philadelphia the LaSalle College Council, an advisory body on student affairs, voted to make ROTC voluntary instead of compulsory for freshmen.

In Atlanta, trustees of Atlanta University were blockaded inside a conference room for two hours Thursday by protesting black students demanding that a six-college complex be named for slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The demonstration ended when the board agreed to meet with a student spokesman today. Atlanta University is one of six predominantly Negro colleges composing what is known as the Atlanta University Center.

Declares He'd Do It Himself If Able

Plane Crewman's Father Says We Should Retaliate

By The Associated Press

"We should retaliate. If I was able to get over there I'd do it myself," says the father of a crewman whose body was recovered from the wreckage of the EC121 reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korea.

The father, Richard Sweeney of Chicago, also said he regrets that seizure of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo last year by North Koreans did not lead to measures that might have kept them from shooting down the plane.

"My personal reaction," he said, "is that I don't think our boys are getting enough cover over there. The Pueblo should have taught us something."

The Pentagon said Thursday that bodies found in the sea where the plane was downed were those of Sweeney's only son, Aviation Electronics Technician 1.C. Richard E. Sweeney, 31, and of Lt. (j.g.) Joseph R. Ribar, 28, of Ambridge, Pa.

Ribar's sister, Jean Taylor, said she thought U.S. reaction to the Pueblo seizure created a precedent that led to the downing of the plane.

"After the Pueblo affair, we should have bombed them," Mrs. Taylor said. "We shouldn't have proved the United States is so friendly."

Asked what action she thought the United States should take now, she said, choking up, "I just don't know what they should do."

Sweeney was prominent in high school football, basketball and baseball. He enlisted in the Navy at age 20 and was assigned to a second tour of duty in Japan 3½ years ago.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a married sister and his widow, Yoko Sweeney of Mishima, Japan.

Mrs. Taylor said she and her mother had no idea Ribar was serving aboard reconnaissance flights. "There was no indication he was on the plane," she said. "He never mentioned it in his letters."

Ribar enlisted in the Navy in 1959 after graduating from high school in Ambridge, a small steel mill town just north of Pittsburgh. He attended West Palm Beach (Fla.) College for two years after he was discharged, then re-enlisted.

Mrs. Taylor said her brother was due to return to the United States in a year and planned "to get a job as a commercial pilot with one of the airlines."

Besides his sister, Ribar is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anne Ribar of Ambridge; his widow, the former Emma Jean Morris, daughter of a Navy officer stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex., and a 4-month-old son.

Virginia is often called the "Mother of States" from the fact that several states have been formed out of its original territory.

Sisco Sent To Pen After Arraignment

William Sisco, former East Liverpool resident who escaped from the Beaver County Jail April 2, and later gave himself up in Bismarck, N.D., was returned by authorities Thursday, and sent directly to Western Penitentiary in Pittsburgh.

He was arraigned before George Shaffer of Brighton Township and waived hearing. Beaver County Sheriff, John Hineman Jr., chief deputy Edward Barrett and State Trooper James Diffenbaugh escorted Sisco back from North Dakota.

Sisco said he took tools from the first floor of the jail and stored them on the third floor in preparation for his escape. He said he used sheets to climb down to the ground, then cut the barbed wire to get over the wall. He added he had no accomplices in the escape, contradictory to a report by Bernard Cashdollar, county detective, who said there were three accomplices — two of which planned to escape with Sisco.

Sisco said he circled around in the Beaver area after escaping and then hitch-hiked a ride to Midland Heights. From there he walked the railroad tracks to East Liverpool where he met friends who gave him $50 and a coat.

He was then driven to Columbus by a couple of juveniles, then he boarded a bus and headed for Bismarck where he heard there were jobs available. Upon arrival, he said, he was cold and hungry and decided to give himself up.

The prison board met Thursday to hear Cashdollar's report, which listed among other things, a failure to observe rules and regulations. The report makes no mention of Fred Norris, the warden at the jail. The board will reconvene in a couple weeks to give a decision on the report.

Balloting Slated At TRW Facility For Union Role

MINERVA — Some 1,388 production and maintenance employes of the TRW Metals Division at Minerva will be eligible to vote on union representation next Wednesday and Thursday.

Two international unions are seeking to represent hourly employees who have been in the Independent, Metal Workers Alliance, Inc. since 1959. The two internationals the Laborers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) and the United Auto Workers, now affiliated with the Brotherhood of Teamsters in the Alliance of Labor.

Voting will be supervised by the Cleveland Regional Office of the National Labor Relations Board. Balloting will be from 11 p.m. until midnight Wednesday and from 6 to 9 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday.

When the outside unions filed for an NLRB election, the company and the MWA were negotiating the terms of a new contract. The present agreement expires May 20. Bargaining was suspended and cannot resume under law until the issue of bargaining agent is resolved.

Judge Jails Area Driver

A Columbiana motorist was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunken driving by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine Thursday.

Marvin R. Ryman of S. Elm St. was arrested near Columbiana by the Ohio Highway Patrol after his car passed a patrol cruiser at a high rate of speed and went left of center, officers said.

Others penalized by Judge Dickson were David R. Pridemore of 900 St. George St., lack of motorcycle endorsement on his license, $10 and costs; Robert G. Blankenship of Fisher Park and Harold Rayle of N. Market St., Lisbon, $15 and costs for speeding.

Bernard Beaver of Sherwood Ave., $15 and costs for an unsafe vehicle; Alexander Prokop of Kelley Ave., $15 and costs, and Lloyd Wilson of East Liverpool RD 2, $5 and costs, both for improper passing.

Donald J. Low of Rogers was fined $20 and costs for a traffic light violation. Robert V. Willison of 1812 Harvey Ave. forfeited a $25 bond for a defective emergency brake.

Activities Discussed By Park Board

Paul Cone, manager of the physical plant of the Hancock County schools, attended a meeting of the Chester Park Board Wednesday and discussed how the board, Chester Council and the County board of education could work together to improve playgrounds at the various schools.

The resignation of Paul Clunk, a member of the Park Board for several years, was accepted. He was made an honorary member of the board. Mrs. Richard Barnhart was appointed to the vacancy.

Lester Kirschler, president, reported the park has been cleaned for the season and that a permanent picnic and work table will be installed in the playground area. He also reported the "The Brute Angels" will play for a dance Saturday from 8 to 11.

Bylaws were read. The board will charge a fee of $4 for the use of the playing field for each organized game or $20 per week and $10 for the use of the Youth Center. Scouting is excluded from paying such fees.

Reservations for the park facilities must be made with the board at least 15 days prior to its use, either in person or in writing. In the case of ball games, the board must have a schedule in advance and any changes must be reported promptly to avoid conflict.

The next meeting will be May 21 at 7:30 p. m. at the park.

LONDON (AP) — London transport is considering building a new underground (subway) line, to be called the "Fleet Line" — for Fleet Street, center of the London newspaper industry. Work on the line will start in 1972 if parliament approves.

Appeal Eyed In Hancock's Sheriff Race

Atty. William Conklin, counsel for Democrat Louis Smoleski, disclosed today he will seek further action at a higher court in the contested Hancock County Sheriff's race which was officially ended Thursday night by the County Commissioners.

The Commissioners completed the examination of ballots in nearly all of the 39 precincts which had been challenged by attorneys for Smoleski.

The County Court, sitting as a board of canvassers, began the inspection of the ballots April 1 on a mandate ordered by the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Commissioners last night completed the inspection with no official change in the recount which showed Republican Ralph Patrick as the winner of the November election.

The litigation before the Supreme Court was filed by Smoleski who was first certified the winner of the contest. However, an appeal to the high court by Patrick later resulted in his being declared the winner.

Smoleski then filed a notice of election contest Feb. 10, the day Patrick was sworn in as winner when the Commissioners threw out certain ballots in Precinct 32 according to an opinion issued by the state Supreme Court Feb. 4.

Smoleski is also being represented by the law firm of Preiser, Green and Hunt of Charleston.

Counsel for Patrick is Frank Cuomo of the law firm of Pinsky, Mayhan, Barnes and Watson.

The recount and certification by the board of canvassers gave Patrick an overall county vote total of 9,998 votes and Smoleski 9,046, a margin of 52 votes.

Traffic Rerouted In Rt. 2 Blaze

Traffic was rerouted for several hours Thursday night on Route 2, about a mile north of New Cumberland, while firemen fought an underground blaze near the Crescent Brick Co.

Volunteers from New Cumberland, Newell and New Manchester battled the grass fire, which spread into a mine under the road, from about 5:30 to 8 p. m.

Newell volunteer firemen also answered a call at 5:20 p. m. to Central Service on Washington St., where tires and trash were burning.

Fairport Harbor Area Plant To Lose By '71

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— The Chromate Division of Diamond Shamrock Corp. near Fairport Harbor is expected to be closed down by 1971. It will be replaced by a new $24- million plant at Wilmington, N.C.

Officials said Thursday 175 jobs would be eliminated by the plant's closing, which would remove an estimated $1.4 million in buying power from the Lake County economy.

A spokesman for the firm declined to comment on reports the plant will be scrapped. The company is one of the largest alkali chemical producers in the country.

Her husband died Feb. 10, 1950.

Cleanup Plan Spurred During Meeting Here

The program is being sponsored by the civic and community affairs committee of the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce.

Among those represented at the meeting were the Community Resource Center, the Klondyke area, the North Side and Pleasant Heights centers, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Veterans City Council, Senior Citizens, the Jaycees and the Lions Club.

Various projects are being planned, including hillside beautification, tree planting and decoration of barren spots with flower planting.

Don Eckert, city planning coordinator, pointed out that the municipal administration will assist in every way possible.

While the cleanup period has been set officially for May 12-23, the work will be stressed during the entire month, E. R. Chandler, executive secretary of the Chamber, said.

Bid Openings Slated For Rt. 68 Work

Bids will be opened May 9 at 11 a.m. at the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the resurfacing of Midland Ave. and Route 68 in Industry to the vicinity of Craft's Service Station.

The bids are being advertised presently for the repairs which will include approximately 16,598 linear feet of existing pavement, the removal of 1,633 linear feet of existing pavement and paved shoulders for a distance of approximately 2,702 linear feet.

Donald Bertrum, borough engineer, reported on the repaving at a March 16 meeting of Midland Council. He said work is scheduled to begin in late May or early June. He continued by saying the borough would have to raise 27 manholes to the same height of the new roadway which will contain 2½" of blacktop surface. Midland Ave. was last repaved in 1961.

The repaving will begin on west Midland Ave. near the Brown Brothers Slag Co. and continue to the Industry service station. Work is scheduled to begin this week on repairs of a section of Route 68 from the service station to the Barclay Hill Bridge

Resurfacing of the highway will also be finished as planned in last year's budget. A state highway official said future tentative plans call for resurfacing of Route 68 from Midland Borough through Ohioville to Smiths Ferry in the vicinity of Miller's Service Station. The work is scheduled between July 1969 and July 1970.

Previous plans for resurfacing that same section of highway to the Ohio state line were not approved because of a proposed new bridge replacing the one now in use over Beaver Creek. Tentative plans also call for resurfacing of Route 68 from the Barclay Hill Bridge to the vicinity of the old Merril Dam near Vanport between July truck traffic due to the closing 1969 and July 1970.

The road condition was much publicized last winter when area Councils wrote highway officials requesting emergency repairs which they undertook. However the road is still in bad condition, and with the increased load of truck traffic due to he closing of the Chester Bridge, is in need of repairs.

Parade Plans Are Speeded

Plans were advanced for the Memorial Day parade when the Veterans City Council met Wednesday night at City Hall.

Reports were given by various committees and announcement made of the mailing of invitations to various organizations planning to participate.

Plans for Americanism Week in August also were discussed and a report was heard on the Jaycees cleanup campaign to be held in May.

The council voted to assist in the cleanup "in any way possible."

A representative of the council will attend the memorial banquet in Wellsville May 29 which is being held to raise funds for a memorial chapel honoring Pfc. Melvin Newlin.

A special meeting of the council will be held April 30 at City Hall.

4-H Group Hears County Recorder On Aiding Nation

LISBON — John P. Wargo, Columbiana County recorder, spoke to the county Junior Leaders 4-H group Thursday night at the St. George center. Approximately 60 boys and girls attended.

He encouraged those who might desire careers in public service to ready themselves now even though they are still in high school.

Pointing out there are people who do not have a good word to say about America, he said, "This is a time for cool heads to take over from the hotheads and for loyal Americans to speak up for the good things about our country.

"We must take off our coats and go to work to solve our problems rather than moan about them."

Gordon McDonald, county 4-H agent, introduced the speaker. Dana Holmes of Winona, president, was in charge.

The Junior Leaders will meet at the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children at 9:30 a.m. May 3 to rake and seed the lawn — the first step in the club's project of beautifying the grounds.

Members voted to hold two fund-raising projects—a square dance in June at Guilford Grange, and a horse show July 27.

They also decided to sponsor a public speaking training program for younger 4-H'ers. Junior Leaders will receive training in the county extension office and be instructors for the classes.

Membership For Catholic Schools

W. Va. School Unit OK's Sweeping Set Of Plans

HUNTINGTON (AP) — The State Secondary School Association has adopted a sweeping set of proposals, including approval of membership for the state's 10 Roman Catholic high schools and several private high schools.

Other proposals adopted at the association's 49th annual meeting here included:

— Setting eligibility standards for athletes and band members to make students eligible only if they are passing in three credit courses in the previous semester.

— Agreeing not to name an all-state team in any sport.

— Permitting girls to compete in all interscholastic athletics.

— Allowing graduating senior to participate in athletics to complete their final year, including golf, baseball and track.

— Establishing a board of review for protests against decisions of the association's board of appeals.

— Providing that junior high school football practices and first games be one week later than senior highs.

— Denying permission for junior high schools to play preseason interscholastic football or basketball scrimmages.

— Permitting eight-man football.

— Permitting senior high school basketball teams to have two preseason interscholastic scrimmages.

An association spokesman said the admission of Catholic and private schools into the association could mean the end of the state's Catholic high school basketball tournaments.

Frank J. Lombardo, general chairman of the Catholic tournament, said the Catholic schools have not accepted membership and it doesn't necessarily follow that all the Catholic schools will elect to compete against the public schools.

The 1970 Catholic basketball tournament already is scheduled for Huntington.

In other action the association agreed to resume relations with Logan High School athletic teams, which had been under suspension during the course of a legal hassle over the eligibility of a football player. The association said the Logan High senior was too old to compete in high school athletics.

An association spokesman said the Logan school agreed to pay $6,300 court costs incurred by the association. The case is pending in the courts.

Harrison County Board of Education member Orlan Fowler of Clarksburg was named to succeed Dr. Harry Stansbury of Charleston on the association's board of appeals. And, Marmet Junior High School Principal Eddie Bartrug was re-elected to a five-year term on the board of appeals.

Rifle, Mortar Fire Traded In Mideast

By The Associated Press

Israel and Jordan traded rifle and mortar fire across the Jordan River today for the fourth straight day. Each side said the other started it, and each said it suffered no losses.

The Israelis said small arms fire was directed at Israeli troops near Kibbutz Hamadia south of the Sea of Galilee and later mortar shells fell on another kibbutz at Moaz Haim.

The Jordanian announcement said the Israelis opened machine-gun and mortar fire on Jordanian forces at Tel Arbayen, in the northern Jordan Valley.

Commenting on the current heavy firing across the Suez Canal, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told an Independence Day rally in Jerusalem Thursday it was "fireworks as far as its military or political value is concerned" and "is mostly for export."

However, "it serves a domestic purpose for the Arabs as well," he added. "They feel obliged to show that they are still doing something about the Israelis. It is by no means a renewal of war, although it could lead to it, especially if the Egyptians succeed in heating up the eastern front as well."

He said Cairo radio had reported Israel lost 123 tanks, 104 artillery batteries, 2 Mirage jet fighters, 4 helicopters, 5 scout planes, 29 ground-to-ground missile batteries, 4 Hawk missile sites, 96 spotter posts and suffered about 500 casualties in the past five weeks of fighting.

Dayan said Israel had actually suffered 9 dead and 48 wounded.

"A number of tanks were hit," he said, "but none were knocked out and all are back in action."

In the nearly two years since the 1967 June war Israel has lost seven fighter planes and one spotter plane on all fronts, he said, adding: "Not one was downed in air combat."

Senate Probe Of Hunger

Needy Mothers, Children To Receive Food Packets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, moving to meet some of the problems turned up by a Senate probe of hunger in the capital, will provide special food packets for some 45,000 needy mothers and children.

The decision to supply $3 million worth of "food for health" packets in Washington similar to a program instituted earlier in 78 smaller communities, was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and announced Thursday in his office by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

It enabled the Republican administration to seize the initiative on the hunger problem, which until now has been held by a Democratic-controlled Senate committee headed by George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Javits, senior Republican on the committee, moved into the situation after reportedly becoming upset earlier in the week when the administration's revised budget failed to add anything to government food programs except $15 million for nutrition education.

Using his influence behind the scenes, he arranged for Hardin to make the announcement within hours after the committee closed three days of hearings on hunger problems in Washington.

Hardin announced two programs:

—The supplemental food packets, whcih contain iron-enriched baby cereal, fruit juice, evaporated milk, corn syrup, peanut butter, canned meats and poultry, will be given to needy mothers, pregnant women and young children free at health centers in Washington.

—Some 100,000 youngsters who receive free lunches at school during the year will continue to receive them at summer recreation centers.

Hardin indicated that the administration still hopes to expand other federal programs, relying on food distribution plans that are not covered by the monetary ceiling on the food stamp program.

The program in Washington marks a major expansion of the "foods for hunger" program started last November. Only 18,500 people are receiving the aid in the 78 communities, compared with estimates of 45,000 in the capital.

High Waters Continue To Hit Midwest

By The Associated Press

High waters continued to wash across the Midwestern flood zone today.

Volunteers, including a group of convicts, worked long hours to stem the rising rivers that had forced more than 15,000 persons from their homes.

Property losses already topped $5 million with the worst possibly still to come.

The federal government prepared to make disaster loans to hard-hit businesses and public facilities.

Among the volunteer flood fighters were 15 inmates of the Minnesota State Prison in Stillwater. They packed sandbags to help hold off the St. Croix River.

Said Stillwater Mayor Ray Smith, "They have put in between 60 and 100 hours doing the hardest work. We fell in love with them."

In Dubuque, Iowa, 100 high school volunteers were given typhoid shots before reporting to help extend a six-mile dike.

With few exceptions dikes were holding well in the Dakotas and Minnesota but in Hudson, Wis., a Willow River dike appeared to be weakening under pressure.

The hardest hit of all major towns was Minot, N.D. More than 12,000 persons had been evacuated and some $3.5 million in damages had been reported.

Minot was one of a number of towns feeling the effects of a surge by the Souris River, which climbed about two feet in 24 hours as the runoff from melted snow in Canada began to arrive in heavier volume.

A crest of 21 feet was predicted for sometime next week. The river stood at the 17-foot level Thursday.

The Red River of the North was as much as 8 to 12 miles wide along a 150-mile stretch from Fargo, N.D., to Drayton, N.D. The stretch is mostly flat prairie farm land.

The Office of Emergency Planning in Washington said President Nixon was expected to act soon to designate disaster areas. They would then become eligible for federal funds to repair roads and utilities and for removing debris.

Alma, Prairie du Chien and La Crosse, Wis., braced for higher than expected Mississippi River crests.

The Weather Bureau said the waters will rise up to a foot higher than originally predicted because masses of debris had been removed from a lock and a dam at Hastings, Minn., causing an upsurge of the Mississippi.

Also in Wisconsin, Fountain City had much of its downtown section under several feet of Mississippi water and several bridges in the western part of the state were closed.

Upstream, the Mississippi receded slowly in St. Paul as the crest reached Red Wing, Minn., 50 miles to the south.

U.S. engineers in the Rock Island, Ill., district estimated $3 million has been spent since last March constructing additional dikes in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri.

Despite a Mississippi rise of about six inches a day at Rock Island and surrounding areas, the crest was expected to be well below the top mark of the big 1965 flood. The crest at Rock Island is expected April 28.

Kiwanians Hear Peace Corps Aid

William Brokaw Jr. of East Liverpool, on furlough from the Peace Corps in India, screened slides of India at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Brokaw, in the Peace Corps for two years, was introduced by the Rev. Allen Conway, program chairman. Dayton Allen, president, was in charge.

Hemorrhage Fatal To W.Va. Legislator

CHARLESTON (AP) — Del. Corbett Church, D-McDowell, died today in a local hospital after suffering an apparent cerebral hemorrhage four days ago.

A spokesman at Charleston General Hospital said the 56-year-old legislator, a native of Yukon, W.Va., died at 9:23 a.m.

Church collapsed Tuesday outside the state Capitol. He was in Charleston to attend a meeting of the legislative interim committee.

New Officers Are Picked By Welfare Unit

The Rev. Robert W. Stringer, vicar of All Saints Episcopal Church in South Charleston, was elected president of the conference for a two-year term.

Other officers include Charles R. Lewis of Charleston as first vice president and Frank Gallagher of Huntington as treasurer.

Two new members at large of the conference governing board are the Most Rev. Joseph H. Hodges, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Wheeling, and Harry F. Walker of Charleston, executive director of the state Commission on Aging.

During Thursday's activities, an official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Stephen P. Simonds, said the honor system of determining welfare eligibility works.

Simonds said the system has turned up only about 1-2 per cent of ineligible applicants in Maine since its introduction five years ago.

Thirty-three states, he said, have taken steps to adopt the system. One of these is West Virginia, which will begin testing the method early next month.

The West Virginia Welfare Conference is made up of representatives of federal, state and private welfare agencies in the state.

Arson Probe Set In Three Saline Fires

IRONDALE — The Ohio fire marshal's office is expected to conduct an arson probe into three recent Saline Township fires, Dorman Patterson, township trustee, reported today.

Patterson said Chester Henry of Piedmont, fire marshal's aide, is to investigate next week two fires in unoccupied houses and the blaze which leveled the Waterford Downs tavern, all in the past 30 days.

One of the houses, located in Hollow Rock, was owned by Herbert Moore of Wellsville. The other was located along Camp Logan Rd. Irondale firemen fought the flames.

Patterson said Mrs. Thea Adosis of Detroit has been identified as the owner of the former tavern at Yellow Creek.

He said Henry is scheduled to inspect other buildings as possible fire hazards.

Patterson asked anyone with information about the theft of a citizens Band radio from the township garage Wednesday to notify the Jefferson County sheriff's office. Deputies also have warned against youngsters shooting air gun pellets at the windows of the garage, he added.

2 More Offices At Courthouse To Close Saturdays

LISBON — Dr. M. K. Singer, Columbiana County health commissioner and medical director of the County Tuberculosis Clinic, has announced the Health Department and Clinic offices in the Courthouse will be closed Saturdays beginning tomorrow.

Courthouse officeholders last Saturday initiated a policy of closing on Saturdays, but Dr. Singer was on vacation and his staff kept the offices open pending his decision.

Also open last Saturday was the clerk of courts office because of the final rush for car titles needed to obtain 1969 license plates. Clerk Carl L. Stacey said the office will be closed Saturdays beginning tomorrow.

Both the car title and legal sections of his office remained opened until 4:30 p.m. this week, but few people took advantage of the extra half hour. Other offices close at 4.

Stacey said he will continue the 4:30 closing several more days to see if response justifies it.

Abraham Lincolon, who stood 6-foot-4, was the tallest of the U.S. presidents.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Violations of the law in campus dissent must be dealt with by police, but universities are obligated to try to deal with demonstrations before that stage is reached, the heads of 21 top American colleges say.

The American Council on Education disclosed Thursday that the educators met secretly in Chicago over the Easter weekend to draw up a denunciation of disruptive campus demonstrators.

A council spokesman said the 1,400-word paper, entitled "A Declaration on Campus Unrest," will be distributed to its 1,538 member colleges.

The paper calls campus demonstrations "spectacular events precipitated by . . . extremists," and says they should not be allowed to obscure the accomplishments of students, faculty and administrators.

It warns that efforts to deal with demonstrations "through special, punitive legislation will almost certainly be counterproductive."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pan American Airways and the AFL-CIO Transport Worker Union have reached tentative agreement only a short time before a strike deadline, the National Mediation Board announced.

Details of the agreement were withheld until it is submitted for ratification by the union's 15,000 members. The union was seeking 30 cents an hour in wage increases over three years.

The agreement was announced shortly before the midnight Thursday strike deadline. The deadline was extended 24 hours the night before.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 1970 census questions about shared kitchen and bathroom facilities have been ordered reworded, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans says.

The changes are being made "to remove any implication that the government is interested in knowing with whom these facilities may be shared," Stans said in a letter to all members of the House and Senate.

Stans also said he has ordered that fewer persons be required to answer the longer questionnaires. Three million households that were slated to get a 66-question list instead will be asked 23 questions.

Juveniles Face Action For Fires And Bomb Calls

Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne said two 14-year-olds have been turned over to Juvenile Court in connection with two fires in East End and phoned bomb threats to East Junior High School and East Elementary last month.

Following questioning, Van Dyne said the youths confessed to starting two fires at an unoccupied house owned by Herman Hoppel at Holliday and Walter Sts. and to phoning bomb scares to the two schools.

The juveniles were questioned by VanDyne, with the assistance of Kenneth Montgomery, city juvenile officer, and Patrolman Jack Strobel.

'Coffee House' Proposal Studied By Zoning Board

About 20 attended a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals Thursday night when requests for two variances were considered.

One was a proposal of St. Stephens Episcopal Church for a special exception to use property at 204 W. 4th St. for a "non-commercial recreational facility". A coffee house for local youths has been proposed.

Several attending spoke both in favor and against the proposal, and the board members, Richard Carter, chairman, Claire Parks and the Rev. E. C. Traylor, said they would study the issue and give a ruling at a later date.

The discussion lasted about 90 minutes.

The Sun Oil Co. was given authorization to begin construction of a new service station at the corner of 6th St. and Broadway. The present station, being operated by C. E. (Bill) Tice, acting police chief, is to be razed afer the new facility is completed. Tice will continue as operator.

A Moment Of Glory For Aidman

There's the constant feeling in television that you're involved with some gigantic vacuum cleaner that sucks up stories, actors, directors and technicians and spews them out in disarray that is a medium devoid of any sort of single human effort, an individual vision or viewpoint.

Cecil Smith

Consequently when a work that is the total inspiration and achievement of one man reaches the cluttered air, it is something of an event. The production is "The Spoon River Anthology" which CBS offers as a special Monday night. The man is Charles Aidman.

CHUCK AIDMAN is one of these fine reliable actors whose face is better known to television's millions than his name.

He went to Hollywood a decade ago after achieving great success on the New York stage in "Career" and there he and perhaps two-score other first-rate actors play the villains and psychotics and gunmen who motivate TV's endless melodramas, occasionally sandwiching in a substantial movie part and even more occasionally finding a TV role worthy of their talents.

Aidman puts it this way: "You figure if you get one good television part a year and one good movie part every two years, you're ahead of the game—and it's worth all the meaningless, cardboard characters you play between them."

BUT IT IS hardly the most satisfying of careers. Occasionally, Chuck has fled it. He spent a year touring the country as the star of Arthur Miller's "After the Fall." He recently went to Broadway to direct a play that didn't make it — "But Seriously."

But actors of Aidman's dedication find that to function properly and to keep the creative juices flowing, you have to develop a do-it-yourself project career. Several years ago, Aidman and a number of other actors formed a workshop here called Theater West in which they could stretch themselves by doing things beyond television's demands.

WITHIN THE group Chuck began experimenting with poetry. He'd been fascinated since boyhood by Edgar Lee Masters' 1914 epic study of a small town in Illinois he called Spoon River in which he dissected the bones and sinew of smalltown America through the free-verse epitaphs he wrote for those buried in its churchyard.

Aidman turned Masters' classic work into a play, developing a continuity through selections of the poems, adding music composed by Naomi Caryl Hirshhorn and writing lyrics to be sung by Miss Hirshhorn and Hal Lynch. It was a compelling work from its first workshop production, capturing both the mood and the bite of Masters.

THE PLAY went to UCLA and from there to Broadway and now has become, in less than seven years, a standard work, almost always being performed in this country or abroad. But from its conception, Chuck felt it was a kind of intimate drama ideally suited for TV's small proscenium.

The current production, directed by Aidman and performed by him and three other members of the original workshop east — Lynch, Miss Hirshhorn and Joyce Van Patten — plus Jason Robards Jr. and Jennifer West, was taped two years ago by CBS. Sponsors shied from it, partly, Chuck believes, because of its graveyard setting, "'while it's really full of life."

Once hailed by critics as the American counterpart of Balzac's "Comedie Humaine," it is less highly regarded by scholars today, though recognized as a literary landmark.

"IN SOME circles," said Aidman, "it's looked on as a forerunner to 'Peyton Place.' Which I guess it is. But it has such a universal quality. It is so completely American, yet in Finland, Israel, Austria, around the world it is continually performed and audiences identify with it."

For Aidman, he's back at the work of a Hollywood actor — finding an occasional choice part among the dross. He's just completed a wild new movie with Jennifer Jones, "Angel, Angel, Down We Go" — "I'm not even sure what it's all about, but it was fun."

Meanwhile, he's taken to writing poetry. Who knows? Someday a frustrated actor may take Aidman's poems and make a play out of them.

1,000 Submachine Guns Seized By U.S. Agents

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Ten U.S. Treasury agents seized nearly 1,000 submachine guns and large quantities of other arms and ammunition Thursday in a raid on the home of Richard A. Lauchli Jr., 42, identified as a former leader of the Illinois Minutemen.

U.S. Atty. Richard Eagleton, said Lauchli was taken into custody under the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968. He appears today before U.S. Commissioner William Giffin in Springfield, Ill.

The agents said they had counted more than 800 submachine guns at the beginning of their inventory and more were expected to be added.

Some machine guns were found in and around Lauchli's home and 130 turned up in an abandoned garage about two miles away.

Eagleton said the agents also found in the house about 50 hand grenades, seven rockets and a rocket launcher, 25 rifles and shotguns and several thousand rounds of ammunition of various types.

The federal official said Lauchli bought most of the Thompson submachine guns as scrap metal from a Utah military installation in 1964. Some had holes drilled in them to make them unusable.

"This stuff was junk in a way, but in the hands of Lauchli it was being turned into very effective weapons," Eagleton said.

ANN LANDERS

An Adolescent Problem

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old boy with a problem. I don't seem to like girls. I date them but I have no interest in going steady or getting to know a girl really well.

In gym class I get nervous when I have to undress in front of other buys. And when I see them in the showers I feel uncomfortable, sort of a mixture of excitement and embarrassment.

Is there something wrong with me?

I realize my chances of getting a letter in your column are a million to one, but I do need help and I don't know where else to go. Please come to my rescue. — J. OF NEWARK.

Dear J: Although the thoughts and feelings you express are by no means uncommon among adolescents, the fact that you are so concerned indicates you need to discuss this problem with a professional.

Most schools have competent counselors. I hope your school is among them. If not, go to a mental health clinic. Newark has some excellent services.

Messy Mix-Up

Dear Ann: My husband has been in prison for three years. I fell in love with another man after being alone for nearly 18 months. I let the other man move into my home and now we have a baby 6 months old. I'm sure my friends and family think we're married.

Who is the legal father of this child? If my husband wants to get off the support hook, can he do so on the grounds that he is sterile? (I'm almost sure he is.) This is quite a mess and I need your help because my husband will be out of prison in a couple of months, and I'm all mixed up about what's what. Thank you — ABSENCE CREATES PROBLEMS.

Dear Ab: A man who has been in prison for three years could not have fathered a 6 month-old child even if he WEREN'T sterile. Legally, however, your husband is the baby's father until he takes steps to prove otherwise. You need to see a lawyer.

Neighborly Folks

Dear Ann: Educate the dumb public, please. Tell people that simply because you live next door to a family does not mean you're bosom buddies.

A woman leaned on my doorbell today for 15 minutes. I had to get out of the bathtub to answer. She had a kettle of sweet and sour meatballs for the next-door neighbor. Would I mind taking it over later? Nobody answers their bell.

Delivery boys leave plants, packages and dry cleaning with me. I've been asked to put the neighbor's fish in my refrigerator. I've been stuck with C.O.D. packages and 100 pounds of fertilizer.

At Christmastime someone left a pan of potato kugel here for the neighbor and our dog got into it. I never heard the end of it.

If you print my letter you'll be performing a national service. There must be others who feel as I do. — NOT PALSY WALSY.

Dear Not: I'm sure there are, but I'll wager a great many folks don't mind doing small favors for their neighbors. Since your dog ate that potato kugel, perhaps your neighbors would prefer that you not do them any more "favors." So why don't you just say, "Sorry—no."

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Nixon Plans To Cut Program

Wages Study Adds Fuel To Job Corps Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new study that says Job Corps graduates earn $1,000 a year more than nontrainees has added fuel to the controversy swirling over President Nixon's plan to reduce the training program drastically.

The 82-page study, prepared for the Office of Economic Opportunity by polster Louis Harris, was presented Thursday to the House Education and Labor Committee where Democrats are fighting Nixon's order to shut down 59 of the 113 Job Corps centers.

Harris, who said he was paid $300,000 to prepare the study, said it was the most exhaustive review ever made of the Job Corps.

The study concentrated on the earnings of Job Corps enrollees before and after their training compared to youths in similar age groups who received only part of the training or dropped out of the corps.

Harris said one of the most significant findings in the study was that earnings of Job Corps graduates six months after their training averaged $1,114 a year higher than before they entered the program. Those who dropped out were earning only $685 a year more than six months later.

"By any measure," said Harris, "the study shows that the Job Corps has had a positive impact on these youths."

Harris did not offer his own judgment as to whether Nixon's closing order should stand.

"The question you have to answer," he told the congressmen, "is what it is worth to produce this kind of impact? What we have shown is that, indeed, there is an impact."

Nixon has ordered the elimination of the 59 centers as an economy move. He said the Job Corps as now constituted and operated by OEO is too expensive and the results do not justify the cost. He has proposed establishing 30 day training centers to substitute for the rural live-in conservation camps.

However, Rep. Carl D. Perkins, the Kentucky Democrat who heads the Education and Labor Committee said "If all the members of Congress could get the benefit of this report we could rest our case on it."

Perkins, who is leading the fight to head off the closings, added that "I hope the administration will take a long look at this most enlightening survey."

Harris also said an important finding was the rate of achievement of black youths, who make up a majority of the Job Corps.

The study, he said, "gives the lie to the notion that black people can't make it in our society. This shows that, given the same opportunity as whites, they can achieve a similar increase in wages."

Harris said the study also refutes the notion that any increase in a teen-ager's earnings results from his simply growing older. Job Corps graduates under 18 experienced a 40-cent hourly increase in their wages while dropouts of the same age advanced only 9 cents an hour.

A major weakness of the program as demonstrated by the study, he swid, is that the impact of the Job Corps fades after about six months and by the end of a year there is little difference between those who completed the course and those who dropped out.

Harris attributed the drop-off to the fact most ex-corpsmen went back into the same "world of disadvantage, discrimination and don't care" from which thy had started. He said a follow-up program of guidance and counseling was needed to help the ex-corpsmen keep advancing.

"The Job Corps is a beginning, not an end," he said. "What we see here is a small ray of light after six months that begins to be smothered after 12 months."

Harris started the study last January and based his findings on interviews with 11,000 ex-corpsmen, their families and employers. He said the review was finished just a few days ago.

Gas Station Worker Killed During Holdup

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — An attendant at a Standard Oil Co. (SOHIO) service station was shot and killed early today during an apparent holdup attempt, the Clinton County Sheriff's Department reported.

The victim, Thomas Bamber, 36, Rt. 3, Wilmington, was found by a group of men who had pulled into the station along Interstate 71 near here.

Bamber had been shot in the back of the head, deputies said.

Although the station's safe had not been touched and Bamber's coin changer was intact, deputies speculated the motive was robbery.

Group Maps Playground, Park Work

Anthony Torrchio of the Weirton Community Center and George Grodhaus of the West Virginia Department of Commerce reviewed federal grants and other funds available for improving the park and playgrounds.

The group was told that a professional park planner will be sent to Chester to assist with the plans.

A delegation is to meet with Dr. Vernon Wyland, Hancock County superintendent, concerning the playgrounds on school property.

Another meeting will be scheduled in about two weeks, officials said.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Save On Kitchen Time

DEAR HELOISE: When I wash my dishes and let them drain in the dish drainer, I only put back in the cabinet those I will NOT use for the next meal.

Heloise

Why should any mother who has so much to do, remove, stack and put away five heavy plates and five glasses only to have to use her energy just taking them out again for the next meal?

Wasn't it YOU who said years ago, "When you can ride, don't walk. When you can walk, don't run. When you can sit, don't stand?" I have forgotten the rest of it. Do you remember what it was?

You didn't miss a word, hon. Surprised you remembered it all these years.

The last part was, "If you can lie down, don't sit, and if you get the chance to close your eyes, why leave them open!"

And I believe every word of it. Guess I was just dog-gonned tired that day I wrote that!

We all love your hint. Keep in mind, too, that you can take your dish drainer right to the table while you set it! That will save a few more steps.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: So what if the friends you have can be counted on one hand? Thank God you have that many.

NO NAME.

DEAR HELOISE: A plastic clothespin is ideal for holding a clipless pencil to the top or bottom of your notebook.

OLD STUDENT.

DEAR HELOISE: We have been using a TV cart for a few pots of lowers. (The cart is the kind with a tray at the top and one lower underneath.)

But recently we had a calamity! The plastic clamps on one end of the top tray broke, and down went flowers and all, breaking the clamps on the bottom tray.

We thought the cart could no longer be used, then we realized the frame was just like the frame of our laundry hamper.

So using the hamper bag as a pattern, we are making a colorful denim bag for the cart frame and plan to use it for our smaller gardening tools, with pockets on the outside for seed packets, etc.

We will use strips of denim to hold the lower crossbars in place so it won't collapse.

When not in use, it can be folded and stored in a very small place.

CORINNE TILGHMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of greasing the griddle or skillet for each batch of pancakes, take two tablespoons of salt and tie it in a piece of heavy white cloth. Be sure the cloth is heavy enough so it won't tear easily.

Spread a little shortening on the hot surface of the griddle with the salt ball. Rub well.

After this use no more shortening — just rub the surface with the ball for each batch made.

MRS. R. M. P.

DEAR HELOISE: So many of us have those beautiful plastic grapes ad decorations in our home. I used to find it so hard to get them dry after washing.

Now I just drop them into the hood of my hair dryer, turn it upside down on a towel, and they will be nice and dry in only a matter of minutes. Be sure to turn the dryer on LOW HEAT.

DEAR HELOISE: After cutting my son's hair, I clean him up the quick and easy way by using the soft furniture dusting attachment to my vacuum cleaner.

It works beautifully.

MRS. G. M. SCHAFER.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon says about 60 bids have been received for the family's Fifth Avenue apartment in New York.

The flat, a 12-room cooperative, went on the market soon after the Nixons moved to the White House.

Nixon recently valued it at $166,860, but real estate men say it probably will bring a high bid of $200,000 or more.

REGULAR CHECKUPS

Q. We are all urged to have regular physical checkups. How successful are such examinations in discovering what, if anything, is wrong?

A. They are successful enough to be very much worthwhile. A study conducted at a large university showed that regular physical exams succeeded in detecting 50 per cent of patients suffering from the early stages of potentially fatal disease. Doctors who conducted the investigation found this to be true by analyzing the causes of death of 350 executives who had submitted themselves to regular medical checkups.

"DEVIL'S PINCHES"

Q. I bruise very easily. Could this be due to a vitamin deficiency?

A. If there is no blood disorder to account for the bruising tendency (and this can be determined only by your doctor), the condition, sometimes called "Devil's Pinches," may be considered harmless. Most doctors question the effectiveness of vitamins in improving this tendency.

STUNNING STONEMAN. Bill Stoneman of the Montreal Expos soaks his elbow in ice after firing a no-hitter against the Phils in Philadelphia last night. It was the first major-league complete game for the former Cub. (UPI Telephoto)

Expos' Stoneman Fires No-Hitter At Philadelphia

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was a pretty good reason why Bill Stoneman wasn't nervous. The situation was completely unfamiliar.

"I never even came close to a no-hitter before," said the Montreal Expos' chunky little hurler after baffling Philadelphia with a 7-0 masterpiece Thursday night.

The main reason for this is simple: Stoneman was consigned to an apparent life of oblivion in the bullpen until rescued by the Expos in the expansion draft.

Thursday's brilliant effort was his first complete game in the majors, and only the second in his entire pro career.

That, explained the 25-year-old right-hander, was probably why he didn't "think there was any pressure. The nerves weren't there. I wasn't as nervous as I should have been. I had good stuff and was getting the ball where I wanted it."

Before the Expos drafted him from the Chicago Cubs, Stoneman generally was a reliever beause, "I'm so short (5-foot-10) that my managers and coaches always said, 'You're a reliever.' I was successful at it so I stayed there."

But Gene Mauch, Montreal manager, said he was impressed with Stoneman's appearances against Philadelphia, struck out eight for the nine-years until he was fired last summer, and decided to give him a shot at being a starter.

He lost his first two tries this season, but was untouchable against the Phils Thursday night.

Stoneman, who said he threw a fastball and curves with a few change-ups, walked five and struck out eigh t for the nine-game old Expos, marking the first time an expansion team hurler has pitched a no-hitter in the team's debut year.

The closest Philadelphia came to a hit came in the first when Deron Johnson smashed a liner down third that was foul only by inches, when center fielder Don Bosch made a shoestring catch on Don Money in the second, and when Rusty Staub made a long running catch of a line drive to right field by Tony Taylor in the third.

This has been a bad spring for local baseball coaches.

Jim Potts, East Liverpool coach, underwent surgery earlier this week for a kidney ailment. Joe Mowad is handling the team in Pott's absence. Nevitt Stockdale of Beaver Local is scheduled to have his gall bladder removed after school is over this spring.

BEAVER LOCAL backers are downcast about the pulled muscle suffered by sprinter Jim Bowersock Tuesday at East Palestine. The injury is expected to sideline Bowersock at least two weeks and hurts the Beavers' fine 880 relay team.

MATHIAS MOTTICE has been named head football coach at Springfield Jefferson County. Mottice is a graduate of Canton Lincoln and Kent State, but is presently coaching in South Dakota. His teams racked up a 34-game winning streak and won three state titles there.

ROBERT (Bo) DUTTON, basketball coach at Barberton, has resigned. Dutton will remain in the school system in a non-coaching capacity. Three starters from this year's fine team, including 6-8 Jerry Uhryk, return for next year.

RON JONES of Youngstown, a former basketball player at Southern Local, is planning to run in the famed 26-mile Boston Marathon Monday.

ALLEN HORNYAK of Bellaire St. John's has been honored as the Sport Magazine "Teenage Athlete of the Month" in the current issue. A story of Hornyak, by Doug Huff of the Wheeling Intelligencer, appears on page 4.

THERE ARE five Ohio U. products now playing big league baseball. They are pitcher Tom Murphy of Califorina, catcher Jim French of Washington, outfielder Jos Nossek of Oakland, pitcher Daver Wickersham of Kansas City and infielder Terry Harmon of Philadelphia. In the 20 years Bob Wren has coached at OU 40 Bobcat players have signed pro contracts. Wren has coached 11 All-Americans.

MARK TOMPSON of Mt. Pleasant, the Class A basketball player of the year in Eastern Ohio, has signed a grant-in-aid with Florida U.

Rick Metz was medalist with a 37. Bob Eardley added a 41, Dave Bentz a 46 and George Sturgeon a 49 for the Beavers. Jim Lundy led the losers with a 41, Jim Ferris and Bob George had 49s and Jeff Morris a 51 for the Bulldogs.

The Beavers are now 3-2 on the season.

Game Shortened

By JOHN MUELLER

The winless Midland Leopards went down to a stunning 24-0 defeat in a shortened four inning game at the hands of the Hopewell Vikings at the Midland diamond yesterday.

The Leopards were listless and their loose play permitted the Vikings to tally their first five runs on just two hits.

Hopewell tallied three runs in the first frame on a hit batsman, a double by Glenn Gratta, a fielders choice, a passed ball and an error.

Heads-up ball by the Vikings was just as much a part of their two run rally in the second inning as the Leopards' loose play. Denny Radich walked, Bob Cafrelli doubled and both runners were on the move and scored as Rich Kohar laid down a perfect sacrifice.

The Viking hitters took over in the third inning and the ground crumbled beneath the Leopards as Hopewell rattled nine hits to all parts of the field and scored 12 times. They were helped by two walks, six errors, four passed balls, a wild pitch and a fielder's choice.

Hopewell tallied seven times in the fourth frame on just two hits and about the same type of Leopard play that handed the visitors their previous 17 runs.

Midland never threatened, except to avert a shutout in the fourth inning. Bob Prodonovich opened the inning with his second single of the game and Greg Braund doubled down the left field foul line, sending Prodonovich to third. Both runners died on the sacks as the next three batters went down in order.

Cafrelli started on the mound for Hopewell and went the first three innings, limiting the Leopards to just one hit. Casp pitched the final frame and was touched for two hits.

Dave Matteo was on the hill for Midland and went two innings. He faced six men in the third without retiring a batter. Matteo gave up 13 runs and six hits. Mark Braund pitched the final two innings, giving up seven hits and 11 runs.

Hopewell used 20 players and 17 scored. Cafrelli led the parade, crossing the platter four times. He was also the leading man with the stick, banging out four hits in four trips, a double and three singles.

Orioles Sweep Red Sox In Friendly Fenway Park

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ah, Friendly Fenway. If only the Baltimore Orioles could spend the whole season playing in Boston's cozy ballpark.

But a whole season in Fenway isn't Boog Powell's idea of paradise. "Heck no," says slugger Powell, "then we wouldn't be able to look forward to coming back."

Powell and the rest of the Orioles can't wait for the next trip to Fenway after winning three straight from the Red Sox climaxed by a 9-5 victory Thursday.

Baltimore scored 30 runs and had 48 hits in the three games and gave the Red Sox' outfielders quite a workout.

The Orioles had 17 safeties Thursday including home runs by the Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks. Rookie Billy Conigliaro had his third homer in two days for the Red Sox and Boston's Rico Petrocelli also connected.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit outlasted Cleveland 7-6 and New York split a doubleheader with Washington, taking the 10-inning opener 7-3 on Joe Pepitone's grand slam home run and dropping the nighthap 5-2. The other teams were not scheduled.

Dave Johnson led the Orioles' attack against Boston with his second straight four-hit day. Johnson had two doubles and two singles.

The Red Sox knew they were in trouble right away when the Orioles loaded the bases on starter Lee Stange's first three pitches, Don Buford opened with a first-pitch double, Paul Blair singled on the next one and then Frank Robinson was hit by the third.

Two runs scored when Ken Harrelson threw wild on Powell's grounder and then Baltimore tacked on three more in the second when Frank Robinson tagged his fifth homer of the year and 423rd of his career.

Mel Stottlemyre won his third straight and Stan Bahnsen lost his third straight for the Yankees, who split with the Senators.

Washington tied the opener in the ninth inning on a two-run homer by Mike Epstein. But the Yankees loaded the bases with two out in the bottom of the 10th and then Pepitone tagged his grand slam.

Pinch hitter Gary Holman's double broke an eighth inning tie and pushed the Senators to their second game victory and the split. Bobby Murcer homered in each game for New York, running his season's total to five.

Detroit scored three runs in the ninth inning and then held off a Cleveland rally to beat the Indians.

Hits by Gates Brown and Norm Cash combined with an error by pitcher Vicente Romo and Al Kaline's sacrifice fly gave the Tigers their three runs in the ninth. Then Tony Horton's two-run homer pulled Cleveland within one but the Indians fell short.

Mickey Lolich got credit for the victory, his second of the season over Cleveland but the Tigers needed three relievers to retire the side in the ninth.

Curtis Cokes Slight Pick In Title Fight

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Curtis Cokes regained the role of favorite—at least until fight time— in defense of his title tonight against Jose Napoles of Mexico.

The 31-year-old veteran from Dallas opened as a 10-6 betting choice two weeks ago. Several days ago the odds dipped to even money and take your pick.

Latest on the score today was Cokes 10-8, with the possibility the champion and 29-year-old challenger would enter the ring at the Forum in neighboring Inglewood again on even terms.

Lakers Whip Hawks, Take 3-1 Series Lead

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — The New York Knicks' battle with the Boston Celtics will be followed closely tonight by the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Atlanta Hawks aren't very interested.

The Lakers virtually nailed down the National Basketball Association's Western Division crown Thursday night by whipping the Hawks 100-85.

The victory enabled the Lakers to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-7 series and they can wrap it up by winning the fifth game in Los Angeles Sunday.

So the Lakers naturally want to know what team they probably will face in the playoffs for the NBA championship.

Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff refused to claim the division title but he did admit the triumph in Atlanta was "a very big one for us.

"I don't think we're over the hump yet. You never think that," he said, "until the last game is won.

"But it was a big victory for us, coming on the road. Anytime you win on the road it's great. Now we've got to work to win one at home."

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin said, "We're in a difficult spot, trailing 3-1 and going to Los Angeles.

The Celtics also are counting on the home-court edge tonight when they try to clinch the Eastern Division title by beating the Knicks.

The Celtics lead in the series 3-2, although the Knicks won their last battle in New York.

Van Breda Kolff points out, however, that neither the Western or the Eastern crowns have been decided yet.

"Nobody is going to claim the title until its won," he said.

However, the Lakers' coach was elated about beating Atlanta after an erratic start.

"Both teams played like college teams in their first tournament he said. "I don't know how many times we lost the ball without getting a shot, and so did Atlanta."

The low-scoring battle finally was broken open in the last seven minutes, when the Lakers scored 38 points.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West led the outburst, including a surge in which the Lakers scored 12 straight points and turned a 73-70 deficit into an 82-73 lead.

"Wilt blocked a few shots, West made a few steals, and we finally got rolling," Van Breda Kolff said.

Chamberlain wound up with 25 points and 19 rebounds and West scored 22 points.

Lou Hudson scored 22 for the Hawks, and Zelmo Beaty got 18. But Joe Caldwell was held scoreless, Walt Hazzard scored only five and Bill Bridges was limited to seven.

Cheevers Blanks Champs; Plante Shuts Out Kings

By The Associated Press

Jacques Plante's Stanley Cup goaltending magic has begun to rub off on Boston's Gerry Cheevers—while Plante concentrates on setting up scoring plays for the soaring St. Louis Blues.

Cheevers brushed aside 34 Montreal shots Thursday night and Phil Esposito triggered the Bruins' attack with two goals and three assists in a 5-0 shutout victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The victory vaulted the Bruins back into contention in their National Hockey League East Division final playoff series after a pair of sudden-death setbacks at Montreal.

Plante, who tied Turk Broda's playoff record of 13 shutouts by blanking Los Angeles 4-0 Tuesday night in the opener of the West Division finals, became the second goalie ever to record an assist in Cup play as the Blues edged the Kings 3-2.

The Bruins, down 2-1 in their best-of-7 set, entertain Montreal again Sunday afternoon. St. Louis takes its 2-0 advantage over the Kings to Los Angeles for Saturday night's third game.

"That was really Stanley Cup goalbending," Boston Coach Harry Sinden exclaimed after Cheevers' acrobatics helped end the Canadiens' skein of successive playoff victories at 11. "He had a great glove tonight. He really hit it moving."

Montreal captured the Cup last year by sweeping its last five games—four of them against St. Louis in the finals. The Canadiens also ousted New York in four straight to move into this year's showdown with Boston.

Esposito, who didn't pick up a point in the two playoff games at Montreal after setting an all-time regular season record of 126, broke loose on home ice. The rangy center scored a first-period goal, set up Ed Westfall's marker in the middle period and hit for a power play goal early in the finale before assisting on wrap-up tallies by Ron Murphy and Ken Hodge.

Gary Sabourin's second goal of the game, with less than six minutes to play, snapped a 2-2 tie at St. Louis. Plante earned an assist on Sabourin's second period tally with a long pass from the crease to Larry Keenan, who relayed to Sabourin in front of the Los Angeles cage.

Toronto's Johnny Bower, who picked up an assist in the 1963 playoffs, was the only other goaltender to make the postseason scoresheet.

Red Berenson, who had the hat trick in the Blues' Tuesday victory, scored again in the first period and assisted on the winning goal. Defenseman Dave Amadio and Bryan Campbell connected for the Kings.

JU Explodes, Tops Indians On Late Rally

Jefferson Union, held hitless until the fifth by Southern Local's Len Dailey, exploded for six runs and went on to down the Indians 9-5 at JU last night.

An error opened the gates and the Yellowjackets took advantage of the situation. In the sixth Larkin tripled with the bases loaded to complete the JU scoring.

Southern broke loose for five runs in the seventh and had the tying run at the plate before the rally ended. George Thompson, Terry Kellison and Roger Jones had RBI singles in the rally, Jones driving in two. Jones had another hit previously.

The loss was the second in as many starts for Southern, while JU is 3-2.

Pacers, Bucs Clinch ABA Playoffs 4-3

By The Associated Press

The formulas were different but the results were the same Thursday night as the Indiana Pacers and New Orleans Buccaneers won their way into the division finals of the American Basketball Association playoffs.

The Pacers, regular season pennant-winners, came from behind in the third period and beat Kentucky 120-111 to take their Eastern semifinal series four games to three. New Orleans won the finale of its Western seven-game set by snuffing out a late Dallas rally and downing the Chaparrals 101-95.

Lotz Leads Champions Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Young Dick Lotz, who tamed tough La Costa with a fantastic start, held a two-stroke lead going into today's second round of golf's Tournament of Champions, but there was an ominous group of five charging at his heels.

Lotz, a dark-haired 26-year-old native Californian, tore five strokes off par in his first four holes Thursday, coasted in and announced that it was nice to be back to his own territory.

"It's always nice to get back around your home area. You're more adapted to the conditions and you play with more confidence. I know the course here. I can't complain about anything."

His opening 67, five under par for the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club layout, helped. But there were plenty of other moans from the select 28-man field—about the deep, damaging rough.

"It's like an alfalfa field," said Dave Stockton, one of a group of five challenging at 69.

"A 69 here is like a 65 any place else in the world," said globetrotting Gary Player, the British Open champion and another member of the quintet two shots back. "A 67 is a fantastic, phenomenal round."

Kinsey Putt Gives Potters Win At Salem

Bob Kinsey sunk a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole to give East Liverpool a 5½-2½ golf win over Salem at Salem Golf Club yesterday.

The Potters led 4-2 when Kinsey made the putt, but if he had missed it, he would have lost his match and the team score would have ended 4-4. The match was played under match play rather than stroke play. Kinsey ended with a 41 and took 1½ points from Mark Mehno, who also had a 41.

Jack Detwiler of Salem was medalist with a 40 and took two points from Andy Petrick, who shot a 41. Bill McHenry was the third Potter to shoot 41 and it was good for two points over Bill Odurizzi, who shot a 53. Ralph Heffner took two points with a 42 to a 43 by Jack Youtz.

The Potters are now 6-1and Salem is 3-2.

W. Branch Tops Beavers By 11-6 Score

West Branch broke a 6-6 tie in the sixth inning and rolled to an 11-6 win over Beaver Local on the Beavers' diamond yesterday.

The loss was the second for Beaver Local against four wins and a tie. Scott Dubberly led off the game with a homer and the Beavers led until the fifth, when the fielding fell apart and West Branch scored four times to go ahead 6-4. The losers tied the game in the bottom half, but couldn't score thereafter. Rick Sheppard had two hits and two RBIs.

"They laughed when I sat down to type 85 words a minute."

"Me? A speed typist? Forget it. But with the Royal Jetstar, I changed. A touch of my little finger on the return key flies the carriage back to the margin for the next line. A touch repeats four characters (.) (x) (-) (_). And a touch repeats forward spacing. But there's more: fully-electric tabulator, Magic® Margin controls, ribbon color light, on-off light. The fully-electric Jetstar makes fast work of my typing—and that's no laugh."

Junior Editors Quiz on NEW WORLD NAMES

ANSWER: The colonists who braved the American wilderness came from highly developed civilizations in the Old World. Think of the English who settled in the areas at lower left above. They built houses like English houses and wanted English-type furniture, clothes, utensils. These made them feel at home. As this area began to look like a bit of England, people began to call it New England. Manhattan, on the other hand, was settled by the Dutch, who called it New Amsterdam after the big Dutch city. Everyone realized this would be an important place, so when the English took it over in 1664, they renamed it after a prominent Englishman, the Duke of York. New Jersey was named after the Old World island of Jersey, where Sir George Carteret, co-owner of the new American colony, had been born. No doubt Sir George found a resemblance between the farm land of his birthplace and that of his American colony. Like the English, the French named an important colonial city after an important French personage, the Duke of Orleans.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 18, the 108th day of 1969. There are 257 days left in the year.

On this date in 1906, San Francisco was struck by a violent earthquake.

In 1663, 300 English colonists in Virginia were killed in an Indian massacre.

In 1775, Paul Revere made his famous midnight ride from Charlestown to Lexington to warn: "The British are coming."

In 1942, carrier bombers led by Lt. Col. James H. Doolittle bombed Tokyo and other cities in the first American effort to bring the Pacific war to the Japanese homeland.

In 1961, thousands of Russians demonstrated before the U.S. Embassy in Moscow to protest the Bay of Pigs invasion in Cuba.

Ten years ago — Leaders in Communist China claimed the country had increased its industrial and farm output by 65 per cent in one year.

Drive On In Several States

By The Associated Press

A drive to lower the voting age from 21 is gaining momentum in several of the 40 states where it is a live issue but campus violence is causing a backlash that could halt it.

Legislation on the subject is pending in 38 states and constitutional amendments are before the voters in two others to be decided by referendum in 1970, an Associated Press survey showed.

"National leaders have come out in recent months in favor of lowering the voting age," says state Rep. Jim Beatty of North Carolina. "The public is more conscious of the issue and there is increasing sentiment for it."

But legislators in some states say student violence and disorders reflect an irresponsibility and immaturity that will work against passage of such legislation.

And the crop of beards and long hair among the nation's youth also is having an effect on the debate.

"If we're going to give these youngsters voting privileges, they should look like citizens," said Wyoming state Sen. J.W. Myers.

Four states have a voting age lower than 21: Georgia and Kentucky, both 18, Hawaii, 20, and Alaska, 19.

The political implications of any widespread change are obvious. There are roughly 11 million Americans between the ages of 18 and 21. There were 72 million voters in the last presidential election. In some states, the number of potential new voters is substantial. In New York, a change to 18 would mean approximately 800,000 more eligible voters. In California, the figure is close to a million.

On Thursday the Minnesota House Elections Committee approved a proposed constitutional amendment lowering the state's voting age from 21 to 19. A proposal to lower it to 18 is pending in the a Senate committee.

The state's governor, Harold LeVander, a Republican, who has said he will sign either bill, told the legislature: "It is time to quit preaching at the young to become interested while blocking them from becoming involved. Let us let them in."

A resolution to lower the voting age to 19 was passed recently by the Ohio Senate, 30-3, and has a good chance to clear the house. The resolution is supported by Gov. James A. Rhodes and both political parties.

Beatty says there is an even chance his measure to drop the voting age to 18 will clear the North Carolina General Assembly this year. A similar bill failed in 1967.

In Colorado, Gov. John A. Love, a Republican, teamed up with his lieutenant governor, Mark A. Hogan, a Democrat, to serve as honorary co-chairmen of an organization to push for a lower voting age.

The New Jersey Senate this week unanimously approved a November referendum on lowering the age to 18. Vote on the measure, which now goes to the Assembly, was 30-0.

In Pennsylvania, the Senate has approved a constitutional amendment that would lower the age to 18. The House set the age at 19. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, a Republican, supports the House proposal. And this is expected to prevail. The referendum cannot get on the ballot until 1971.

In Montana state Sen. Joseph B. Reber opposes a constitutional amendment to lower the age to 19. If persons 19 and 20 are allowed to vote, "they should get a shave and a haircut and be like the rest of us," he says.

Wyoming is the other state where a proposed constitutional amendment is before the voters. Myers wanted to add a clause to the amendment requiring that those who vote must wear their hair "at a length and grooming to meet sandards prescribed by the military service." But, the legislature turned him down.

In Indiana a bill to lower the voting age is bottled up in committee because, according to the committee chairman, Sen. Marlin K. McDaniel, legislators are furious over campus violence.

Supporters of lower voting age bills contend that giving college-age youths the right to vote will lessen student turmoil.

"Giving them to right to vote is one of the most singularly important things we can do," says George R. Moscone, a young California Senate Democrat from San Francisco. "It would be clear admission on our part, on the part of the Establishment, that we realize times have changed."

Moscone's bill — submitted for the third straight year—to lower the voting age ran into trouble from some lawmakers angry over student disorders at San Francisco State College and the University of California at Berkeley. The state Senate rejected his bill on April 9.

Sen. Martin J. Schreiber of Milwaukee, sponsor of one of three lower voting age bills in the Wisconsin Legislature, argues: "If we continue to deny the right of young people to vote, it's possible they'll be even more inclined to join militant minority groups."

But the legislature, which recently saw National Guard troops put down students at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, the state capital, is not expected to act favorably on any of the bills.

A special constitutional revision session of the Virginia General Assembly, which is currently in session, killed a proposal that would have allowed voters to decide whether to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

Voters in four states—Maryland, North Dakota, Nebraska and Tennessee—voted down proposals last year to lower the age.

In New York, voters rejected a new state constitution containing a lowered age in 1967 but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will seek a constitutional amendment to put the age at 18. In 1966, Michigan rejected an amendment that would have dropped the age to 18.

In Florida last year, a plan to lower the voting age was omitted from a proposed new state constitution after long debate. The constitution was approved.

In Hawaii and Alaska, bills are pending to lower the age to 18 from 19 and 20 respectively.

In Delaware, state Sen. Margaret Manning tried unsuccessfully the past eight years to win approval for a proposed constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18. She said she thinks it can win this year.

Troops Alert After Czech Party Change

PRAGUE (AP) — Police reinforcements and soldiers guarded strategic points in Czechoslovakia today, but there were no reports of disturbances protesting the replacement of Alexander Dubcek as Communist party chief.

The 90-member Central Committee at a crisis meeting Thursday named Gustav Husak, the dour pro-Moscow head of the Slovak party, to replace Dubcek.

Truckloads of police reinforcements and army armored cars were outside university buildings at the national assembly, near student dormitories and at factories.

No plans for demonstrations were reported so far. Moscow was reported to have warned that Soviet occupation troops would step in if local forces could not keep order.

CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said the Central Committee had finished its plenary session and further details of the leadership reshuffle would be announced later.

Prague airport reopened to normal traffic today after closing to commercial planes Thursday night. Airport employes said Russian officers had appeared at the control tower.

Students and young workers were reported planning meetings to determine how they would react to the leadership change. Although Dubcek, 47, lost much of his wildly enthusiastic following as he was forced to make concession after concession in the wake of the Soviet invasion last August, Husak is generally disliked and mistrusted by freedom-minded trade unionists and students.

GUSTAV HUSAK
Given Czech Post.

After the announcement of his appointment, Husak spoke on the radio and television and called on the people "to keep calm and support the new leadership."

"We are not giving up any of the great ideas which entered our public life last year," he said, "but it is necessary to see what, where and in what order they can be put into practice."

The first main task is "to lead our society out of this state of crisis," he continued. "To make some progress it is indispensable at this time to introduce more discipline both in party and social life . . . . Some people

Not Threat, He Declares, Just 'Fact'

Says Flights Had Been Stopped After Plane Was Downed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today continuance of reconnaissance plane flights near North Korea and declared "they will be protected."

Nixon reported the flights had been discontinued after the shooting down of one of the unarmed planes Tuesday by North Korean jets.

Then he said: "I have today ordered that these flights be continued. They will be protected. That is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact."

Prior to his 11:30 a.m. EST news conference today, the President ordered a protest issued against the "calculated act of aggression" by North Korea in shooting down the unarmed EC121 reconnaissance plane over the Sea of Japan last Tuesday.

The protest, delivered at a 46-minute meeting at the Panmunjom truce site earlier today, was the first official U.S. reaction since the plane was downed and the 31 crewmen apparently lost.

The relatively mild-worded statement, which called on North Korea "to prevent similar incidents in the future," had left unanswered questions about what if any retaliation the United States might make and how future reconnaissance flights would be protected.

Until today's news conference, broadcast live by radio and television, Nixon himself

Life In Prison Or Death

Jury Will Decide Sirhan's Penalty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan is guilty of first-degree murder for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Now, the same jury that convicted him must decide whether he lives or dies.

The penalty phase of Sirhan's trial begins Monday and is expected to last no more than a day or two. The jury will choose one of two sentences: life in prison or death in the gas chamber. A life sentence precludes parole for at least seven years.

Unknown until he murdered the 42-year-old presidential candidate last June, Sirhan tried—even after the first-degree verdict Thursday—to put testimony about the Arab-Israeli conflict into the court record.

Sirhan, passionately partisan to the Arab cause, said his love for Kennedy turned to hate when he decided the New York senator was pro-Israel.

Defense counsel Grant B. Cooper asked to bring witnesses representing Arab countries to the penalty phase "to show the surrounding circumstances" of Sirhan's youth in war-torn Palestine "so the jury can understand the situation and understand his frame of mind more fully."

The defense is allowed to bring out background and other mitigating circumstances during the penalty phase.

But the state argued that such witnesses as Cooper mentioned —none knows Sirhan—would have no more relevance to the trial than experts on World War II or the Korean conflict. Judge Herbert V. Walker denied Cooper's motion.

Cooper, who said "it is not my view" that the testimony should be heard, asked his 25-year-old client if he had expressed his wishes.

"Beautiful," said Sirhan.

It was his only audible comment in the courtroom after the verdict.

Search Fails To Find Any Of Plane Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon reported today search efforts off the North Korean coast have failed to locate any survivors of the EC121 reconnaissance plane shot down Tuesday by North Korean jets.

The bodies of two members of the 31-man crew were reported to have been found Wednesday. Fate of the rest of the crew remained in doubt, but the Pentagon expressed little hope Thursday of survival.

The USS Tucker, a Navy destroyer, received from the Soviet destroyer Vdokynovenny the debris from the missing plane the Soviet ship had found earlier this week and was taking it to Sasebo, Japan, the Pentagon statement said today.

Included were a 20-man rubber lifeboat, three leather jackets, a parachute, two exposure suits and some aircraft seats.

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong killed at least 51 South Vietnamese and wounded 93 Thursday in two battles a few hours and 12 miles apart in the Mekong Delta, reports from the area said today.

In the first battle, Viet Cong troops before dawn attacked an infantry post manned by about 100 militiamen and a team of civilian pacification workers, 12 miles northwest of Bac Lieu and 125 miles south of Saigon.

Field reports said the Viet Cong overran the post, killing 19 militiamen and six pacification workers and wounding 19. In addition, seven militiamen and three pacification workers were missing, and AP photographer Henri Huet reported from Bac Lieu that there was no word of the families of the soldiers, who customarily live in or near such posts.

Reinforcements from the South Vietnamese 21st Division reached the post about dawn but the Viet Cong had pulled out, leaving the bodies of 11 of their men, South Vietnamese officials said.

About 12 miles to the northwest, another militia company ran into Viet Cong troops during the afternoon while searching for 75mm howitzers that had shelled the nearby town of Vi Thanh. Helicopters rushed in two battalions from the South Vietnamese 21st Division, and the battle raged until about 3 a.m. today.

A sweep of the area after dawn produced 21 enemy bodies, but 26 government troops were killed and 71 were wounded.

The nightly Viet Cong shelling of bases and towns continued, and U.S. B52 bombers rained down more than 1,250 tons of bombs on Viet Cong jungle base camps northwest of Saigon during the night. The U.S. Command said it was the second heaviest bombardment since the enemy's spring offensive began Feb. 23.

Roaring over in wings of six, 42 of the big bombers blasted the jungle in a north-to-south arc just east of the big Michelin rubber plantation about 35 miles from Saigon. A communique said the bombers hit "enemy activity, base camps, bunker complexes, staging areas and weapons positions."

Among more than 15 targets shelled by enemy gunners were two allied airfields and the big U.S. base at Long Binh, 12 miles north of Saigon. Casualties and damage were reported light in all the attacks, but more than 10 Americans were wounded in an attack on the Vinh Long airfield, 65 miles southwest of Saigon. The other airfield hit was at Soc Trang, 95 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Command also reported that ground fire brought down an American OH6 observation helicopter, but this touched off a fight in which troops of the U.S. Americal Division killed 21 North Vietnamese.

The helicopter went down about 100 miles south of Da Nang. Later, cruising helicopter gunship crews spotted nine enemy soldiers near the wreckage and killed seven. Eight more were killed by 11th Infantry Brigade troops supported by fighter-bombers, and another six died in a fire fight near the wreckage of the helicopter.

U.S. casualties were four killed and four wounded, including one killed and two wounded aboard the helicopter. It was the 2,527th helicopter lost in the war.

A total of 73 enemy were reported killed in a series of other actions near Da Nang and 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied losses were one American killed and six wounded, and five South Vietnamese troops killed and 14 wounded.

FBI Probes Case

Trio Jailed In Auto Theft After Wild Police Pursuit

Two Pennsylvania men and a Wellsville resident are in City Jail awaiting action by the Federal Bureau of Investigation into charges that they participated in the theft of a car from Carnegie, Pa., early today. They were apprehended by city police after a high speed chase that ended with the stolen auto being wrecked.

Irwin W. Wooley of 411 W. Main St., Carnegie, the driver of the auto, was arraigned on six traffic charges in Municipal Court this morning and fined a total of $190 by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Wooley, along with Harry T. Wooley of the SOI Hotel in Wellsville, and James Stewart of 1217 2nd Ave., Coraopolis, are being held as suspicious persons in connection with the theft of a 1959 white sedan from a parking lot at Carnegie between 12:30 and 1:30 this morning.

The car belonged to Joseph P. Randazzo of 587 Lindsay Rd., Carnegie. It is allegedly the same vehicle in which the three were apprehended today.

Patrolman David Huffman and Lt. R. B. Pyle said they were in a police cruiser about 1:43 this morning when they first spotted the sedan westbound on W. 8th St. headed toward Wellsville. They said the driver ran a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and proceeded out of the city. They pursued the car, but were unable to stop it.

A short time later, Patrolman Huffman said the officers saw the white car eastbound into Things look promising for May flowers.

The forecast calls for considerable cloudiness and cooler with showers tonight and Saturday.

Tomorrow's high will be in the 60s.

East Liverpool and the district got a real taste of summer yesterday, with the temperature in the 80s.

He's No 'Dope'

The weeds were growing everywhere, and when officers arrived they found Carter and a custodian on their hands and knees pulling them up.

The weeds were wild marijuana.

City Presses For Share Of State Money

Mayor George Willshaw said today he believes the "ball is rolling" for three street and highway projects in East Liverpool with the help of state and federal funds.

Willshaw, Safety - Service Director Robert Vodrey and City Engineer George Bloomgren, were in Columbus Wednesday and Thursday meeting with State Sen. Douglas Applegate of the 30th District and Columbiana County's Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel to study the possibility of state aid on three road projects.

The proposals involve Maine Blvd., Shadyside Ave. — a joint venture with Columbiana County Commissioners — and the Freeway Extension through the East End which expected total $400,000.

Part of a state bond issue approved in 1968 will be administered by the Department of Highways which has set no formula for distributing the money to municipalities yet.

Willshaw said the funds will

Arraignments Set April 28 In Grand Jury Indictments

LISBON — Defendants in the 39 true bills returned Thursday afternoon by the Columbiana County Grand Jury will be arraigned April 28 before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court.

Nine of the indictments are secret.

Pre - arraignment will be held next Thursday to make certain all defendants have counsel.

"I can see you have been busy," said Judge Buzzard on reading the jurors' report that they examined 173 witnesses. The jury ignored 10 cases after study, continued six and consolidated two.

Judge Buzzard recessed the panel at 1:30 subject to recall during the April term of court, which runs until September.

The jury said it found the County Jail clean and well operated. Jurors questioned the prisoners and heard only the complaint that it is hard to hear visitors through the divider.

"We wish to underscore the need for additional men in the sheriff's department," the jury said. It also recommended that the various municipalities in the county add police detectives if at all possible.

This jury, as others before it, requested that a juvenile detention center be established away from the jail so juveniles will not have to be detained with adults.

"The Grand Jury would strongly recommend to the lower courts that sentences and fines handed down in various cases be executed as handed down and not, at a later date, suspended in part or in full," the report read.

Jurors commended the sheriff's department and other law enforcement officers for their "excellent presentation of evidence," Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Assistant Richard Clark for their help and aid in the investigations an residents of the county "who

Nine - year - old Paul McCraw, who received a kidney transplant April 3, suffered through his worse day since the operation Thursday, and doctors battled a continuing infection which is causing him pain, the family reported.

The youngster, who weighed only 36 pounds when he went into the Children's Hospital at Pittsburgh last December, is now down to 28 pounds according to his mother, Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St.

The new kidney is not fully operating in Paul's system and physicians indicate it is uncertain if the current problem is a severe infection or rejection of the transplant.

The boy yesterday underwent a periodic dialysis — cleansing of wastes from the blood by an artificial kidney machine — and was X-rayed last night.

His condition had brought about the possibility of surgery yesterday, but physicians decided to wait to attempt a different kind of anti - biotic to curb

The DOCTOR Says

Dr. Brandstadt

If you feel yourself getting sleepy at the wheel on a long drive, bite your tongue hard to keep awake or get off the road for a short nap. If you must keep going at all cost, carry some hot coffee with you or take an amphetamine pill. The latter measures are a poor substitute for sleep and should not be used habitually to keep you going beyond your normal endurance. They have the disadvantage that they may cause nervous tension and insomnia. The greatest danger occurs on toll roads where the monotony of driving a fairly straight line with no stops often leads to a dangerous type of hypnosis.

—:—

WHETHER FOR this or some other reason your car suddenly leaves the highway and plunges into a river or lake, it may save your life to have previously worked out a plan of action. In such cases it is essential not to panic. Under most circumstances your car will stay afloat for about three minutes. This will give you time to roll down the window and climb out.

—:—

IF YOU can't get out this way, open the door slowly as the car fills with water equalizing the pressure inside and outside. If you can't open the door or window kick a hole in the window or the windshield. If this causes water to rush in, don't fight the current but make your escape as soon as it subsides.

—:—

IF YOUR CAR is completely submerged escape through the window has been found to be easier and faster than trying to force open the door. Take a deep breath just before you climb out. In deep water you should exhale slowly and continuously as you rise to the surface because the air you inhaled was under pressure and will expand as you ascend.

Q—Is there any cure for bedsores ?

A—These sores are the result of continuous pressure usually on the shoulder blades, hips or heels. In persons whose circulation is impaired it is often impossible to prevent them but prevention is still the best treatment. If the victim is an invalid he must be turned from one side to the other every hour or two and the skin over the pressure points must be kept clean and dry.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

He Became The Symbol

Dubcek Wasn't Instigator In Czech Communism Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander Dubcek, a 47-year-old Slovak with a long nose and a shy smile was not the instigator of Czechoslovakia's attempt to find its own form of communism. But he became the symbol.

His ouster from the party chieftainship marks the official end of Prague's efforts to inject Western democratic ideas into a Communist society.

The movement had been more hope than deed since the Soviet Union sent tanks and troops to crush it nearly eight months ago. Dubcek's ouster means that even the hope is gone.

Dubcek rode to power on a wave of popular demand for reform, mostly economic, and replaced old-line Stalinist Antonin Novotny as party chief in January 1968.

The fall of Novotny, long a symbol of oppression, stimulated demands for political reforms and more freedoms. Dubcek and his associates heeded the call and enjoyed a popularity that was perhaps unique in the Soviet bloc.

Dubcek and the people around him tried to adapt communism to the liberal and democratic traditions of their country. This meant a free press and open criticism of the system coupled with economic reforms. In the climate created by this, the reform leadership hoped the country would prosper while keeping a Communist government.

Moscow didn't see it that way and feared that Czechoslovakia was drifting towards the West. Time and again the Kremlin leaders tried to persuade Dubcek and his associates to abandon their course and restore traditional communism.

When persuasion failed, the Russians moved in with tanks and troops.

Dubcek and other top leaders were arrested Aug. 21, the first day of the invasion, and taken to the Soviet Union.

The occupiers tried to get President Ludvik Svoboda to endorse a government and party leadership that would be loyal to Moscow. Backed by the passive resistance of his nation, he refused and flew to Moscow to negotiate with the Kremlin chiefs. Dubcek and others under arrest were released to join him. They returned to their jobs but had to agree to a Soviet occupation.

Since then, the Czechoslovak leaders had been fighting to save as much as possible of their original program, Soviet pressure forced them to cut it back; by the time Dubcek was ousted, almost nothing remained. But as long as he and other reform leaders remained in power, they kept alive the hope that the reforms might resume sometime in the future.

Meanwhile, the Soviets had been boosting the pro-Moscow faction of the Czechoslovak Communist party. Thursday's Central Committee vote was the payoff.

The pro-Moscow faction, backed by new Soviet pressure following anti-Soviet riots at the end of March, voted Dubcek out of the top job. He remains on the ruling Presidium but is likely to have little influence.

Mental Health Group Will Meet April 28

LISBON — The board of directors of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association has called a general membership meeting for 7:30 p.m. April 28 in Common Pleas Court at the Courthouse.

Dr. John W. Hayes of East Liverpool, president, said the purpose is to acquaint members with the association's activities in preparation for the annual membership drive.

He said plans are to have three speakers give brief talks on different phases of the treatment of mental disease and illnesses in the county.

Lukens Sees South Korea Putting More Men In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio congressman just returned from Southeast Asia predicts South Korea will send more combat troops to Vietnam, thus allowing a partial American troop withdrawal.

"Replacing American divisions with South Korean divisions will scare the pants off the Communists," said Rep. Donald E. Lukens, a Republican. "South Koreans are the best fighters we've got in Vietnam."

Lukens told newsmen Thursday he got his impressions in talks with American military and diplomatic officers and with South Korean and South Vietnamese leaders.

"The South Koreans will fight for us because we fought for them, but they said 'Just don't leave us; don't leave us to hang if we get in trouble.'"

The congressmen spent 19 days touring Indonesia, Vietnam, Taiwan, South Korea and the Philippines and said he returned greatly impressed with American efforts in the region but with "a heavy heart" over the Communist achievements.

"The enemy has us outthought, out-gunned and outmanned at the present," Lukens said, referring to Southeast Asia generally.

But in South Vietnam, he said, "we've been cleaning their greens—really doing a job on them—and I believe the Viet Cong is in a totally defensive posture."

Lukens complained that U.S. military forces were now being ordered to slacken the pace of the war.

"We got them to the peace table by force, and now we are going to be nice to them . . . we made a terrible judgment by not ending the war. I'm convinced our idiotic policy of granting sanctuary in Laos and Cambodia, and allowing Russia to feed guns through Haiphong will cause more American deaths."

In every nation he visited, Lukens said, he heard officials voice support for American presence in Southeast Asia.

"Indonesian leaders agreed they couldn't have overthrown Communist influence in their country without American support," he said.

"In the Philippines I talked with President Marcos and he said support for the United States is as strong as ever. He said they stand behind the American presence and purpose in Vietnam."

Ex-Area Man Designs Flag Used By Band

Mrs. Robert Szeluga a daughter and Miss Marlene Bee have returned to their homes in Hookstown following a two-week visit with Mrs. Szeluga's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Septer of Bamberg, S. C.

Septer, who resided at Hookstown for many years before going to South Carolina about a year ago, recently designed a high school flag for the Bamberg - Ehrhardt school band which is participating this year in the annual festival at St. Petersburg, Fla., as the state's representative.

A key to the city was presented Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina during the eremonies. It also was carved by Septer.

Septer was widely known in this area for his wood carving. He made many things for the Legion and Boy Scouts and also taught wood carving.

Mrs. Szeluga, her daughter, and Miss Bee also visited friends at the Marine air service base at Cherry Point, N. C.

Would Affect 900 Labor Camps

New Housing Rules Eyed For Migrants, Families

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Public Health Council will consider Saturday its controversial new standards regulating housing for up to 35,000 migrant workers and their families.

The regulations will affect 900 migrant labor camps in about 35 northwestern Ohio counties.

Tomato, sugar beet, cucumber and cabage growers say they can not afford to meet the housing standards.

The Farm Labor Organizing Committee (FLOC), which represents most of the workers, says the standards are not tough enough and lack enforcement procedures.

About 20,000 migrants are expected in Ohio during the peak harvest season of Aug. 20 to Sept. 20.

The proposals include:

— Housing units spaced 10 feet apart.

—Laundry facilities in each camp.

—At least 60 square feet per occupant.

—Showers for both sexes.

"If they don't make changes in the proposals, it will cause hardship for many of the growers," says Robert Rinelspach, a sugar beet grower from Fremont.

"Some growers will have to construct all new buildings this year to meet the requirements —and that will cost a lot of money."

"If this code were really enforced, it would do a great deal for the migrant laborers in Ohio," says Ted Iorio, a FLOC board member and senior law student at the University of Toledo. "I just think it has too many weasel words which the growers will be able to get around."

Enforcement of the standards is up to the county boards of health says George Compson, chief of the legal division of the Ohio Department of Health.

"We go along with the county health department. The same families return to us each year and they are under the county regulations," says A. T.Di ller, a tomato grower from Pandora, Putnam County.

"We don't want to go further than the county because that means more red tape and that's not good for anybody."

"The Public Health Council—which had a public hearing of the proposals in March — will consider the evidtnce and presumably adopt something," says Ray B. Watts, chief of the sanitation division of the State Health Department.

"I think it is a good guess that the proposals will be adopted."

Most growers will face immediate increased costs if the standards are adopted and enforced by the county health departments.

"To comply with the proposals would cost a new farmer between $14,000 and $15,000," says Paul Slade, manager of the tomato division of the Ohio Agricultural Marketing Association (OAMA).

"We (the Ohio Farm Bureau and the OAMA) testified in March that there should be some exceptions to the standards and that some — such as toilet, shower and laundry facilities—should be postponed until next January."

The growers also cite lower crop prices as a part of their financial probblem. New tomato contracts are $1.50-$2 a ton lower than last season and sugar beet prices will be $1.50-$1.75 a ton lower.

KSU Making A Stand

Kent State University president, Robert I. White, is convinced the survival of the institution is at stake in the current struggle with the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

By word and deed, he has shown the university will take whatever steps necessary to thwart the violent, disruptive antics of SDS members and sympathizers.

HE IS FINDING widespread support among Ohio taxpayers who have a big stake in KSU.

Mr. White and university officials have been more than tolerant with the destructive mission of SDS in an effort to let the revolutionary zeal run its course with a minimum of violence and tension at KSU.

SDS had other ideas.

A week ago KSU administrators decided enough was enough and countered SDS interference with campus operations with the suspension of seven students and revocation of the SDS charter.

A hearing for one of the suspended students was broken up by SDS supporters Wednesday night after they smashed glass doors to get inside the Music and Speech Building.

Campus authorites sealed off the building and law enforcement agencies were called in to make 61 arrests.

The incident was handled ably by lawmen who were able to make their arrests without resorting to violence.

Proper court follow-up action and further suspensions, where warranted, by the university will do much to convince revolutionaries that KSU is not going to roll over and play dead because of them.

WHEN A PRESIDENT says a university "undeniably faces a crossroad, its future could be in question," then, it is time to take action to preserve that future.

Our universities are in a change period now as is the rest of society. Preoccupation of the SDS element with violent revolt keeps it from having a meaningful part in coming changes.

We fully support KSU's action against SDS.

Looking For Help

No one doubts the financial durability of the great private universities — the Yales, the Harvards, the Stanfords — or a handful of small but prestigious liberal arts colleges. But for many of the 1,400 independent institutions in the nation, the outlook is bleak and getting bleaker.

"Without a shift in current trends," states Allan Carter, chancellor of New York University, "I would anticipate the absorption into state systems of all but a handful of the strongest private institutions."

The trouble, of course, is money. Lacking the resources of the public purse, private institutions have been forced to pass on more of the burden of rising costs to paying students. As a result, the gap is widening between tuition charged by public and private colleges.

Until about a decade ago, one could expect to pay 50 per cent more to attend a private institution instead of a state school. Today it costs more than twice as much.

Public campaigns have not provided the answer to the financial squeeze.

The money problem will be the main topic at a Washington conference opening today that is expected to attract educators and students from 125 institutions.

Independent colleges and universities around the country will be hoping someone comes up with an answer.

Another Sadness

All the grim international implications surrounding the downing of the U.S. reconnaisance plane by North Korea are minute for the family of a tri-state Naval officer who died in the tragedy.

Lt. Joseph Ribar of Ambridge was not unaware of the risks entailed with his missions over the Sea of Japan, but neither the fulfillment of his duty nor any stand taken by our nation can be solace for the grief of his mother, wife and children.

This marks the second time the perfidy of North Korean willingness for war has reached into our district; Seaman Anthony Lamantia of Toronto was a member of the crew of the USS Pueblo, attacked and seized by the Communists.

The loss of Lt. Ribar and his companion will never be vindicated in the minds of his loved ones, but hopefully the incident will have a better place in history of the U.S. than the Pueblo capture and the subsequent circumstances.

The Budget Juggling Act

Republican are voicing approval of President Nixon's budget slicing while some Democrats are criticizing his juggling of Mr. Johnson's spending proposals.

The way Mr. Nixon has it figured, he has come up with a $2.9 billion reduction in nondefense spending to go with the previously announced cut of $1.1 billion which makes a grand total decrease in the Johnson budget of $4 billion.

The taxpayer must be a little confused by all the figure flipping in Washington that still adds up to a whole lot of spending.

The taxpayer would like a further explanation before he breaks out in joyous song over the remodeled budget.

First, Mr. Nixon's surplus of $4 billion and Mr. Johnson's surplus of $1.8 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be made possible through extension of the income tax surcharge which was supposed to expire June 30.

What is so grand about a $5.8 billion surplus made possible through squeezing extra tax money from working citizens?

Also, in round figures, the surtax produces $10 billion in revenue. If more than half of that total is going to end up as surplus, why not reduce the surtax to 5 per cent and forget about the surplus?

Or could it be that the surplus will disappear the next fiscal year when government operating costs make their annual climb?

And when is it that the temporary surcharge is to be lifted?

Highway Safety Emphasis?

Every week in the United States 1,000 persons lose their lives because of traffic mishaps.

Despite continuing front-page publicity on the nation's newspapers and highlighting in the newscasts on radio and TV, and even though many safety campaigns are mounted by law enforcement agencies, the carnage goes on.

In view of this it may come as a surprise to many to learn that only a "small fraction" of the country's 500 new-car models are ever tested to make certain they meet federal safety standards.

BUT THAT IS WHAT the acting director of the National Highway Safety Bureau said this week. Speaking before a Senate committee, Robert Brenner declared that the number of models checked even once "represents an almost insignificant percentage of the millions of vehicles produced."

The bureau official atributes the limited activity of the bureau to lack of money, personnel and equipment. Although 200 additional employes were requested, the Nixon administration has authorized only 40, describing the reduction as a budgetary necessity.

Despite the fact that the administration has assigned the "highest priority" to reducing the traffic death toll, critics are claiming that cutting back so drastically on additional personnel is hardly placing much emphasis on the value of human life.

In view of the great distress about the loss of life in the Vietnam War, it is strange that the nation doesn't get excited about the much greater slaughter on our highways, week after week, month after month and year after year.

IF THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY Safety Bureau can show a record of efficiency in cutting back traffic deaths, it should have one of the highest priorities for receiving operating funds. If it cannot, then that is a different matter.

But the administration is upping the personnel by 40, thus indicating support of the bureau's program.

With the multitude of bureaus in Washington, surely there are many which could be trimmed in preference to one dedicated to making it safer for us to travel our roads and highways and to saving our lives.

Underwater Park

The Japanese, who have established a reputation for miniaturization and making things cleverly, most recently in the field of electronics, now have plans for a unique park.

The park will be at the bottom of the sea at a site off the coast of Shikoku, smallest of Japan's four main islands. It will take several years to construct it and will cost an estimated $8.3 million.

The United States has an underwater park at John Pennekamp Coral Reef off Key Larko in the Florida keys but visitors must either use a boat with a glass bottom or skin dive to enjoy the beauties of nature on the ocean floor.

The Japanese, on the other hand, plan to build a maze of unique steel, concrete and plate-glass corridors on the bottom of the sea, through which they will be able to view the wonders of the deep while taking a stroll through the park.

Instead of people looking into a small aquarium to observe and study marine life, the fish, in a turnabout, will be able to peer into the tiny corridor-aquariums at the antics and behaviorism of the species Homo sapiens.

Ohio To The Fore

Ohio apparently is destined to carve its mark deeply in the annals of space history.

Beginning with our sub-space flight pioneers, the brothers Orville and Wilbur Wright, Ohio has contributed more than its share of outstanding men to aviation and space flight.

High on this list is John H. Glenn Jr. who made the United States' first manned orbital space flight in Mercury 7 Feb. 20,1962.

The list includes Neil A. Armstrong, one of two astronauts aboard Gemini 8 which made 11 orbits of the earth and completed the first space docking, and Donn F. Eisele, a member of the three-man crew of Apollo 2 which made the first manned flight of a three-man Apollo craft.

Now civilian astronaut Armstrong is scheduled to become the first man to set foot on the moon.

His plan of operation may not call for planting an American flag on the moon's stark landscape but if it did the Buckeye State's pennant-style flag should go just beneath it.

It will be still another first for the United States—and Ohio.

'Just Keep It Warmed Up!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Kennedy Is Ready To Move

WASHINGTON — From one light-knit, close-mouthed labor circle, the message is that Ted Kennedy has told its people that he's "ready for '72." He'll run for president. And it's not too early to move Bob Kennedy's labor machine into action—not noisily but slowly and very definitely.

Victor Riesel

They're moving. They're looking at the old bandwagon. It won't be easy to grease its wheels or hot up its calliope. Today, labor is split wide open—and the powerful political machinery is in the hands of those with whom Bob Kennedy was persona nongrata.

The Massachusetts senator, now unwinding for the first time in almost a year, relaxing, endlessly conferencing, still resents the "shafting" of his brother. But he's careful not to make his brother's tactical and diplomatic political mistakes inside labor.

His labor allies and activists are out of the old CIO. There's "young" Paul Jennings, leader of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (IUE). There are some of Walter Reuther's younger lieutenants and ex-aides.

BUT IT'S IN George Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters, Ted Kennedy knows, that his toughest political problem is deeply embedded. He's persona grata there. But they don't throw parties or roses in his path when he comes.

Nor do they buy tickets to the banquets thrown to liquidate the $3 million debt rolled up during Bob Kennedy's campaign for the presidential nomination. Back in January, there were virtualy no national AFL-CIO people paying tribute to the Kennedys at the mammoth Hilton fund-raising dinner.

He does his best to avoid hurting anyone's feelings there. Not only because its national Committee on Political Education (COPE) almost elected Hubert Humphrey and may try again in '72, but because Ted Kennedy believes it would be extremely difficult to go anywhere without the 14 million-member labor movement —up or down the Hill.

And so he makes all the right moves. When, for example, he was about to take his public posture in opposition to the Safeguard antiballistic missile system he telephoned George Meany's intellectual-in-residence, the self-effacing Lane Kirkland. They did not agree. But they did talk amiably.

Sen. Kennedy doesn't enthuse the chiefs of labor's rarely visible infractructure. They're not his enemy. But they're not his ally. So Ted Kennedy builds his own trade union infrastructure. He's talked with Teamsters leaders and found them less brutal, less adamant. He's been invited to speak at central labor councils which would not open their doors to brother Bob.

AND WHENEVER HE WANTS IT, he has a power base in something called the Center for Community Change—funded by the Ford Foundation's $3.5 million. This is an umbrella organization coordinating several older units for work among the poor. It is officially interlocked with the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation.

If Ted Kennedy doesn't see the CCC as a powerful Reutherite labor base—the national AFL-CIO leaders do. Some of them fault the Ford Foundation for setting it up under the direction of Jack Conway, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Mr. Conway, an imaginative launcher of committees, is an intimate of United Auto Workers Chief Walter Reuther.

For a long time, Mr. Conway was the "redhead's" executive assistant. Then he virtually ran the OEO. Finally he headed the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. of which Mr. Reuther was nominal president. When the auto union leader lanuched oratorical fusillades at Mr. Meany, Jack Conway was at "Walter's" side. When Mr. Reuther sought to peel some union chiefs from the AFL-CIO, Jack Conway was alongside the Detroiter.

TODAY MR. REUTHER is on the CCC's board of directors, along with several strategists of the old Bob Kennedy headquarters. There are no AFL-CIO men on the CCC list. They see the center as a "platform for Walter Reuther." That's positive.

And it should be remembered that the recent 40,000-word blast at Mr. Reuther was unanimously approved by the federation's high council.

There's open war here. Ted Kennedy is caught in the middle.

These wards get to be verbally bloody. Mr. Reuther has been needling the powerful AFL-CIO chiefs for several years now. They took their time. They took careful aim. They hit him and will continue to fight him wherever he shows up. He's emerged in several spots alongside Ted Kennedy and the old Kennedy machine now pulsating cross-country.

So, quite gingerly, Ted Kennedy tries to make his peace with the labor chiefs, whose backing he must have to win the Democratic nomination in '72, without the kind of fight which brutalized Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, he's taking no chances. He's told his own labor allies to get swinging. They are. They believe '72 is closer than you think.

Traitors To The U.S.

WASHINGTON —Young men, misguided and misinformed about the dangers to America's security, are being perusaded to become, in effect, traitors to the United States. They are interfering with the system of armed-service recruiting, and are impairing facilities of research, as unlawful seizures and riots sweep the campuses in many colleges and universities.

This has become a federal problem. It is not being dealt with effectively on a local basis. For university authorities are being intimidated, and most of them refuse to call in the police. Also, when police are summoned and arrests are made — as happened at Harvard last week — the faculty promptly votes to drop the charges.

GEN. LEONARD F. CHAPMAN, JR., the commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, makes public the fact that some college administrators not only are failing to control student protests but are refusing to provide recruiters for the Marines sufficient time and central locations on the campus in order to obtain volunteers.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., Democrat of Virginia, asserted in a recent speech that some college administrators are using postponements and excuses to block recruiting, and "are simply inventing dodges to avoid laying down the law to their student bodies."

Both the Army and the Air Force are encountering similar obstructions. The Army sends recruiters each spring to more than 500 colleges and universities. The Air Force, too, reveals that its recruiters have been confronted with instances of abuse.

Students, moreover, are protesting the maintenance of courses for officer training purposes — a process which has been carried on for many years.

Who is benefiting cost by the actual interference with the right of the U.S. government to get efficient officers for its military services? Wouldn't the Soviet government be the gainer if, inside this and other countries in the free world, the training system for the armed services were seriously impaired?

There seems to be a feeling among some people in the academic world, including faculty members, that the college administrators should not deal sternly with antiwar and other protests, even when buildings are seized and the governing authority is threatened with more and more disturbances unless student "demands" are met.

President Nixon has uttered some generalities on the subject of "law and order," but he happens to be the commander-in-chief of America's military services, and it is difficult to see how he can ignore much longer the problem of interference with recruiting. The realistic truth is that there are more than 500,000 Americans engaged in a war today, and the casualties in Vietnam have already exceeded the figure in the Korean War.

The Department of Justice has several statutes available which can be invoked to seek indictments againstt he instigators of the disturbances on the college campuses. For these now are directly related to interference with military recruitment.

THE OPPORTUNITY is at hand for the federal government to ask for indictments and tell the students of the country that when a nation is at war they cannot, under the Constitution, give "aid and comfort" to the enemy without subjecting themselves, to punishment.

The Supreme Court has recently said that "demonstrations" cannot be viewed as free speech when violence or the use of force is involved. That's "the law of the land" today, but many college students mistakenly insist that campus activities are free from interference even when they impair the military operations of the United States.

Meanwhile, private colleges are bound to suffer great harm to their operations. Alumni throughout the country are demanding that the laws be enforced and police brought in whenever there are disorders and property is seized. Nearly all of the private colleges depend on alumni for financial support, and the graduates generally do not believe the college authorities are being firm enough in dealing with disobedience.

the city, and again the police gave chase. The driver went past the traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon a second time and turned onto Lisbon St. and started through Pleasant Heights.

Patrolman Huffman said the chase continued through county roads and onto Route 7 until Irwin Wooley tried to turn the vehicle onto County Road 419 near Brookside Park, failed to negotiate the curve and ran the auto into a guard rail.

Wooley jumped from the car and ran about 60 yards down over a hill and hid in the girders of a concrete bridge. When Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman arrived he and Huffman found Wooley, and took him into custody. The other two men did not attempt to run. Wellman was on patrol in the Rogers area when police radioed they had the auto stopped.

Patrolman Huffman and Pyle said Wooley, along with Stewart, went to Wellsville to pick up Harry Wooley and the chase resulted when they returned to East Liverpool.

The officer said when the driver first ignored the light he was not aware the car had been stolen. He said moments later police headquarters advised him a white sedan had been stolen from Warren a short time before. Officers did not learn the car had been taken from Carnegie until they called authorities there to obtain information about Irwin Wooley.

The events took place within the space of 58 minutes, the officers related. The three were in custody by 2:41 a.m.

This morning in court Irwin Wooley was fined on six different charges. He was given 60 days in the city jail for resisting arrest. In addition he was fined $10 and costs each for the two traffic light violations; $50 and costs each for driving without an operator's license and reckless driving, and $25 and costs for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone.

Stewart was fined $25 and costs on the intoxication charge, but Harry Wooley was not arraigned. Police had filed no local charges on him.

FBI agents were expected to be in town late this morning. They have jurisdiction since the car crossed state lines.

Nixon

had not spoken publicly about the incident.

The presidential silence and the calculated effort to maintain an official calm after the loss of the plane was reflected to a degree in the Panmunjom protest, which contained fewer bristling words than in past incidents.

When the USS Pueblo was captured 15 months ago, the Johnson administration called the seizure a "heinous crime" committed by "North Korean gangsters."

Administration sources suggested the lower-keyed tone of the Panmunjom protest reflected a difference between Nixon and Johnson administration approachs rather than any U.S.-North Korean deal to play down the episode.

The timing of the U.S. protest at Panmunjom was pushed on the administration when North Korea called for a meeting of the military armistice commission, the group which has met there since the end of the Korean War periodically to talk about such items as truce violations.

To the Americans' surprise, the Pyongyang representative, Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun, limited his opening speech to a seven-minute complaint about alleged demilitarized zone violations—but never mentioned the crisis-provoking plane incident.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp then launched into the U.S. rebuttal of Pyong yang's earlier claim that the slow-flying U.S. propellor plane intruded deep into Korean territory.

The American plane never flew even close to North Korean air space, Knapp declared. He noted plane debris was found 90 miles out to sea.

"The shooting down of this U.S. plane was not an act of self-defense," he said. "It was a calculated act of aggression. . .

"International law and custom call you to account for the consequences of your violation of these principles . . .

"The proper course for you to take in this instance is to acknowledge the true facts of the case: "That you shot down our aircraft over international waters at a point approximately 90 miles from your coast, and that this plane at no time entered your air space.

"We, of course, expect that you will take appropriate measures to prevent similar incidents in the future."

Lee's response was to ask what unit the U.S. plane came from. After the North Korean general repeated the question twice, Knapp strode out of the parley.

As the incident receded further into the depths of diplomacy, the search for the missing crewmen continued, but with hope for their survival all but gone.

Of the 31 men aboard the plane, the bodies of two have been recovered.

Sweeney's widow, Yoko Sweeney, lives in Mishima, Japan, while his parents reside in Chicago.

Although North Korea attacked the United States as an aggressor and congratulated itself for shooting down the plane, the Soviet Union continued a relatively restrained attitude.

In fact, Soviet destroyers aided in the search for the plane and it was a Russian vessel that recovered the first debris from the aircraft. The Soviet press reports have been brief and gave the versions of both sides.

Dead Officer Related To Ex-City Resident

The grief - stricken mother and sister of Navy Lt. Joseph Ribar of Ambridge, a member of the crew of the U. S. reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korean jets, were reported hospitalized today.

The body of Lt. Ribar and an enlisted man have been recovered from the sea near where the plane was down.

He is the son of Mrs. Anna Ribar of Ambridge and the brother of Mrs. Harold Taylor of Baden. His sister is married to a former East Liverpool man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor of Northside Ave.

A graduate of East Liverpool High School, Taylor, 25, is employed by an insurance firm. His wife, Mrs. Jeannie Ribar Taylor, is expecting a child.

Lt. Ribar is also survived by his wife and a child at Atsuki, Japan.

be available about July 1, and the city expects to petition the state for some $770,000 to match local money for the projects.

Bloomgren is preparing a map of the streets involved in the three programs to send to the legislators for their consideration.

Willshaw said already he has had a telephone call from Wetzel concerning the meeting, and believes the possibility of the city getting the funds is "good."

Willshaw said Vodrey and Bloomgren also met with the Department of Health to get specifications for restrooms at Thompson Park.

Upon learning that they are handled through the Highway Department, Willshaw said the three will return to the capital next Wednesday to get specifications. The highway department's specifications for interstate highway rest stops may be used. Willshaw said there are no sewerage facilities at the park, and so the Health department had to be contacted to learn of any special considerations the city must give.

Council already has appropriated $5,000 for the project.

his new infection. His temperature has been reduced, but the infection continues, Mrs. McCraw said.

Paul was under sedation yesterday and slept most of the time, she said.

He was especially thrilled this week with a gift of a football from the East Liverpool High School grid squad, autographed by all members of the team, she said.

Mrs. McCraw said he has been pleased with the cards and letters sent to him from district residents.

The April 3 operation included removal of his diseased kidneys and transplant of one of the kidney's of a 9-year-old girl who had died earlier that day. The second kidney was transplanted in a 15-year-old Beaver Falls girl whose condition remains "satisfactory."

Sirhan

favor of death penalties, will present the state's argument on a sentence to the jury which rejected the defense contention and a month's worth of psychiatric testimony that Sirhan was too mentally ill to be guilty of first degree murder.

"We will cite facts: his lack of remorse and the effect of political assassination on the democratic process," Howard said. "It will be explained to the jury that it (life or death) will be in their absolute discretion. They now have to evaluate in their conscience a proper penalty."

Cooper routinely asked that a new jury be impaneled for the penalty trial and was turned down. The jurors were told they could have their wives and husbands as visitors in their hotel until Sunday night.

Sirhan also was convicted of five counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in the shooting of five people near Kennedy when Sirhan opened fire.

Only newsmen were in the spectator seats as the buzzer sounded three times indicating the jury had reached a verdict. There also was the same heavy guard in the fortress-like courtroom as on other days.

A strange aspect to the trial was the complete absence of Kennedy intimates. Many of the 70 people who were in the pantry of the Ambassador Hotel when the senator was shot June 5 testified for the state in February, but none returned later.

Sirhan's Father Vows Revenge If Son Dies

TAIYEBEH, Occupied Jordan (AP) — The father of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, convicted killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, today swore "revenge on American politicians" if his son is executed.

"The revenge won't be in words," Bishara Sirhan declared. He did not elaborate.

"I accept the fact that my son killed Sen. Kennedy," he said. "But Sen. Kennedy was to blame. He provoked my son by threatening to supply arms to the Middle East which would have caused the death of thousands, and the displacement of many more."

"My son did well," said the 55-year-old Arab.

"Many Americans have come to my house and told me they were happy to get rid of Kennedy," he added.

Sirhan vituperatively attacked deputy prosecutor David Fitts, cursing him in Arab expletives and charging "he would not let my son defend himself."

My son, as a true Christian like myself, is ready to work for peace, not only in words but from all his heart," said Sirhan. He said executing the youth would achieve nothing "because peace lovers will never surrender."

Transit Tieup Threatening In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A transit strike may hit city commuters if Port Authority Transit files a petition today appealing an arbitration decision that awards union representation to 120 supervisors.

Gilbert Teitel, president of the Amalgamated Transit Union, Division 85, which represents 2,500 drivers and maintenance workers, said Thursday he'll call for a strike vote as soon as the authority files its appeal in Common Pleas Court.

A spokesman for the authority said it plans to file the appeal today.

"We have been in the courts long enough — we have been in court since 1967," said Teitel. "This is just another stalling tactic by the authority."

The authority's directors claim supevisors' membership in the union will result in a breakdown of discipline and efficiency and initiate higher operating costs.

The union, under state law, is prohibited from striking and subject to compulsory arbitration.

"They are illegal in taking this thing back to the courts," Teitel said. "Under the law, they should abide by an arbitration ruling."

The arbitration board announced its decision Wednesday.

Hearings Due Students In Kent Disorder

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A delegation sent by more than 1,000 students to present demands to Kent State University President Robert I. White reported Thursday night that he had agreed to open hearings on student suspensions.

Fifty-eight demonstrators arrested Wednesday after allegedly smashing their way into a closed hearing on campus and demanding open hearings, are to appear today in Portage County Municipal Court.

At a student rally Thursday night demands were read to reinstate the suspended campus chapter of Students for Democratic Society, reinstate the students suspended as a result of Wednesday night's incident and implementation of a student conduct code allegedly ignored by the school.

Other Campuses Stir With Unrest

Militants Seize Columbia Building In Violent Clash

By The Associated Press

About 200 militants seized a Columbia University building for a seven-hour sit-in marked by a violent clash with security guards as several of the nation's campuses continued to stir with student unrest.

The Columbia group voluntarily left Philosophy Hall late Thursday after being served with a restraining order. The students emerged chanting, "This is just the start. We will win."

Two administration officials accompanied by security guards served the court order. They were met by hostile students who unleashed a barrage of bottles and discharged fire extinguishers.

The officials escaped by throwing a chair through a window and jumping to safety. Three students were injured and one of the officials was cut on the wrist.

Many of the students then broke up furniture in the building, taking table legs to use as clubs if police were called. But acting President Andrew Cordier said no police would be summoned.

The demonstration led by the Students for a Democratic Society was to demand "open enrollment" at Columbia for all New York high school students who want to attend the Ivy League school.

At Harvard, the faculty of arts and sciences voted overwhelmingly to ask the school's two governing boards to reduce ROTC to an extracurricular activity without "special privileges or facilities."

There are only 322 ROTC students at the 15,000-student university but abolition of the military program has been a prime goal of the current student strike at the Cambridge, Mass., school.

Another general meeting of the student body was called for today to consider whether to continue the strike which began last Friday. An informal poll of nearly 2,000 students Thursday night showed 75 per cent favored a return to class.

In Miami, a homemade-bomb explosion blew in the door and shattered windows of the dean of men's office at the University of Miami Thursday night. No one was in the office and there were no injuries.

A school spokesman said he knew of no reason why anyone would want to damage the building. Dr. Hrney King Stanford, the school's president, called it a "dastardly, unspeakable crime."

In Philadelphia the LaSalle College Council, an advisory body on student affairs, voted to make ROTC voluntary instead of compulsory for freshmen.

In Atlanta, trustees of Atlanta University were blockaded inside a conference room for two hours Thursday by protesting black students demanding that a six-college complex be named for slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The demonstration ended when the board agreed to meet with a student spokesman today. Atlanta University is one of six predominantly Negro colleges composing what is known as the Atlanta University Center.

Declares He'd Do It Himself If Able

Plane Crewman's Father Says We Should Retaliate

By The Associated Press

"We should retaliate. If I was able to get over there I'd do it myself," says the father of a crewman whose body was recovered from the wreckage of the EC121 reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korea.

The father, Richard Sweeney of Chicago, also said he regrets that seizure of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo last year by North Koreans did not lead to measures that might have kept them from shooting down the plane.

"My personal reaction," he said, "is that I don't think our boys are getting enough cover over there. The Pueblo should have taught us something."

The Pentagon said Thursday that bodies found in the sea where the plane was downed were those of Sweeney's only son, Aviation Electronics Technician 1.C. Richard E. Sweeney, 31, and of Lt. (j.g.) Joseph R. Ribar, 28, of Ambridge, Pa.

Ribar's sister, Jean Taylor, said she thought U.S. reaction to the Pueblo seizure created a precedent that led to the downing of the plane.

"After the Pueblo affair, we should have bombed them," Mrs. Taylor said. "We shouldn't have proved the United States is so friendly."

Asked what action she thought the United States should take now, she said, choking up, "I just don't know what they should do."

Sweeney was prominent in high school football, basketball and baseball. He enlisted in the Navy at age 20 and was assigned to a second tour of duty in Japan 3½ years ago.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a married sister and his widow, Yoko Sweeney of Mishima, Japan.

Mrs. Taylor said she and her mother had no idea Ribar was serving aboard reconnaissance flights. "There was no indication he was on the plane," she said. "He never mentioned it in his letters."

Ribar enlisted in the Navy in 1959 after graduating from high school in Ambridge, a small steel mill town just north of Pittsburgh. He attended West Palm Beach (Fla.) College for two years after he was discharged, then re-enlisted.

Mrs. Taylor said her brother was due to return to the United States in a year and planned "to get a job as a commercial pilot with one of the airlines."

Besides his sister, Ribar is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anne Ribar of Ambridge; his widow, the former Emma Jean Morris, daughter of a Navy officer stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex., and a 4-month-old son.

Virginia is often called the "Mother of States" from the fact that several states have been formed out of its original territory.

Sisco Sent To Pen After Arraignment

William Sisco, former East Liverpool resident who escaped from the Beaver County Jail April 2, and later gave himself up in Bismarck, N.D., was returned by authorities Thursday, and sent directly to Western Penitentiary in Pittsburgh.

He was arraigned before George Shaffer of Brighton Township and waived hearing. Beaver County Sheriff, John Hineman Jr., chief deputy Edward Barrett and State Trooper James Diffenbaugh escorted Sisco back from North Dakota.

Sisco said he took tools from the first floor of the jail and stored them on the third floor in preparation for his escape. He said he used sheets to climb down to the ground, then cut the barbed wire to get over the wall. He added he had no accomplices in the escape, contradictory to a report by Bernard Cashdollar, county detective, who said there were three accomplices — two of which planned to escape with Sisco.

Sisco said he circled around in the Beaver area after escaping and then hitch-hiked a ride to Midland Heights. From there he walked the railroad tracks to East Liverpool where he met friends who gave him $50 and a coat.

He was then driven to Columbus by a couple of juveniles, then he boarded a bus and headed for Bismarck where he heard there were jobs available. Upon arrival, he said, he was cold and hungry and decided to give himself up.

The prison board met Thursday to hear Cashdollar's report, which listed among other things, a failure to observe rules and regulations. The report makes no mention of Fred Norris, the warden at the jail. The board will reconvene in a couple weeks to give a decision on the report.

Balloting Slated At TRW Facility For Union Role

MINERVA — Some 1,388 production and maintenance employes of the TRW Metals Division at Minerva will be eligible to vote on union representation next Wednesday and Thursday.

Two international unions are seeking to represent hourly employees who have been in the Independent, Metal Workers Alliance, Inc. since 1959. The two internationals the Laborers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) and the United Auto Workers, now affiliated with the Brotherhood of Teamsters in the Alliance of Labor.

Voting will be supervised by the Cleveland Regional Office of the National Labor Relations Board. Balloting will be from 11 p.m. until midnight Wednesday and from 6 to 9 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday.

When the outside unions filed for an NLRB election, the company and the MWA were negotiating the terms of a new contract. The present agreement expires May 20. Bargaining was suspended and cannot resume under law until the issue of bargaining agent is resolved.

Judge Jails Area Driver

A Columbiana motorist was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunken driving by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine Thursday.

Marvin R. Ryman of S. Elm St. was arrested near Columbiana by the Ohio Highway Patrol after his car passed a patrol cruiser at a high rate of speed and went left of center, officers said.

Others penalized by Judge Dickson were David R. Pridemore of 900 St. George St., lack of motorcycle endorsement on his license, $10 and costs; Robert G. Blankenship of Fisher Park and Harold Rayle of N. Market St., Lisbon, $15 and costs for speeding.

Bernard Beaver of Sherwood Ave., $15 and costs for an unsafe vehicle; Alexander Prokop of Kelley Ave., $15 and costs, and Lloyd Wilson of East Liverpool RD 2, $5 and costs, both for improper passing.

Donald J. Low of Rogers was fined $20 and costs for a traffic light violation. Robert V. Willison of 1812 Harvey Ave. forfeited a $25 bond for a defective emergency brake.

Activities Discussed By Park Board

Paul Cone, manager of the physical plant of the Hancock County schools, attended a meeting of the Chester Park Board Wednesday and discussed how the board, Chester Council and the County board of education could work together to improve playgrounds at the various schools.

The resignation of Paul Clunk, a member of the Park Board for several years, was accepted. He was made an honorary member of the board. Mrs. Richard Barnhart was appointed to the vacancy.

Lester Kirschler, president, reported the park has been cleaned for the season and that a permanent picnic and work table will be installed in the playground area. He also reported the "The Brute Angels" will play for a dance Saturday from 8 to 11.

Bylaws were read. The board will charge a fee of $4 for the use of the playing field for each organized game or $20 per week and $10 for the use of the Youth Center. Scouting is excluded from paying such fees.

Reservations for the park facilities must be made with the board at least 15 days prior to its use, either in person or in writing. In the case of ball games, the board must have a schedule in advance and any changes must be reported promptly to avoid conflict.

The next meeting will be May 21 at 7:30 p. m. at the park.

Appeal Eyed In Hancock's Sheriff Race

Atty. William Conklin, counsel for Democrat Louis Smoleski, disclosed today he will seek further action at a higher court in the contested Hancock County Sheriff's race which was officially ended Thursday night by the County Commissioners.

The Commissioners completed the examination of ballots in nearly all of the 39 precincts which had been challenged by attorneys for Smoleski.

The County Court, sitting as a board of canvassers, began the inspection of the ballots April 1 on a mandate ordered by the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Commissioners last night completed the inspection with no official change in the recount which showed Republican Ralph Patrick as the winner of the November election.

The litigation before the Supreme Court was filed by Smoleski who was first certified the winner of the contest. However, an appeal to the high court by Patrick later resulted in his being declared the winner.

Smoleski then filed a notice of election contest Feb. 10, the day Patrick was sworn in as winner when the Commissioners threw out certain ballots in Precinct 32 according to an opinion issued by the state Supreme Court Feb. 4.

Smoleski is also being represented by the law firm of Preiser, Green and Hunt of Charleston.

Counsel for Patrick is Frank Cuomo of the law firm of Pinsky, Mayhan, Barnes and Watson.

The recount and certification by the board of canvassers gave Patrick an overall county vote total of 9,998 votes and Smoleski 9,046, a margin of 52 votes.

Traffic Rerouted In Rt. 2 Blaze

Traffic was rerouted for several hours Thursday night on Route 2, about a mile north of New Cumberland, while firemen fought an underground blaze near the Crescent Brick Co.

Volunteers from New Cumberland, Newell and New Manchester battled the grass fire, which spread into a mine under the road, from about 5:30 to 8 p. m.

Newell volunteer firemen also answered a call at 5:20 p. m. to Central Service on Washington St., where tires and trash were burning.

Fairport Harbor Area Plant To Lose By '71

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— The Chromate Division of Diamond Shamrock Corp. near Fairport Harbor is expected to be closed down by 1971. It will be replaced by a new $24- million plant at Wilmington, N.C.

Officials said Thursday 175 jobs would be eliminated by the plant's closing, which would remove an estimated $1.4 million in buying power from the Lake County economy.

A spokesman for the firm declined to comment on reports the plant will be scrapped. The company is one of the largest alkali chemical producers in the country.

Cleanup Plan Spurred During Meeting Here

The program is being sponsored by the civic and community affairs committee of the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce.

Among those represented at the meeting were the Community Resource Center, the Klondyke area, the North Side and Pleasant Heights centers, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Veterans City Council, Senior Citizens, the Jaycees and the Lions Club.

Various projects are being planned, including hillside beautification, tree planting and decoration of barren spots with flower planting.

Don Eckert, city planning coordinator, pointed out that the municipal administration will assist in every way possible.

While the cleanup period has been set officially for May 12-23, the work will be stressed during the entire month, E. R. Chandler, executive secretary of the Chamber, said.

Bid Openings Slated For Rt. 68 Work

Bids will be opened May 9 at 11 a.m. at the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the resurfacing of Midland Ave. and Route 68 in Industry to the vicinity of Craft's Service Station.

The bids are being advertised presently for the repairs which will include approximately 16,598 linear feet of existing pavement, the removal of 1,633 linear feet of existing pavement and paved shoulders for a distance of approximately 2,702 linear feet.

Donald Bertrum, borough engineer, reported on the repaving at a March 16 meeting of Midland Council. He said work is scheduled to begin in late May or early June. He continued by saying the borough would have to raise 27 manholes to the same height of the new roadway which will contain 2½" of blacktop surface. Midland Ave. was last repaved in 1961.

The repaving will begin on west Midland Ave. near the Brown Brothers Slag Co. and continue to the Industry service station. Work is scheduled to begin this week on repairs of a section of Route 68 from the service station to the Barclay Hill Bridge

Resurfacing of the highway will also be finished as planned in last year's budget. A state highway official said future tentative plans call for resurfacing of Route 68 from Midland Borough through Ohioville to Smiths Ferry in the vicinity of Miller's Service Station. The work is scheduled between July 1969 and July 1970.

Previous plans for resurfacing that same section of highway to the Ohio state line were not approved because of a proposed new bridge replacing the one now in use over Beaver Creek Tentative plans also call for resurfacing of Route 68 from the Barclay Hill Bridge to the vicinity of the old Merril Dam near Vanport between July truck traffic due to the closing 1969 and July 1970.

The road condition was much publicized last winter when area Councils wrote highway officials requesting emergency repairs which they undertook. However the road is still in bad condition, and with the increased load of truck traffic due to he closing of the Chester Bridge, is in need of repairs.

Parade Plans Are Speeded

The council voted to assist in the cleanup "in any way possible."

A representative of the council will attend the memorial banquet in Wellsville May 29 which is being held to raise funds for a memorial chapel honoring Pfc. Melvin Newlin.

A special meeting of the council will be held April 30 at City Hall.

Membership For Catholic Schools

W. Va. School Unit OK's Sweeping Set Of Plans

HUNTINGTON (AP) — The State Secondary School Association has adopted a sweeping set of proposals, including approval of membership for the state's 10 Roman Catholic high schools and several private high schools.

Other proposals adopted at the association's 49th annual meeting here included:

— Setting eligibility standards for athletes and band members to make students eligible only if they are passing in three credit courses in the previous semester.

— Agreeing not to name an all-state team in any sport.

— Permitting girls to compete in all interscholastic athletics.

— Allowing graduating senior to participate in athletics to complete their final year, including golf, baseball and track.

— Establishing a board of review for protests against decisions of the association's board of appeals.

— Providing that junior high school football practices and first games be one week later than senior highs.

— Denying permission for junior high schools to play preseason interscholastic football or basketball scrimmages.

— Permitting eight-man football.

— Permitting senior high school basketball teams to have two preseason interscholastic scrimmages.

An association spokesman said the admission of Catholic and private schools into the association could mean the end of the state's Catholic high school basketball tournaments.

Frank J. Lombardo, general chairman of the Catholic tournament, said the Catholic schools have not accepted membership and it doesn't necessarily follow that all the Catholic schools will elect to compete against the public schools.

The 1970 Catholic basketball tournament already is scheduled for Huntington.

In other action the association agreed to resume relations with Logan High School athletic teams, which had been under suspension during the course of a legal hassle over the eligibility of a football player. The association said the Logan High senior was too old to compete in high school athletics.

An association spokesman said the Logan school agreed to pay $6,300 court costs incurred by the association. The case is pending in the courts.

Harrison County Board of Education member Orlan Fowler of Clarksburg was named to succeed Dr. Harry Stansbury of Charleston on the association's board of appeals. And, Marmet Junior High School Principal Eddie Bartrug was re-elected to a five-year term on the board of appeals.

Rifle, Mortar Fire Traded In Mideast

By The Associated Press

Israel and Jordan traded rifle and mortar fire across the Jordan River today for the fourth straight day. Each side said the other started it, and each said it suffered no losses.

The Israelis said small arms fire was directed at Israeli troops near Kibbutz Hamadia south of the Sea of Galilee and later mortar shells fell on another kibbutz at Moaz Haim.

The Jordanian announcement said the Israelis opened machine-gun and mortar fire on Jordanian forces at Tel Arbayen, in the northern Jordan Valley.

Commenting on the current heavy firing across the Suez Canal, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told an Independence Day rally in Jerusalem Thursday it was "fireworks as far as its military or political value is concerned" and "is mostly for export."

However, "it serves a domestic purpose for the Arabs as well," he added. "They feel obliged to show that they are still doing something about the Israelis. It is by no means a renewal of war, although it could lead to it, especially if the Egyptians succeed in heating up the eastern front as well."

He said Cairo radio had reported Israel lost 123 tanks, 104 artillery batteries, 2 Mirage jet fighters, 4 helicopters, 5 scout planes, 29 ground-to-ground missile batteries, 4 Hawk missile sites, 96 spotter posts and suffered about 500 casualties in the past five weeks of fighting.

Dayan said Israel had actually suffered 9 dead and 48 wounded.

"A number of tanks were hit," he said, "but none were knocked out and all are back in action."

In the nearly two years since the 1967 June war Israel has lost seven fighter planes and one spotter plane on all fronts, he said, adding: "Not one was downed in air combat."

Senate Probe Of Hunger

Needy Mothers, Children To Receive Food Packets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, moving to meet some of the problems turned up by a Senate probe of hunger in the capital, will provide special food packets for some 45,000 needy mothers and children.

The decision to supply $3 million worth of "food for health" packets in Washington similar to a program instituted earlier in 78 smaller communities, was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and announced Thursday in his office by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

It enabled the Republican administration to seize the initiative on the hunger problem, which until now has been held by a Democratic-controlled Senate committee headed by George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Javits, senior Republican on the committee, moved into the situation after reportedly becoming upset earlier in the week when the administration's revised budget failed to add anything to government food programs except $15 million for nutrition education.

Using his influence behind the scenes, he arranged for Hardin to make the announcement within hours after the committee closed three days of hearings on hunger problems in Washington.

Hardin announced two programs:

—The supplemental food packets, whcih contain iron-enriched baby cereal, fruit juice, evaporated milk, corn syrup, peanut butter, canned meats and poultry, will be given to needy mothers, pregnant women and young children free at health centers in Washington.

—Some 100,000 youngsters who receive free lunches at school during the year will continue to receive them at summer recreation centers.

Hardin indicated that the administration still hopes to expand other federal programs, relying on food distribution plans that are not covered by the monetary ceiling on the food stamp program.

The program in Washington marks a major expansion of the "foods for hunger" program started last November. Only 18,500 people are receiving the aid in the 78 communities, compared with estimates of 45,000 in the capital.

High Waters Continue To Hit Midwest

By The Associated Press

High waters continued to wash across the Midwestern flood zone today.

Volunteers, including a group of convicts, worked long hours to stem the rising rivers that had forced more than 15,000 persons from their homes.

Property losses already topped $5 million with the worst possibly still to come.

The federal government prepared to make disaster loans to hard-hit businesses and public facilities.

Among the volunteer flood fighters were 15 inmates of the Minnesota State Prison in Stillwater. They packed sandbags to help hold off the St. Croix River.

Said Stillwater Mayor Ray Smith, "They have put in between 60 and 100 hours doing the hardest work. We fell in love with them."

In Dubuque, Iowa, 100 high school volunteers were given typhoid shots before reporting to help extend a six-mile dike.

With few exceptions dikes were holding well in the Dakotas and Minnesota but in Hudson, Wis., a Willow River dike appeared to be weakening under pressure.

The hardest hit of all major towns was Minot, N.D. More than 12,000 persons had been evacuated and some $3.5 million in damages had been reported.

Minot was one of a number of towns feeling the effects of a surge by the Souris River, which climbed about two feet in 24 hours as the runoff from melted snow in Canada began to arrive in heavier volume.

A crest of 21 feet was predicted for sometime next week. The river stood at the 17-foot level Thursday.

The Red River of the North was as much as 8 to 12 miles wide along a 150-mile stretch from Fargo, N.D., to Drayton, N.D. The stretch is mostly flat prairie farm land.

The Office of Emergency Planning in Washington said President Nixon was expected to act soon to designate disaster areas. They would then become eligible for federal funds to repair roads and utilities and for removing debris.

The Weather Bureau said the waters will rise up to a foot higher than originally predicted because masses of debris had been removed from a lock and a dam at Hastings, Minn., causing an upsurge of the Mississippi.

Also in Wisconsin, Fountain City had much of its downtown section under several feet of Mississippi water and several bridges in the western part of the state were closed.

Upstream, the Mississippi receded slowly in St. Paul as the crest reached Red Wing, Minn., 50 miles to the south.

U.S. engineers in the Rock Island, Ill., district estimated $3 million has been spent since last March constructing additional dikes in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri.

Despite a Mississippi rise of about six inches a day at Rock Island and surrounding areas, the crest was expected to be well below the top mark of the big 1965 flood. The crest at Rock Island is expected April 28.

Kiwanians Hear Peace Corps Aid

William Brokaw Jr. of East Liverpool, on furlough from the Peace Corps in India, screened slides of India at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Brokaw, in the Peace Corps for two years, was introduced by the Rev. Allen Conway, program chairman. Dayton Allen, president, was in charge.

Hemorrhage Fatal To W.Va. Legislator

CHARLESTON (AP) — Del. Corbett Church, D-McDowell, died today in a local hospital after suffering an apparent cerebral hemorrhage four days ago.

A spokesman at Charleston General Hospital said the 56-year-old legislator, a native of Yukon, W.Va., died at 9:23 a.m.

Church collapsed Tuesday outside the state Capitol. He was in Charleston to attend a meeting of the legislative interim committee.

New Officers Are Picked By Welfare Unit

The Rev. Robert W. Stringer, vicar of All Saints Episcopal Church in South Charleston, was elected president of the conference for a two-year term.

Other officers include Charles R. Lewis of Charleston as first vice president and Frank Gallagher of Huntington as treasurer.

Two new members at large of the conference governing board are the Most Rev. Joseph H. Hodges, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Wheeling, and Harry F. Walker of Charleston, executive director of the state Commission on Aging.

During Thursday's activities, an official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Stephen P. Simonds, said the honor system of determining welfare eligibility works.

Simonds said the system has turned up only about 1-2 per cent of ineligible applicants in Maine since its introduction five years ago.

Thirty-three states, he said, have taken steps to adopt the system. One of these is West Virginia, which will begin testing the method early next month.

The West Virginia Welfare Conference is made up of representatives of federal, state and private welfare agencies in the state.

Arson Probe Set In Three Saline Fires

IRONDALE — The Ohio fire marshal's office is expected to conduct an arson probe into three recent Saline Township fires, Dorman Patterson, township trustee, reported today.

Patterson said Chester Henry of Piedmont, fire marshal's aide, is to investigate next week two fires in unoccupied houses and the blaze which leveled the Waterford Downs tavern, all in the past 30 days.

One of the houses, located in Hollow Rock, was owned by Herbert Moore of Wellsville. The other was located along Camp Logan Rd. Irondale firemen fought the flames.

Patterson said Mrs. Thea Adosis of Detroit has been identified as the owner of the former tavern at Yellow Creek.

He said Henry is scheduled to inspect other buildings as possible fire hazards.

Patterson asked anyone with information about the theft of a citizens Band radio from the township garage Wednesday to notify the Jefferson County sheriff's office. Deputies also have warned against youngsters shooting air gun pellets at the windows of the garage, he added.

2 More Offices At Courthouse To Close Saturdays

LISBON — Dr. M. K. Singer, Columbiana County health commissioner and medical director of the County Tuberculosis Clinic, has announced the Health Department and Clinic offices in the Courthouse will be closed Saturdays beginning tomorrow.

Courthouse officeholders last Saturday initiated a policy of closing on Saturdays, but Dr. Singer was on vacation and his staff kept the offices open pending his decision.

Also open last Saturday was the clerk of courts office because of the final rush for car titles needed to obtain 1969 license plates. Clerk Carl L. Stacey said the office will be closed Saturdays beginning tomorrow.

Both the car title and legal sections of his office remained opened until 4:30 p.m. this week, but few people took advantage of the extra half hour. Other offices close at 4.

Stacey said he will continue the 4:30 closing several more days to see if response justifies it.

Abraham Lincolon, who stood 6-foot-4, was the tallest of the U.S. presidents.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Violations of the law in campus dissent must be dealt with by police, but universities are obligated to try to deal with demonstrations before that stage is reached, the heads of 21 top American colleges say.

The American Council on Education disclosed Thursday that the educators met secretly in Chicago over the Easter weekend to draw up a denunciation of disruptive campus demonstrators.

A council spokesman said the 1,400-word paper, entitled "A Declaration on Campus Unrest," will be distributed to its 1,538 member colleges.

The paper calls campus demonstrations "spectacular events precipitated by . . . extremists," and says they should not be allowed to obscure the accomplishments of students, faculty and administrators.

It warns that efforts to deal with demonstrations "through special, punitive legislation will almost certainly be counterproductive."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pan American Airways and the AFL-CIO Transport Worker Union have reached tentative agreement only a short time before a strike deadline, the National Mediation Board announced.

Details of the agreement were withheld until it is submitted for ratification by the union's 15,000 members. The union was seeking 30 cents an hour in wage increases over three years.

The agreement was announced shortly before the midnight Thursday strike deadline. The deadline was extended 24 hours the night before.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 1970 census questions about shared kitchen and bathroom facilities have been ordered reworded, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans says.

The changes are being made "to remove any implication that the government is interested in knowing with whom these facilities may be shared," Stans said in a letter to all members of the House and Senate.

Stans also said he has ordered that fewer persons be required to answer the longer questionnaires. Three million households that were slated to get a 66-question list instead will be asked 23 questions.

Juveniles Face Action For Fires And Bomb Calls

Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne said two 14-year-olds have been turned over to Juvenile Court in connection with two fires in East End and phoned bomb threats to East Junior High School and East Elementary last month.

Following questioning, VanDyne said the youths confessed to starting two fires at an unoccupied house owned by Herman Hoppel at Holliday and Walter Sts. and to phoning bomb scares to the two schools.

The juveniles were questioned by VanDyne, with the assistance of Kenneth Montgomery, city juvenile officer, and Patrolman Jack Strobel.

'Coffee House' Proposal Studied By Zoning Board

About 20 attended a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals Thursday night when requests for two variances were considered.

One was a proposal of St. Stephens Episcopal Church for a special exception to use property at 204 W. 4th St. for a "noncommercial recreational facility". A coffee house for local youths has been proposed.

Several attending spoke both in favor and against the proposal, and the board members, Richard Carter, chairman, Claire Parks and the Rev. E. C. Traylor, said they would study the issue and give a ruling at a later date.

The discussion lasted about 90 minutes.

The Sun Oil Co. was given authorization to begin construction of a new service station at the corner of 6th St. and Broadway. The present station, being operated by C. E. (Bill) Tice, acting police chief, is to be razed afer the new facility is completed. Tice will continue as operator.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

A Moment Of Glory For Aidman

There's the constant feeling television that you're involved with some gigantic vacuum cleaner that sucks up stories, actors, directors and technicians and spews them out in disarray that is a medium devoid of any sort of single human effort, an individual vision or viewpoint.

Cecil Smith

Consequently when a work that is the total inspiration and achievement of one man reaches the cluttered air, it is something of an event. The production is "The Spoon River Anthology" which CBS offers as a special Monday night. The man is Charles Aidman.

He went to Hollywood a decade ago after achieving great success on the New York stage in "Career" and there he and perhaps two-score other first-rate actors play the villains and psychotics and gunmen who motivate TV's endless melodramas, occasionally sandwiching in a substantial movie part and even more occasionally finding a TV role worthy of their talents.

Aidman puts it this way: "You figure if you get one good television part a year and one good movie part every two years, you're ahead of the game—and it's worth all the meaningless, cardboard characters you play between them."

BUT IT IS hardly the most satisfying of careers. Occasionally, Chuck has fled it. He spent a year touring the country as the star of Arthur Miller's "After the Fall." He recently went to Broadway to direct a play that didn't make it — "But Seriously."

But actors of Aidman's dedication find that to function properly and to keep the creative juices flowing, you have to develop a do-it-yourself project career. Several years ago, Aidman and a number of other actors formed a workshop here called Theater West in which they could stretch themselves by doing things beyond television's demands.

WITHIN THE group Chuck began experimenting with poetry. He'd been fascinated since boyhood by Edgar Lee Masters' 1914 epic study of a small town in Illinois he called Spoon River in which he dissected the bones and sinew of smalltown America through the free-verse epitaphs he wrote for those buried in its churchyard.

Aidman turned Masters' classic work into a play, developing a continuity through selections of the poems, adding music composed by Naomi Caryl Hirshhorn and writing lyrics to be sung by Miss Hirshhorn and Hal Lynch. It was a compelling work from its first workshop production, capturing both the mood and the bite of Masters.

THE PLAY went to UCLA and from there to Broadway and now has become, in less than seven years, a standard work, almost always being performed in this country or abroad. But from its conception, Chuck felt it was a kind of intimate drama ideally suited for TV's small proscenium.

The current production, directed by Aidman and performed by him and three other members of the original workshop cast — Lynch, Miss Hirshhorn and Joyce Van Patten — plus Jason Robards Jr. and Jennifer West, was taped two years ago by CBS. Sponsors shied from it, partly, Chuck believes, because of its graveyard setting, "'while it's really full of life."

Once hailed by critics as the American counterpart of Balzac's "Comedie Humaine," it is less highly regarded by scholars today, though recognized as a literary landmark.

"IN SOME circles," said Aidman, "it's looked on as a forerunner to 'Peyton Place.' Which I guess it is. But it has such a universal quality. It is so completely American, yet in Finland, Israel, Austria, around the world it is continually performed and audiences identify with it."

For Aidman, he's back at the work of a Hollywood actor — finding an occasional choice part among the dross. He's just completed a wild new movie with Jennifer Jones, "Angel, Angel, Down We Go" — "I'm not even sure what it's all about, but it was fun."

Meanwhile, he's taken to writing poetry. Who knows? Someday a frustrated actor may take Aidman's poems and make a play out of them.

Chain-Type Crash Occurs Near Salem

Four cars were involved in an accident Thursday at 3:55 p.m. on Route 62, just west of Salem.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the mishap occurred when a car driven by Stanley G. Strojeck of Salem rammed the rear of a 1967 coach operated by William B. White, 26, of Beaver Falls.

The White car hit the rear of a 1960 car driven by Earl W. Ritchie, 32, of Salem, which, in turn, struck a 1965 convertible driven by Viola Pierce, 40, of Lisbon RD 4.

The last three autos were halted for traffic at the time.

Strojeck was cited for excessive speed.

No one was injured in a truck-car accident on Route 7 about two and a half miles north of the Elkton - Middle Beaver Rd. which resulted when both drivers started to pass at the same time.

Robert C. Johnston, 43, of Marietta, driving a 1968 tractor-trailer, started to pass an unidentified car just as Spencer Crawford, 28, of 206 Maplewood Ave. attempted to pass the truck.

The accident was timed at 7:40 a. m. Thursday.

A Beaver Local School bus was involved in a minor accident on Fisher Rd. just north of Stagecoach Rd. Thursday at 8:30 a. m.

Jacqueline Coleman, 38, of RD 3 was backing the bus from the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd. onto Fisher Rd. when it struck the rear fender of a 1967 parked car belonging to Jack A. Wolfe, 51, of RD 2.

No one was injured.

1,000 Submachine Guns Seized By U.S. Agents

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Ten U.S. Treasury agents seized nearly 1,000 submachine guns and large quantities of other arms and ammunition Thursday in a raid on the home of Richard A. Lauchli Jr., 42, identified as a former leader of the Illinois Minutemen.

U.S. Atty. Richard Eagleton, said Lauchli was taken into custody under the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968. He appears today before U.S. Commissioner William Giffin in Springfield, Ill.

The agents said they had counted more than 800 submachine guns at the beginning of their inventory and more were expected to be added.

Some machine guns were found in and around Lauchli's home and 130 turned up in an abandoned garage about two miles away.

Eagleton said the agents also found in the house about 50 hand grenades, seven rockets and a rocket launcher, 25 rifles and shotguns and several thousand rounds of ammunition of various types.

The federal official said Lauchli bought most of the Thompson submachine guns as scrap metal from a Utah military installation in 1964. Some had holes drilled in them to make them unusable.

"This stuff was junk in a way, but in the hands of Lauchli it was being turned into very effective weapons," Eagleton said.

ANN LANDERS

An Adolescent Problem

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old boy with a problem. I don't seem to like girls. I date them but I have no interest in going steady or getting to know a girl really well.

In gym class I get nervous when I have to undress in front of other buys. And when I see them in the showers I feel uncomfortable, sort of a mixture of excitement and embarrassment.

Is there something wrong with me?

I realize my chances of getting a letter in your column are a million to one, but I do need help and I don't know where else to go. Please come to my rescue. — J. OF NEWARK.

Dear J: Although the thoughts and feelings you express are by no means uncommon among adolescents, the fact that you are so concerned indicates you need to discuss this problem with a professional.

Most schools have completent counselors. I hope your school is among them. If not, go to a mental health clinic. Newark has some excellent services.

Messy Mix-Up

Dear Ann: My husband has been in prison for three years. I fell in love with another man after being alone for nearly 18 months. I let the other man move into my home and now we have a baby 6 months old. I'm sure my friends and family think we're married.

Who is the legal father of this child? If my husband wants to get off the support hook, can he do so on the grounds that he is sterile? (I'm almost sure he is.) This is quite a mess and I need your help because my husband will be out of prison in a couple of months, and I'm all mixed up about what's what. Thank you — ABSENCE CREATES PROBLEMS.

Dear Ab: A man who has been in prison for three years could not have fathered a 6 month-old child even if he WEREN'T sterile. Legally, however, your husband is the baby's father until he takes steps to prove otherwise. You need to see a lawyer.

Neighborly Folks

Dear Ann: Educate the dumb public, please. Tell people that simply because you live next door to a family does not mean you're bosom buddies.

A woman leaned on my doorbell today for 15 minutes. I had to get out of the bathtub to answer. She had a kettle of sweet and sour meatballs for the next-door neighbor. Would I mind taking it over later? Nobody answers their bell.

Delivery boys leave plants, packages and dry cleaning with me. I've been asked to put the neighbor's fish in my refrigerator. I've been stuck with C.O.D. packages and 100 pounds of fertilizer.

At Christmastime someone left a pan of potato kugel here for the neighbor and our dog got into it. I never heard the end of it.

If you print my letter you'll be performing a national service. There must be others who feel as I do. — NOT PALSY WALSY.

Dear Not: I'm sure there are, but I'll wager a great many folks don't mind doing small favors for their neighbors. Since your dog ate that potato kugel, perhaps your neighbors would prefer that you not do them any more "favors." So why don't you just say, "Sorry—no."

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Nixon Plans To Cut Program

Wages Study Adds Fuel To Job Corps Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new study that says Job Corps graduates earn $1,000 a year more than nontrainees has added fuel to the controversy swirling over President Nixon's plan to reduce the training program drastically.

The 82-page study, prepared for the Office of Economic Opportunity by polster Louis Harris, was presented Thursday to the House Education and Labor Committee where Democrats are fighting Nixon's order to shut down 59 of the 113 Job Corps centers.

Harris, who said he was paid $300,000 to prepare the study, said it was the most exhaustive review ever made of the Job Corps.

The study concentrated on the earnings of Job Corps enrollees before and after their training compared to youths in similar age groups who received only part of the training or dropped out of the corps.

Harris said one of the most significant findings in the study was that earnings of Job Corps graduates six months after their training averaged $1,114 a year higher than before they entered the program. Those who dropped out were earning only $685 a year more than six months later.

"By any measure," said Harris, "the study shows that the Job Corps has had a positive impact on these youths."

Harris did not offer his own judgment as to whether Nixon's closing order should stand.

"The question you have to answer," he told the congressmen, "is what it is worth to produce this kind of impact? What we have shown is that, indeed, there is an impact."

Nixon has ordered the elimination of the 59 centers as an economy move. He said the Job Corps as now constituted and operated by OEO is too expensive and the results do not justify the cost. He has proposed establishing 30 day training centers to substitute for the rural live-in conservation camps.

However, Rep. Carl D. Perkins, the Kentucky Democrat who heads the Education and Labor Committee said "If all the members of Congress could get the benefit of this report we could rest our case on it."

Perkins, who is leading the fight to head off the closings, added that "I hope the administration will take a long look at this most enlightening survey."

Harris also said an important finding was the rate of achievement of black youths, who make up a majority of the Job Corps.

The study, he said, "gives the lie to the notion that black people can't make it in our society. This shows that, given the same opportunity as whites, they can achieve a similar increase in wages."

Harris said the study also refutes the notion that any increase in a teen-ager's earnings results from his simply growing older. Job Corps graduates under 18 experienced a 40-cent hourly increase in their wages while dropouts of the same age advanced only 9 cents an hour.

A major weakness of the program as demonstrated by the study, he swid, is that the impact of the Job Corps fades after about six months and by the end of a year there is little difference between those who completed the course and those who dropped out.

Harris attributed the drop-off to the fact most ex-corpsmen went back into the same "world of disadvantage, discrimination and don't care" from which thy had started. He said a follow-up program of guidance and counseling was needed to help the ex-corpsmen keep advancing.

"The Job Corps is a beginning, not an end," he said. "What we see here is a small ray of light after six months that begins to be smothered after 12 months."

Harris started the study last January and based his findings on interviews with 11,000 ex-corpsmen, their families and employers. He said the review was finished just a few days ago.

Gas Station Worker Killed During Holdup

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — An attendant at a Standard Oil Co. (SOHIO) service station was shot and killed early today during an apparent holdup attempt, the Clinton County Sheriff's Department reported.

The victim, Thomas Bamber, 36, Rt. 3, Wilmington, was found by a group of men who had pulled into the station along Interstate 71 near here.

Bamber had been shot in the back of the head, deputies said.

Although the station's safe had not been touched and Bamber's coin changer was intact, deputies speculated the motive was robbery.

Group Maps Playground, Park Work

Anthony Torrchio of the Weirton Community Center and George Grodhaus of the West Virginia Department of Commerce reviewed federal grants and other funds available for improving the park and playgrounds.

The group was told that a professional park planner will be sent to Chester to assist with the plans.

A delegation is to meet with Dr. Vernon Wyland, Hancock County superintendent, concerning the playgrounds on school property.

Another meeting will be scheduled in about two weeks, officials said.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Save On Kitchen Time

DEAR HELOISE: When I wash my dishes and let them drain in the dish drainer, I only put back in the cabinet those I will NOT use for the next meal.

Heloise

Why should any mother who has so much to do, remove, stack and put away five heavy plates and five glasses only to have to use her energy just taking them out again for the next meal?

Wasn't it YOU who said years ago, "When you can ride, don't walk. When you can walk, don't run. When you can sit, don't stand?" I have forgotten the rest of it. Do you remember what it was?

You didn't miss a word, hon. Surprised you remembered it all these years.

The last part was, "If you can lie down, don't sit, and if you get the chance to close your eyes, why leave them open!"

And I believe every word of it. Guess I was just dog-gonned tired that day I wrote that!

We all love your hint. Keep in mind, too, that you can take your dish drainer right to the table while you set it! That will save a few more steps.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: So what if the friends you have can be counted on one hand? Thank God you have that many.

NO NAME.

DEAR HELOISE: A plastic clothespin is ideal for holding a clipless pencil to the top or bottom of your notebook.

OLD STUDENT.

DEAR HELOISE: We have been using a TV cart for a few pots of lowers. (The cart is the kind with a tray at the top and one lower underneath.)

But recently we had a calamity! The plastic clamps on one end of the top tray broke, and down went flowers and all, breaking the clamps on the bottom tray.

We thought the cart could no longer be used, then we realized the frame was just like the frame of our laundry hamper.

So using the hamper bag as a pattern, we are making a colorful denim bag for the cart frame and plan to use it for our smaller gardening tools, with pockets on the outside for seed packets, etc.

We will use strips of denim to hold the lower crossbars in place so it won't collapse.

When not in use, it can be folded and stored in a very small place.

CORINNE TILGHMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of greasing the griddle or skillet for each batch of pancakes, take two tablespoons of salt and tie it in a piece of heavy white cloth. Be sure the cloth is heavy enough so it won't tear easily.

Spread a little shortening on the hot surface of the griddle with the salt ball. Rub well.

After this use no more shortening — just rub the surface with the ball for each batch made.

MRS. R. M. P.

DEAR HELOISE: So many of us have those beautiful plastic grapes ad decorations in our home. I used to find it so hard to get them dry after washing.

Now I just drop them into the hood of my hair dryer, turn it upside down on a towel, and they will be nice and dry in only a matter of minutes. Be sure to turn the dryer on LOW HEAT.

MRS. R. A. N.

DEAR HELOISE: After cutting my son's hair, I clean him up the quick and easy way by using the soft furniture dusting attachment to my vacuum cleaner.

It works beautifully.

The flat, a 12-room cooperative, went on the market soon after the Nixons moved to the White House.

Nixon recently valued it at $166,860, but real estate men say it probably will bring a high bid of $200,000 or more.

REGULAR CHECKUPS
Q. We are all urged to have regular physical checkups. How successful are such examinations in discovering what, if anything, is wrong?
A. They are successful enough to be very much worthwhile. A study conducted at a large university showed that regular physical exams succeeded in detecting 50 per cent of patients suffering from the early stages of potentially fatal disease. Doctors who conducted the investigation found this to be true by analyzing the causes of death of 350 executives who had submitted themselves to regular medical checkups.
"DEVIL'S PINCHES"
Q. I bruise very easily. Could this be due to a vitamin deficiency?
A. If there is no blood disorder to account for the bruising tendency (and this can be determined only by your doctor), the condition, sometimes called "Devil's Pinches," may be considered harmless. Most doctors question the effectiveness of vitamins in improving this tendency.

STUNNING STONEMAN. Bill Stoneman of the Montreal Expos soaks his elbow in ice after firing a no-hitter against the Phils in Philadelphia last night. It was the first major-league complete game for the former Cub. (UPI Telephoto)

Expos' Stoneman Fires No-Hitter At Philadelphia

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was a pretty good reason why Bill Stoneman wasn't nervous. The situation was completely unfamiliar.

"I never even came close to a no-hitter before," said the Montreal Expos' chunky little hurler after baffling Philadelphia with a 7-0 masterpiece Thursday night.

The main reason for this is simple: Stoneman was consigned to an apparent life of oblivion in the bullpen until rescued by the Expos in the expansion draft.

Thursday's brilliant effort was his first complete game in the majors, and only the second in his entire pro career.

That, explained the 25-year-old right-hander, was probably why he didn't "think there was any pressure. The nerves weren't there. I wasn't as nervous as I should have been. I had good stuff and was getting the ball where I wanted it."

Before the Expos drafted him from the Chicago Cubs, Stoneman generally was a reliever beause, "I'm so short (5-foot-10) that my managers and coaches always said, 'You're a reliever.' I was successful at it so I stayed there."

But Gene Mauch, Montreal manager, said he was impressed with Stoneman's appearances against Philadelphia, struck out eight for the nine-years until he was fired last summer, and decided to give him a shot at being a starter.

He lost his first two tries this season, but was untouchable against the Phils Thursday night.

Stoneman, who said he threw a fastball and curves with a few change-ups, walked five and struck out eigh t for the nine-game old Expos, marking the first time an expansion team hurler has pitched a no-hitter in the team's debut year.

The closest Philadelphia came to a hit came in the first when Deron Johnson smashed a liner down third that was foul only by inches, when center fielder Don Bosch made a shoestring catch on Don Money in the second, and when Rusty Staub made a long running catch of a line drive to right field by Tony Taylor in the third.

This has been a bad spring for local baseball coaches.

Jim Potts, East Liverpool coach, underwent surgery earlier this week for a kidney ailment. Joe Mowad is handling the team in Pott's absence. Nevitt Stockdale of Beaver Local is scheduled to have his gall bladder removed after school is over this spring.

BEAVER LOCAL backers are downcast about the pulled muscle suffered by sprinter Jim Bowersock Tuesday at East Palestine. The injury is expected to sideline Bowersock at least two weeks and hurts the Beavers' fine 880 relay team.

MATHIAS MOTTICE has been named head football coach at Springfield Jefferson County. Mottice is a graduate of Canton Lincoln and Kent State, but is presently coaching in South Dakota. His teams racked up a 34-game winning streak and won three state titles there.

ROBERT (Bo) DUTTON, basketball coach at Barberton, has resigned. Dutton will remain in the school system in a non-coaching capacity. Three starters from this year's fine team, including 6-8 Jerry Uhryk, return for next year.

RON JONES of Youngstown, a former basketball player at Southern Local, is planning to run in the famed 26-mile Boston Marathon Monday.

ALLEN HORNYAK of Bellaire St. John's has been honored as the Sport Magazine "Teenage Athlete of the Month" in the current issue. A story of Hornyak, by Doug Huff of the Wheeling Intelligencer, appears on page 4.

THERE ARE five Ohio U. products now playing big league baseball. They are pitcher Tom Murphy of Califorina, catcher Jim French of Washington, outfielder Jos Nossek of Oakland, pitcher Daver Wickersham of Kansas City and infielder Terry Harmon of Philadelphia. In the 20 years Bob Wren has coached at OU 40 Bobcat players have signed pro contracts. Wren has coached 11 All-Americans.

MARK TOMPSON of Mt. Pleasant, the Class A basketball player of the year in Eastern Ohio, has signed a grant-in-aid with Florida U.

Beavers Top E. Palestine In Golf Play

Beaver Local thumped East Palestine 173-190 in a golf match at East Palestine Country Club yesterday.

Rick Metz was medalist with a 37. Bob Eardley added a 41, Dave Bentz a 46 and George Sturgeon a 49 for the Beavers. Jim Lundy led the losers with a 41, Jim Ferris and Bob George had 49s and Jeff Morris a 51 for the Bulldogs.

The Beavers are now 3-2 on the season.

Potters Down Central, Kemple Winning Pitcher

Kim Kemple, yielding only two hits in six innings of relief, hurled East Liverpool to a 5-1 win over Steubenville Central at Belleview Park in Steubenville yesterday.

Randy McVay slammed a homer over the left field fence to cap a four - run Potter fourth. Dan Cunningham and Bill Montgomery had singled and Tom Chambers had tripled, routing starter Barrett and bringing on Hap Palmer. Kemple completed the scoring in the fifth when he singled, stole second and scored on an error.

The Potters are now 4-2 on the year.

By JOHN MUELLER

The winless Midland Leopards went down to a stunning 24-0 defeat in a shortened four inning game at the hands of the Hopewell Vikings at the Midland diamond yesterday.

The Leopards were listless and their loose play permitted the Vikings to tally their first five runs on just two hits.

Hopewell tallied three runs in the first frame on a hit batsman, a double by Glenn Gratta, a fielders choice, a passed ball and an error.

Heads-up ball by the Vikings was just as much a part of their two run rally in the second inning as the Leopards' loose play. Denny Radich walked, Bob Cafrelli doubled and both runners were on the move and scored as Rich Kohar laid down a perfect sacrifice.

The Viking hitters took over in the third inning and the ground crumbled beneath the Leopards as Hopewell rattled nine hits to all parts of the field and scored 12 times. They were helped by two walks, six errors, four passed balls, a wild pitch and a fielder's choice.

Hopewell tallied seven times in the fourth frame on just two hits and about the same type of Leopard play that handed the visitors their previous 17 runs.

Midland never threatened, except to avert a shutout in the fourth inning. Bob Prodonovich opened the inning with his second single of the game and Greg Braund doubled down the left field foul line, sending Prodonovich to third. Both runners died on the sacks as the next three batters went down in order.

Cafrelli started on the mound for Hopewell and went the first three innings, limiting the Leopards to just one hit. Casp pitched the final frame and was touched for two hits.

Dave Matteo was on the hill for Midland and went two innings. He faced six men in the third without retiring a batter. Matteo gave up 13 runs and six hits. Mark Braund pitched the final two innings, giving up seven hits and 11 runs.

Hopewell used 20 players and 17 scored. Cafrelli led the parade, crossing the platter four times. He was also the leading man with the stick, banging out four hits in four trips, a double and three singles.

Orioles Sweep Red Sox In Friendly Fenway Park

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ah, Friendly Fenway. If only the Baltimore Orioles could spend the whole season playing in Boston's cozy ballpark.

But a whole season in Fenway isn't Boog Powell's idea of paradise. "Heck no," says slugger Powell, "then we wouldn't be able to look forward to coming back."

Powell and the rest of the Orioles can't wait for the next trip to Fenway after winning three straight from the Red Sox climaxed by a 9-5 victory Thursday.

Baltimore scored 30 runs and had 48 hits in the three games and gave the Red Sox' outfielders quite a workout.

The Orioles had 17 safeties Thursday including home runs by the Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks. Rookie Billy Conigliaro had his third homer in two days for the Red Sox and Boston's Rico Petrocelli also connected.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit outlasted Cleveland 7-6 and New York split a doubleheader with Washington, taking the 10-inning opener 7-3 on Joe Pepitone's grand slam home run and dropping the nighthap 5-2. The other teams were not scheduled.

Dave Johnson led the Orioles' attack against Boston with his second straight four-hit day. Johnson had two doubles and two singles.

The Red Sox knew they were in trouble right away when the Orioles loaded the bases on starter Lee Stange's first three pitches, Don Buford opened with a first-pitch double, Paul Blair singled on the next one and then Frank Robinson was hit by the third.

Two runs scored when Ken Harrelson threw wild on Powell's grounder and then Baltimore tacked on three more in the second when Frank Robinson tagged his fifth homer of the year and 423rd of his career.

Mel Stottlemyre won his third straight and Stan Bahnsen lost his third straight for the Yankees, who split with the Senators.

Washington tied the opener in the ninth inning on a two-run homer by Mike Epstein. But the Yankees loaded the bases with two out in the bottom of the 10th and then Pepitone tagged his grand slam.

Pinch hitter Gary Holman's double broke an eighth inning tie and pushed the Senators to their second game victory and the split. Bobby Murcer homered in each game for New York, running his season's total to five.

Detroit scored three runs in the ninth inning and then held off a Cleveland rally to beat the Indians.

Hits by Gates Brown and Norm Cash combined with an error by pitcher Vicente Romo and Al Kaline's sacrifice fly gave the Tigers their three runs in the ninth. Then Tony Horton's two-run homer pulled Cleveland within one but the Indians fell short.

Mickey Lolich got credit for the victory, his second of the season over Cleveland but the Tigers needed three relievers to retire the side in the ninth.

Curtis Cokes Slight Pick In Title Fight

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Curtis Cokes regained the role of favorite—at least until fight time— in defense of his title tonight against Jose Napoles of Mexico.

The 31-year-old veteran from Dallas opened as a 10-6 betting choice two weeks ago. Several days ago the odds dipped to even money and take your pick.

Latest on the score today was Cokes 10-8, with the possibility the champion and 29-year-old challenger would enter the ring at the Forum in neighboring Inglewood again on even terms.

Lakers Whip Hawks, Take 3-1 Series Lead

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — The New York Knicks' battle with the Boston Celtics will be followed closely tonight by the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Atlanta Hawks aren't very interested.

The Lakers virtually nailed down the National Basketball Association's Western Division crown Thursday night by whipping the Hawks 100-85.

The victory enabled the Lakers to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-7 series and they can wrap it up by winning the fifth game in Los Angeles Sunday.

So the Lakers naturally want to know what team they probably will face in the playoffs for the NBA championship.

Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff refused to claim the division title but he did admit the triumph in Atlanta was "a very big one for us.

"I don't think we're over the hump yet. You never think that," he said, "until the last game is won.

"But it was a big victory for us, coming on the road. Anytime you win on the road it's great. Now we've got to work to win one at home."

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin said, "We're in a difficult spot, trailing 3-1 and going to Los Angeles.

The Celtics also are counting on the home-court edge tonight when they try to clinch the Eastern Division title by beating the Knicks.

The Celtics lead in the series 3-2, although the Knicks won their last battle in New York.

Van Breda Kolff points out, however, that neither the Western or the Eastern crowns have been decided yet.

"Nobody is going to claim the title until its won," he said.

However, the Lakers' coach was elated about beating Atlanta after an erratic start.

"Both teams played like college teams in their first tournament he said. "I don't know how many times we lost the ball without getting a shot, and so did Atlanta."

The low-scoring battle finally was broken open in the last seven minutes, when the Lakers scored 38 points.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West led the outburst, including a surge in which the Lakers scored 12 straight points and turned a 73-70 deficit into an 82-73 lead.

"Wilt blocked a few shots, West made a few steals, and we finally got rolling," Van Breda Kolff said.

Chamberlain wound up with 25 points and 19 rebounds and West scored 22 points.

Lou Hudson scored 22 for the Hawks, and Zelmo Beaty got 18. But Joe Caldwell was held scoreless, Walt Hazzard scored only five and Bill Bridges was limited to seven.

Cheevers Blanks Champs; Plante Shuts Out Kings

By The Associated Press

Jacques Plante's Stanley Cup goaltending magic has begun to rub off on Boston's Gerry Cheevers—while Plante concentrates on setting up scoring plays for the soaring St. Louis Blues.

Cheevers brushed aside 34 Montreal shots Thursday night and Phil Esposito triggered the Bruins' attack with two goals and three assists in a 5-0 shutout victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The victory vaulted the Bruins back into contention in their National Hockey League East Division final playoff series after a pair of sudden-death setbacks at Montreal.

Plante, who tied Turk Broda's playoff record of 13 shutouts by blanking Los Angeles 4-0 Tuesday night in the opener of the West Division finals, became the second goalie ever to record an assist in Cup play as the Blues edged the Kings 3-2.

The Bruins, down 2-1 in their best-of-7 set, entertain Montreal again Sunday afternoon. St. Louis takes its 2-0 advantage over the Kings to Los Angeles for Saturday night's third game.

"That was really Stanley Cup goalbending," Boston Coach Harry Sinden exclaimed after Cheevers' acrobatics helped end the Canadiens' skein of successive playoff victories at 11. "He had a great glove tonight. He really hit it moving."

Montreal captured the Cup last year by sweeping its last five games—four of them against St. Louis in the finals. The Canadiens also ousted New York in four straight to move into this year's showdown with Boston.

Esposito, who didn't pick up a point in the two playoff games at Montreal after setting an all-time regular season record of 126, broke loose on home ice. The rangy center scored a first-period goal, set up Ed Westfall's marker in the middle period and hit for a power play goal early in the finale before assisting on wrap-up tallies by Ron Murphy and Ken Hodge.

Gary Sabourin's second goal of the game, with less than six minutes to play, snapped a 2-2 tie at St. Louis. Plante earned an assist on Sabourin's second period tally with a long pass from the crease to Larry Keenan, who relayed to Sabourin in front of the Los Angeles cage.

Toronto's Johnny Bower, who picked up an assist in the 1963 playoffs, was the only other goaltender to make the postseason scoresheet.

Red Berenson, who had the hat trick in the Blues' Tuesday victory, scored again in the first period and assisted on the winning goal. Defenseman Dave Amadio and Bryan Campbell connected for the Kings.

JU Explodes, Tops Indians On Late Rally

Jefferson Union, held hitless until the fifth by Southern Local's Len Dailey, exploded for six runs and went on to down the Indians 9-5 at JU last night.

An error opened the gates and the Yellowjackets took advantage of the situation. In the sixth Larkin tripled with the bases loaded to complete the JU scoring.

Southern broke loose for five runs in the seventh and had the tying run at the plate before the rally ended. George Thompson, Terry Kellison and Roger Jones had RBI singles in the rally, Jones driving in two. Jones had another hit previously.

The loss was the second in as many starts for Southern, while JU is 3-2.

Lotz Leads Champions Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Young Dick Lotz, who tamed tough La Costa with a fantastic start, held a two-stroke lead going into today's second round of golf's Tournament of Champions, but there was an ominous group of five charging at his heels.

Lotz, a dark-haired 26-year-old native Californian, tore five strokes off par in his first four holes Thursday, coasted in and announced that it was nice to be back to his own territory.

"It's always nice to get back around your home area. You're more adapted to the conditions and you play with more confidence. I know the course here. I can't complain about anything."

His opening 67, five under par for the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club layout, helped. But there were plenty of other moans from the select 28-man field—about the deep, damaging rough.

"It's like an alfalfa field," said Dave Stockton, one of a group of five challenging at 69.

"A 69 here is like a 65 any place else in the world," said globetrotting Gary Player, the British Open champion and another member of the quintet two shots back. "A 67 is a fantastic, phenomenal round."

Kinsey Putt Gives Potters Win At Salem

Bob Kinsey sunk a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole to give East Liverpool a 5½-2½ golf win over Salem at Salem Golf Club yesterday.

The Potters led 4-2 when Kinsey made the putt, but if he had missed it, he would have lost his match and the team score would have ended 4-4. The match was played under match play rather than stroke play. Kinsey ended with a 41 and took 1½ points from Mark Mehno, who also had a 41.

Jack Detwiler of Salem was medalist with a 40 and took two points from Andy Petrick, who shot a 41. Bill McHenry was the third Potter to shoot 41 and it was good for two points over Bill Odurizzi, who shot a 53. Ralph Heffner took two points with a 42 to a 43 by Jack Youtz.

The Potters are now 6-land Salem is 3-2.

W. Branch Tops Beavers By 11-6 Score

West Branch broke a 6-6 tie in the sixth inning and rolled to an 11-6 win over Beaver Local on the Beavers' diamond yesterday.

The loss was the second for Beaver Local against four wins and a tie. Scott Dubberly led off the game with a homer and the Beavers led until the fifth, when the fielding fell apart and West Branch scored four times to go ahead 6-4. The losers tied the game in the bottom half, but couldn't score thereafter. Rick Sheppard had two hits and two RBIs.

By The Associated Press

The formulas were different but the results were the same Thursday night as the Indiana Pacers and New Orleans Buccaneers won their way into the division finals of the American Basketball Association playoffs.

The Pacers, regular season pennant-winners, came from behind in the third period and beat Kentucky 120-111 to take their Eastern semifinal series four games to three. New Orleans won the finale of its Western seven-game set by snuffing out a late Dallas rally and downing the Chaparrals 101-95.

"They laughed when I sat down to type 85 words a minute."

"Me? A speed typist? Forget it. But with the Royal Jetstar, I changed. A touch of my little finger on the return key flies the carriage back to the margin for the next line. A touch repeats four characters (.) (x) (-) (_). And a touch repeats forward spacing. But there's more: fully-electric tabulator, Magic® Margin controls, ribbon color light, on-off light. The fully-electric Jetstar makes fast work of my typing—and that's no laugh."

By The Associated Press

A drive to lower the voting age from 21 is gaining momentum in several of the 40 states where it is a live issue but campus violence is causing a backlash that could halt it.

Legislation on the subject is pending in 38 states and constitutional amendments are before the voters in two others to be decided by referendum in 1970, an Associated Press survey showed.

"National leaders have come out in recent months in favor of lowering the voting age," says state Rep. Jim Beatty of North Carolina. "The public is more conscious of the issue and there is increasing sentiment for it."

But legislators in some states say student violence and disorders reflect an irresponsibility and immaturity that will work against passage of such legislation.

And the crop of beards and long hair among the nation's youth also is having an effect on the debate.

"If we're going to give these youngsters voting privileges, they should look like citizens," said Wyoming state Sen. J.W. Myers.

Four states have a voting age lower than 21: Georgia and Kentucky, both 18, Hawaii, 20, and Alaska, 19.

The political implications of any widespread change are obvious. There are roughly 11 million Americans between the ages of 18 and 21. There were 72 million voters in the last presidential election. In some states, the number of potential new voters is substantial. In New York, a change to 18 would mean approximately 800,000 more eligible voters. In California, the figure is close to a million.

On Thursday the Minnesota House Elections Committee approved a proposed constitutional amendment lowering the state's voting age from 21 to 19. A proposal to lower it to 18 is pending in the a Senate committee.

The state's governor, Harold LeVander, a Republican, who has said he will sign either bill, told the legislature: "It is time to quit preaching at the young to become interested while blocking them from becoming involved. Let us let them in."

A resolution to lower the voting age to 19 was passed recently by the Ohio Senate, 30-3, and has a good chance to clear the house. The resolution is supported by Gov. James A. Rhodes and both political parties.

Beatty says there is an even chance his measure to drop the voting age to 18 will clear the North Carolina General Assembly this year. A similar bill failed in 1967.

In Colorado, Gov. John A. Love, a Republican, teamed up with his lieutenant governor, Mark A. Hogan, a Democrat, to serve as honorary co-chairmen of an organization to push for a lower voting age.

The New Jersey Senate this week unanimously approved a November referendum on lowering the age to 18. Vote on the measure, which now goes to the Assembly, was 30-0.

In Pennsylvania, the Senate has approved a constitutional amendment that would lower the age to 18. The House set the age at 19. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, a Republican, supports the House proposal. And this is expected to prevail. The referendum cannot get on the ballot until 1971.

In Montana state Sen. Joseph B. Reber opposes a constitutional amendment to lower the age to 19. If persons 19 and 20 are allowed to vote, "they should get a shave and a haircut and be like the rest of us," he says.

Wyoming is the other state where a proposed constitutional amendment is before the voters. Myers wanted to add a clause to the amendment requiring that those who vote must wear their hair "at a length and grooming to meet sandards prescribed by the military service." But, the legislature turned him down.

In Indiana a bill to lower the voting age is bottled up in committee because, according to the committee chairman, Sen. Marlin K. McDaniel, legislators are furious over campus violence.

Supporters of lower voting age bills contend that giving college-age youths the right to vote will lessen student turmoil.

"Giving them to right to vote is one of the most singularly important things we can do," says George R. Moscone, a young California Senate Democrat from San Francisco. "It would be clear admission on our part, on the part of the Establishment, that we realize times have changed."

Moscone's bill — submitted for the third straight year—to lower the voting age ran into trouble from some lawmakers angry over student disorders at San Francisco State College and the University of California at Berkeley. The state Senate rejected his bill on April 9.

Sen. Martin J. Schreiber of Milwaukee, sponsor of one of three lower voting age bills in the Wisconsin Legislature, argues: "If we continue to deny the right of young people to vote, it's possible they'll be even more inclined to join militant minority groups."

But the legislature, which recently saw National Guard troops put down students at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, the state capital, is not expected to act favorably on any of the bills.

A special constitutional revision session of the Virginia General Assembly, which is currently in session, killed a proposal that would have allowed voters to decide whether to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

Voters in four states—Maryland, North Dakota, Nebraska and Tennessee—voted down proposals last year to lower the age.

In New York, voters rejected a new state constitution containing a lowered age in 1967 but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will seek a constitutional amendment to put the age at 18. In 1966, Michigan rejected an amendment that would have dropped the age to 18.

In Florida last year, a plan to lower the voting age was omitted from a proposed new state constitution after long debate. The constitution was approved.

In Hawaii and Alaska, bills are pending to lower the age to 18 from 19 and 20 respectively.

In Delaware, state Sen. Margaret Manning tried unsuccessfully the past eight years to win approval for a proposed constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18. She said she thinks it can win this year.
